Arlington gets antique title

By S. R. PADDOCK

Arlington Heights will soon have the honor of possessing the oldest railroad depot on the Wisconsin division of the Chicago & North Western Railroad.

With the completion of the new depot at Cary the "depot antiquity" honor falls to Arlington.

The Cary depot is 88 years old. From a point of age, it may be entitled to depot priority, but we wonder if Arlington is not entitled to a bit of priority of its own on the strength of the business it gives the railroad company.

Arlington Heights is building more homes than any other community in Chicagoland. Its citizens recently gave the o. k. to a million dollar sewer and water improvement. A million dollar addition to the high school is nearing completion.

The elementary school system is costing the taxpayers nearly a million dollars for the recently completed and the projected school buildings. The Illinois Bell Telephone co. is investing two million dollars in a new dial phone building.

That is a total of five million dollars for public improvements. Two local churches have let contracts for enlarged church facilities, while construction on a third church costing over a quarter of a million dollars is nearing completion.

The southside business district is to be widened and an ornamental lighting system at a cost of $2,000 per pole is being considered.

Does not the North Western Railroad know these things?

Why does not somebody tell the C. & N. W. officials that Arlington Heights is a big girl now and has outgrown the depot that was built before the Spanish American war when Arlington had less than a thousand inhabitants.

The railroad company, on the plea of poverty, is considering the sale of a considerable part of the railroad park property to private interests.

How about a little trading deal to save the parks and get that new depot? Let the park district say to the railroad company, "We want a new depot. We want it bad enough to help pay for it. If you really must sell the parks, sell them to us." Paddock Publications believe that the voters of Arlington will back up such a suggestion and approve a park purchase bond issue.

Otherwise, let us put a sign on our depot reading as follows:

"This depot relic was built before the days of Spanish-American war.
It is still in its original form except that it gets dirtier and dirtier as the years go by."

LORRAINE INJUNCTION MAY BECOME TEST CASE

Injunction proceedings started by Lorraine Homes, Inc., are being heard this week by Frank S. Righeimer, master in chancery before whom they were started Monday. The plaintiffs were still presenting evidence as this paper goes to press.

A. H. Ahmer, former Arlington Heights building commissioner who orignally issued the building permits, has testified for the company. Attorney A. C. Lewis is assisting Village Attorney Hugo J. Thal in the defense of the village.

In the meantime construction work on the homes is proceeding under the agreement that if the court rules the plaintiffs are in error, they will be obligated to make the structural changes asked by the village.

THE LORRAINE injunction may become a test case. It is being watched by other villages who have been threatened with similar injunctions by other home builders.

Arlington Heights failed in an attempt to effect a compromise. It now appears that both the company and the village of Arlington are faced with heavy legal fees. It all started when the Northwest Community Betterment group filed strenuous objections to what it claimed was row-housing.

Mayor Goedke and Chief Skoog were called to attend the hearing Wednesday afternoon. Alderman Carlisle is a faithful attendant at the hearings. The village clerk and present building commissioner are also present. Alderman Robinson was present at the opening of the hearings on Monday

Arlington Postoffice to increase northside rural carrier service

Effective October 1, 1951, a new rural route will be established at Arlington Heights. This route will be known as Rural Route No. 2 and will serve all patrons residing north of the village.

Patrons residing on Forest ave. should relocate their boxes. The carrier will travel on Forest ave.

Patrons residing in the vicinity of Maude ave. may relocate their boxes to be better served as the carrier will travel on Maude from State to Highland and retrace to State.

Patrons living on Belmont ave. between Thomas and Olive may relocate their boxes to Belmont as the carrier will travel on Belmont.

The route will be renumbered on October 10, so all boxes to be relocated must be relocated prior to this date.

Anyone seeking employment as a temporary city carrier in the Arlington Heights post office, kindly contact the postmaster or assistant.

Forest Preserve District files condemnation suit on old school property

The Forest Preserve district of Cook county filed a condemnation suit Friday against the trustees of Community Consolidated School District Number 21 (Wheeling school) located on Palatine and Milwaukee rd.

The school was abandoned several years ago when the school district was consolidated. The Forest Preserve district owns land on both sides of the building and now wants to use the property for the Preserves for the convenience of the public.

Oliver H. Bovik, attorney for the trustees of the school, said that the suit is a friendly one, filed to avoid criticism of the sale of the land.

Directors of the school are O. A. Fordham, president; Herbert Grandt, Ernest Stavros, Albert Nickol, O. S. Fordham, Roy Allison, Erwin Koelper, and Harold Weidner.

Civic, church groups invited to see films on civil defense, disaster

Members of civic and church organizations in Arlington Hts. are invited to attend two interesting colored sound films pertaining to civil defense and disaster rescue work, which will be shown Monday, at 8 p. m., in the high school auditorium.

One film entitled, "The Beginning or the End," portrays atomic energy research work, leading up to the first successful atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Japan, and what to do in the event of an atomic warfare. The other film, "Texas City Disaster," portrays that city's recent disaster, by explosion, the rescue work which followed and the identification of the dead.

Not housewives alone but Cook county must pay more for milk

The Cook county board of commissioners do not enjoy paying big prices for a quart of milk any more than the average housewife. It withheld a contract in the hopes of lowering the wholesale price asked for the supplying of the county institutions, buying in the open market since September 1. The county has now approved a contract and will pay an increase of three cents a quart above its former price.

Commissioner Frank Dobrytzke during the discussion last week suggested that the county buy a cow, but nobody seconded it.

Deadline for saving $1.00 10 days away

Readers of Paddock Publications have just ten more days in which to take advantage of the $3.00 subscription price for any of the eight newspapers. The $4.00 rate goes into effect October 1.

Increased cost of newsprint plus a projected increase in postal rates make a change in subscription price mandatory.

New subscriptions, renewals or extensions can all be made during September at the old figure. Monies received after October 1 will be credited at a $4.00 rate.

Readers unable to get to the publication office at Arlington Heights are urged to send check or money order with name and address, telling which one of the eight papers desired.

Money will be credited to the subscription account.

Suggest diary as auxiliary reading for history classes

Starting this week in the Way Back When department of Paddock Publications is the interesting story of a Union soldier who participated in the battles that brought about the fall of Atlanta, and who accompanied General Sherman in his March to the Sea.

Paddock Publications have received inquiries from two schools for copies of the diary to be used for auxiliary reading.

Copies mounted on cardboard will be presented to interested schools, if application is made for them before October 1.

A newcomer to the series this year will be Bob Hall, who will bring "Japan After Conquest" to the screen of the travel and adventure class. With the current signing of the peace treaty with Japan, and the increased tourist trade certain to follow, this will be a most timely offering.

Magazine drive at St. James to help buy marble altars

The students of St. James Catholic school, Arlington Hts., began their annual magazine drive Wednesday, September 19.

During the next ten days an effort will be made to contact all the old friends to obtain their renewals for subscriptions, and new neighbors will be approached to solicit either new subscriptions or renewals, for "Ladies Home Journal," for "The Saturday Evening Post," for "Jack and Jill," or other of the Curtis Publications.

Each classroom has a committee in charge of the campaign, directed and supervised by the teachers.

The greatest incentive to make this drive a huge success lies in the fact that by this means, the students hope to sizeably increase the fund for the new marble altars which will be a lasting memorial of the efforts of the school children. Likewise, each classroom will share in the profits of the drive according to the amount collected, and the students will also be rewarded for their efforts.

Parade of 'Anything on Wheels' movie to highlight Kids' day Saturday

The third annual Kids' day will be held in Arlington Heights this Saturday, and will be highlighted with the annual parade of "Anything on Wheels."

Kids' day is sponsored by the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc., Hollywood, Cal., and the 3,300 clubs of Kiwanis International. Saturday was officially proclaimed Kids' day in Arlington Heights in a proclamation by Mayor Albert W. Goedke.

The mayor says, "The purpose of the day is to provide, wherever possible, assistance in helping underprivileged children to enjoy some of the benefits normally accruing to boys and girls in more fortunate circumstance."

DR. ROBERT Balfour, chairman of the Kiwanis club's Kids' day committee, announced that a special movie will also be part of the Kids' day festivities. The program will begin with the parade at 9:30 a.m., at the South school. Judging will take place in the park across from Millay's cigar store, and prizes will be given to the winning projects on wheels.

The movie, which will be held at Arlington Theatre, will feature the technicolor production, "Adventures of Robin Hood," comedies and cartoons. Admission is 25 cents and tickets will go on sale at 12:45 p.m., with the movie beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Dr. Balfour and his committee have completed all arrangements and urge public support and interest in the observance of National Kids' day in Arlington Heights.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING SEPT. 30 AT FIELD HOUSE

A special meeting of the Arlington Heights Community Council will be held September 30, at 2 p. m., at the field house. All organizations are asked to have their representatives present at this important meeting.

Mrs. Adolph Wiegand is urging all organizations to place dates of their coming events on the community calendar, of which she has charge. This is to prevent duplicate events being held on the same day, giving the organization a better chance of making a success of its affair without competition from other sources.

All dates of coming events should be mailed to Mrs. Adolph Wiegand, 732 S. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights. Any organization wanting to check the dates to see if they are free, may do so by calling Mrs. Wiegand.

Ask bids for Dunton widening; construction may be delayed

The Arlington Heights village board instructed Village Clerk Forrest Davis Monday night to advertise for bids on the Dunton ave. widening program. The street is to be widened from Davis st. to Sigwalt.

It is doubtful whether the widening will be done before next spring, due to the acute steel shortage. The board was advised to get a bid on the project at this time, however, in order to be in line for a second quarter priority in 1952.

The building and grounds committee were asked to investigate the possibility of erecting a garage to house the street and water department equipment on the village's five acre tract of land a few blocks west of the present municipal building. The fire department has purchased new equipment and needs more storage space. At present the street and water department trucks are housed in the municipal building garages, which are not big enough, especially when the snow plows must be attached to the trucks. The committee will bring in a recommendation to the board.

THE VILLAGE has an opportunity to purchase the lot directly west of the municipal building and the building and grounds committee were also asked to investigate the feasibility of this purchase. Mayor Albert Goedke stressed that either the village buy the property or that it be condemned, as the house on the property, rented by three families, is in a rundown condition and is in violation of the village's health and sanitation requirements.

The long range planning committee appointed by Mayor Goedke asked the board for the services of a planning engineer to help them. Several engineers, who are noted for village and subdivision planning, were recommended by the board. They are to be interviewed by the planning committee chairman, Willard C. Walters, who in turn will hand in his recommendation to the board for its approval.

WALTER SCHROEDER of the Arlington Plating co., 11 S. State rd., appeared before the board to get approval to erect a 20x30 steel building for storage purposes. The business is now operated on a non-conforming basis.

A petition had previously been brought to the board signed by residents in the neighborhood who would not object to the expansion. The board will check on the legality of the expansion before giving its approval.

The drainage of the Chicago and North Western railroad property along E. Davis st. in Scarsdale will be done by Boddy-McKnight co., with the village and railroad splitting the expenses. The drainage will necessitate the installation of a catch basin and a small sewer extension.

Rubey was traveling southeast on Central rd., struck the railroad crossing and overturned. The car was badly damaged.

HERBERT LEIB, 36, of Chicago, was arrested Thursday after a traffic accident which injured six persons, and was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign.

Leib told police that as he was traveling west on Palatine rd. he was blinded by the sun and failed to stop for the sign, ramming into an auto driven by Robert Massey, 19, of Forest River, Ill., on Wolf rd.

Injured were Massey and passengers in his car, Will Beilfouss, 29, Anita Beilfous, 2, and Juanita Massey, 19, and Jesse Livingston, 59, and Freida Diekman, 31, passengers in Leib's car.

FOUR PESSONS were injured Wednesday, Sept. 12, when an auto and truck collided near Rand rd. and Rte. 83.

Injured were John Fairborn, 51, Midlothian, Ill., Helen Fairborn, 39, John Fairborn Jr., 10, and Dudley Fairborn, 5.

All were taken to Northwestern hospital for treatment.

Fairborn, driver of the car, told police he was blinded by the lights of another auto and swerved into the path of a truck driven by Paul Kennedy, 26, of Dayton.

FOUR PERSONS were injured in a three car collision at the junction of routes 58 and 83, Mt. Prospect, Wednesday night (September 12) with all involved being taken to Evanston hospital for injuries.

Peter G. Brodell of St. Claire, Mich., southbound on 83 and passing a truck, drove through the stop sign at the junction. He rammed into the eastbound car of Raymond Harris of Dundee, who in turn was pushed into the northbound car of M. J. Tennes of Glenview, stopped for the intersection.

All three drivers were hospitalized, plus Mrs. Frances Brodell.

A CHICAGOAN, Miss Ruetten of 1415 Albion st., drove off Rand rd. at Wilke rd. Wednesday night (September 12) while being passed in the midst of a heavy rain.

In attempting to get back onto the pavement she lost control of the car and swerved across Rand rd. into a telephone pole. She and her two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patovich, Melrose Park, were taken to Evanston hospital.

Parade of 'Anything on Wheels' movie to highlight Kids' day Saturday

The third annual Kids' day will be held in Arlington Heights this Saturday, and will be highlighted with the annual parade of "Anything on Wheels."

Kids' day is sponsored by the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc., Hollywood, Cal., and the 3,300 clubs of Kiwanis International. Saturday was officially proclaimed Kids' day in Arlington Heights in a proclamation by Mayor Albert W. Goedke.

The mayor says, "The purpose of the day is to provide, wherever possible, assistance in helping underprivileged children to enjoy some of the benefits normally accruing to boys and girls in more fortunate circumstance."

DR. ROBERT Balfour, chairman of the Kiwanis club's Kids' day committee, announced that a special movie will also be part of the Kids' day festivities. The program will begin with the parade at 9:30 a.m., at the South school. Judging will take place in the park across from Millay's cigar store, and prizes will be given to the winning projects on wheels.

The movie, which will be held at Arlington Theatre, will feature the technicolor production, "Adventures of Robin Hood," comedies and cartoons. Admission is 25 cents and tickets will go on sale at 12:45 p.m., with the movie beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Dr. Balfour and his committee have completed all arrangements and urge public support and interest in the observance of National Kids' day in Arlington Heights.

LORRAINE INJUNCTION MAY BECOME TEST CASE

Injunction proceedings started by Lorraine Homes, Inc., are being heard this week by Frank S. Righeimer, master in chancery before whom they were started Monday. The plaintiffs were still presenting evidence as this paper goes to press.

A. H. Ahmer, former Arlington Heights building commissioner who orignally issued the building permits, has testified for the company. Attorney A. C. Lewis is assisting Village Attorney Hugo J. Thal in the defense of the village.

In the meantime construction work on the homes is proceeding under the agreement that if the court rules the plaintiffs are in error, they will be obligated to make the structural changes asked by the village.

THE LORRAINE injunction may become a test case. It is being watched by other villages who have been threatened with similar injunctions by other home builders.

Arlington Heights failed in an attempt to effect a compromise. It now appears that both the company and the village of Arlington are faced with heavy legal fees. It all started when the Northwest Community Betterment group filed strenuous objections to what it claimed was row-housing.

Mayor Goedke and Chief Skoog were called to attend the hearing Wednesday afternoon. Alderman Carlisle is a faithful attendant at the hearings. The village clerk and present building commissioner are also present. Alderman Robinson was present at the opening of the hearings on Monday.

Arlington Postoffice to increase northside rural carrier service

Effective October 1, 1951, a new rural route will be established at Arlington Heights. This route will be known as Rural Route No. 2 and will serve all patrons residing north of the village.

Patrons residing on Forest ave. should relocate their boxes. The carrier will travel on Forest ave.

Patrons residing in the vicinity of Maude ave. may relocate their boxes to be better served as the carrier will travel on Maude from State to Highland and retrace to State.

Patrons living on Belmont ave. between Thomas and Olive may relocate their boxes to Belmont as the carrier will travel on Belmont.

The route will be renumbered on October 10, so all boxes to be relocated must be relocated prior to this date.

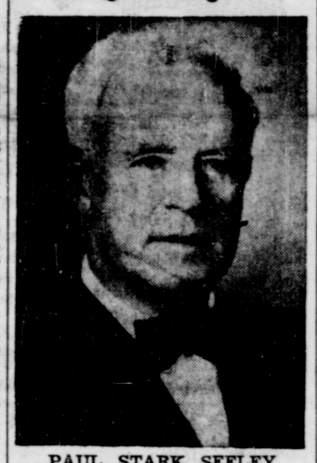
Christian Science lecture this Sunday in Arlington Heights



PAUL STARK SEELEY

How the spiritual understanding of God can be used to destroy trouble and establish harmony will be the topic of a lecture here September 23, sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Arlington Heights, Ill.

Paul Stark Seeley of Portland, Oregon, for many years a lecturer on Christian Science, will be the speaker. His subject is, "Christian Science: God's Antidote for Trouble." The lecture will be delivered in Arlington Heights township high school auditorium, Euclid ave., one block east of Northwest highway at 3:30 p. m., Sunday. The local church has invited the public to attend without charge.

Mr. Seeley is a former president of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., of whose board of lectureship he is now a member. From 1942 to 1948 he served as associate editor of the Christian Science religious periodicals.

He first was appointed a Christian Science lecturer in 1916 and has traveled extensively throughout the world since then.

He is a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science, and at one time served as Christian Science committee on publication for the state of Oregon. Prior to that he was with an engineering firm in the Northwest. He holds degrees from Princeton university and Harvard law school, and is a member of the bar in New York and Oregon.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING SEPT. 30 AT FIELD HOUSE

A special meeting of the Arlington Heights Community Council will be held September 30, at 2 p. m., at the field house. All organizations are asked to have their representatives present at this important meeting.

Mrs. Adolph Wiegand is urging all organizations to place dates of their coming events on the community calendar, of which she has charge. This is to prevent duplicate events being held on the same day, giving the organization a better chance of making a success of its affair without competition from other sources.

All dates of coming events should be mailed to Mrs. Adolph Wiegand, 732 S. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights. Any organization wanting to check the dates to see if they are free, may do so by calling Mrs. Wiegand.

Not housewives alone but Cook county must pay more for milk

The Cook county board of commissioners do not enjoy paying big prices for a quart of milk any more than the average housewife. It withheld a contract in the hopes of lowering the wholesale price asked for the supplying of the county institutions, buying in the open market since September 1. The county has now approved a contract and will pay an increase of three cents a quart above its former price.

Commissioner Frank Dobrytzke during the discussion last week suggested that the county buy a cow, but nobody seconded it.

Magazine sales nearing $3,500 mark at AHTHS

Students of Arlington Heights township high school sold $3,417 worth of subscriptions and renewals for the Crowell-Collier Publications in the first two days of the magazine drive, according to H. L. Slichenmyer, administrative assistant, who is in charge of the campaign. Students are working hard to secure funds for the school yearbook, newspaper, athletic and music departments, and class treasuries. The drive will end September 24.

High salesmen Friday were Paul Gustafson, Gilbert Haas, Tom Livingston, Bob Ellis, Marge Stiefbold and Robert Glabe.

FRIDAY, Miss Doris Black's home room of juniors had already sold 50% of its quota, and home room members received a box of chocolates as a prize and Miss Black was presented with an orchid through the courtesy of Busse Florists of Mt. Prospect. Mrs. Florence Elfeld's freshman home room had sold 42% of their quota by Friday and also won a prize of chocolates. Third place quota winners for Friday were tied with 41% by Alvin Kulieke's home room of sophomores and John Ligon's home room of sophomores.

Monday, William Beckman's home room of freshmen, turned in the largest amount of sales for the day. They received a box of candy as a prize, and Mr. Beckman was presented with an orchid. Gaylord Hughes' sophomore home room was second in sales and was also presented with a box of candy. High salesman Monday were Clayton Bowman, Margaret Schorr, Edward Ames and Arlene Goodenough.

Forest Preserve District files condemnation suit on old school property

The Forest Preserve district of Cook county filed a condemnation suit Friday against the trustees of Community Consolidated School District Number 21 (Wheeling school) located on Palatine and Milwaukee rd.

The school was abandoned several years ago when the school district was consolidated. The Forest Preserve district owns land on both sides of the building and now wants to use the property for the Preserves for the convenience of the public.

Oliver H. Bovik, attorney for the trustees of the school, said that the suit is a friendly one, filed to avoid criticism of the sale of the land.

Directors of the school are O. A. Fordham, president; Herbert Grandt, Ernest Stavros, Albert Nickol, O. S. Fordham, Roy Allison, Erwin Koelper, and Harold Weidner.

Civic, church groups invited to see films on civil defense, disaster

Members of civic and church organizations in Arlington Hts. are invited to attend two interesting colored sound films pertaining to civil defense and disaster rescue work, which will be shown Monday, at 8 p. m., in the high school auditorium.

One film entitled, "The Beginning or the End," portrays atomic energy research work, leading up to the first successful atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Japan, and what to do in the event of an atomic warfare. The other film, "Texas City Distaster," portrays that city's recent disaster, by explosion, the rescue work which followed and the identification of the dead.

Deadline for saving $1.00 10 days away

Readers of Paddock Publications have just ten more days in which to take advantage of the $3.00 subscription price for any of the eight newspapers. The $4.00 rate goes into effect October 1.

Increased cost of newsprint plus a projected increase in postal rates make a change in subscription price mandatory.

New subscriptions, renewals or extensions can all be made during September at the old figure. Monies received after October 1 will be credited at a $4.00 rate.

Readers unable to get to the publication office at Arlington Heights are urged to send check or money order with name and address, telling which one of the eight papers desired.

Money will be credited to the subscription account.

Suggest diary as auxiliary reading for history classes

Starting this week in the Way Back When department of Paddock Publications is the interesting story of a Union soldier who participated in the battles that brought about the fall of Atlanta, and who accompanied General Sherman in his March to the Sea.

Paddock Publications have received inquiries from two schools for copies of the diary to be used for auxiliary reading.

Copies mounted on cardboard will be presented to interested schools, if application is made for them before October 1.

Ask bids for Dunton widening; construction may be delayed

The Arlington Heights village board instructed Village Clerk Forrest Davis Monday night to advertise for bids on the Dunton ave. widening program. The street is to be widened from Davis st. to Sigwalt.

It is doubtful whether the widening will be done before next spring, due to the acute steel shortage. The board was advised to get a bid on the project at this time, however, in order to be in line for a second quarter priority in 1952.

The building and grounds committee were asked to investigate the possibility of erecting a garage to house the street and water department equipment on the village's five acre tract of land a few blocks west of the present municipal building. The fire department has purchased new equipment and needs more storage space. At present the street and water department trucks are housed in the municipal building garages, which are not big enough, especially when the snow plows must be attached to the trucks. The committee will bring in a recommendation to the board.

THE VILLAGE has an opportunity to purchase the lot directly west of the municipal building and the building and grounds committee were also asked to investigate the feasibility of this purchase. Mayor Albert Goedke stressed that either the village buy the property or that it be condemned, as the house on the property, rented by three families, is in a rundown condition and is in violation of the village's health and sanitation requirements.

The long range planning committee appointed by Mayor Goedke asked the board for the services of a planning engineer to help them. Several engineers, who are noted for village and subdivision planning, were recommended by the board. They are to be interviewed by the planning committee chairman, Willard C. Walters, who in turn will hand in his recommendation to the board for its approval.

WALTER SCHROEDER of the Arlington Plating co., 11 S. State rd., appeared before the board to get approval to erect a 20x30 steel building for storage purposes. The business is now operated on a non-conforming basis.

A petition had previously been brought to the board signed by residents in the neighborhood who would not object to the expansion. The board will check on the legality of the expansion before giving its approval.

The drainage of the Chicago and North Western railroad property along E. Davis st. in Scarsdale will be done by Boddy-McKnight co., with the village and railroad splitting the expenses. The drainage will necessitate the installation of a catch basin and a small sewer extension.

Judge Behrens warns truckers of new penalties

Carl Behrens, Justice of the peace at Arlintgon Heights, this week issued a warning to truckers in Northwest suburban area who are prone to overload.

Behrens, pointing his warning particularly to small trucking firms and individual truckers, said:

"Recent legislation has set up fines for overloading that are so stiff one conviction could break a small (trucking) outfit."

The justice, who handles numerous cases in his court for state police, expressed the belief that many small firms and truckers are unaware of the new legislation.

The new law sets a maximum load of 16,000 on a straight axle; 18.00 on a tandem anxle and a gross weight of 45,000 on six wheels.

The fines set up by the law are mandatory. They call for a fine of two cents per lb. for each lb. if the excess weight is 2,000 lbs. or less and are graduated until the excess weight is 5,000 pounds. Ten cents per lb. is charged for each pound in excess of the latter limit.

A family gathering was held at the A. W. Bates home in honor of Mr. Bates who celebrated his birthday Sunday. Twenty guests were present for the occasion.

Important notice

The Northwest Betterment association will hold its first meeting of the season at the Village hall, September 27 at 8 p. m. Guest speaker will be Robert Lockwood, president of the school board, and Ralph Clabaugh, superintendent of schools. A large turn-out for this meeting would be appreciated. New residents of this community are especially invited to attend.

Vacationers

The Edmund Mears recently returned from a two weeks motor trip in which they traveled over 3,700 miles. Their itinerary included the Smoky mountains and the Florida Keys. They spent considerable time in Miami and visited friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. Justice of Tarton Springs, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hockbarth of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Last Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Willging returned from a 4,000 mile trip through the east. They made stops in Washington, D. C., where they visited Mr. Willging's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Willging, and Freeport, Long Island, N. Y., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lawson. Their main objective, however, was Princetown, Mass., which is located at the tip of Cape Cod. The Willgings were very enthusiastic over the quaint shops and scenic beauty of that locale.

Bob Evans left Saturday for Bloomington, Ind., where he will enter into his freshman year at the University of Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Evans returned Saturday evening after having motored to Ames, Ia., with their two sons, Bob and Jim, who are enrolled at Iowa State. Bob is in his senior year, while Jim is entering as a freshman this year.

Acreage Cut Seen

Producers in the U.S. have indicated their sugar beet acreage is in for a 12 percent cut.

Judge Behrens warns truckers of new penalties

Carl Behrens, Justice of the peace at Arlintgon Heights, this week issued a warning to truckers in Northwest suburban area who are prone to overload.

Behrens, pointing his warning particularly to small trucking firms and individual truckers, said:

"Recent legislation has set up fines for overloading that are so stiff one conviction could break a small (trucking) outfit."

The justice, who handles numerous cases in his court for state police, expressed the belief that many small firms and truckers are unaware of the new legislation.

The new law sets a maximum load of 16,000 on a straight axle; 18.00 on a tandem anxle and a gross weight of 45,000 on six wheels.

The fines set up by the law are mandatory. They call for a fine of two cents per lb. for each lb. if the excess weight is 2,000 lbs. or less and are graduated until the excess weight is 5,000 pounds. Ten cents per lb. is charged for each pound in excess of the latter limit.

Six year old girl dies as result of trampling by cows

Cows were blamed for the death of Diane Nix, 6, of Plum Grove Acres farm, Long Grove rd., three miles southeast of Lake Zurich.

The girl was found moaning in a pasture a week ago Saturday, a short time after her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nix, missed her. She was able to tell them the name of several "bad cows" which had stepped on her.

Diane was taken to St. Theresa's hospital in Waukegan, where she died Thursday of multiple fractures and internal injuries.

Nix told police that the child had been in the barn with him earlier in the day but left saying she was going into the house to take a nap.

New piano teacher added to staff of El Rey Music Center

El Rey Music Center is proud to announce the addition of a piano teacher to the studio teaching staff at 110 N. Evergreen st., Arlington Heights. The teacher is Miss Marianne Lemke who has been playing the piano since she was four years old and has considerable teaching experience, both class and private.

Marianne played her first solo recital at the age of nine and averaged one recital a year until she was fourteen, at the same time performing as soloist at the Sunday evening musicales at the Allerton hotel. She won a scholarship with Leon Rosenbloom, dean of the Sherwood School of Music, and later joined the Chicago Piano Cosmopolitan School of Music as a student of Margaret Weiland and in her freshman year won the opportunity of appearing with the symphony on the commencement concert program; she was the only freshman on the program. In the 1950-51 term she won this privilege again and played the C Minor Concerto by Saint-Saens in Thorne hall under the direction of Tauno Hannikainen, former conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Marianne has been teaching privately for five years in Chicago, using the famous Curtis method for regular piano students, and has also had two years experience in class piano instruction in the Chicago public schools. She is also an experienced teacher in modern popular music. Further information may be obtained by calling the El Rey Music Center.

George C. Poole gains award for aid to driver training course at high school

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Poole, George C. Poole, Inc., Arlington Heights, are shown receiving framed certificate from Joseph DiLorenzo, Chicago Motor club, for cooperation in the midwest high school driver training program. The local merchandising firm has furnished training cars for the safety courses.

More than 250 Illinois and Indiana automobile dealers and their wives received public recognition Saturday for their distinguished service to midwest driver training programs.

The citation was made at a testimonial banquet sponsored by the Chicago Motor club in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Purpose of the banquet was to pay homage to dealers who have supplied training cars for high school driver training programs during the past year.

Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, presented each dealer with a handsomely engraved certificate which attested to the contribution to traffic safety which the dealers made.

Dual controls for each driver training car are supplied and installed by the club. Visual aids such as movies, pamphlets, tests and posters are also supplied free by the club.

During the 1950-51 school year 276 schools in Chicago Motor club territory participated in driver training programs.

Adult classes

scenry will make this film one of the outstanding presentations of the series. Another newcomer to the series this season will be Curtis Nagel, who appears annually on these courses from coast to coast, and who will present one of his new films, "Rolling Down to Rio," Mar. 24, a glorious picture of the mighty continent to the south of us. The series will close April 7 with another newcomer to the series in the person of Norman Hallock, presenting his lecture entitled "The Athabasca Country," a breath-taking film of the Lake Louise country, acknowledged to be one of the beauty spots of the world.

Regular classes in the Adult Evening school will begin Monday, October 1, and Wednesday, October 3, with most courses continuing for 10 weeks. Classes to be offered during the second semester will include golf, slip covers, cooking, fly casting and physical fitness for men. Increased facilities will be available for the second half of the school year when the new gymnasium and classroom unit to the present high school building has been completed and opened for use. It will house the most modern facilities for home economics, physical education, corrective gym, large new cafeteria and music rehearsal and classroom facilities.

TWO CLASSES will be held in the new South school, junior high building, which include the class in ceramic and the beginning sewing class. Through special arrangement with the elementary school board of education and superintendent, facilities in art will include the use of the kiln for the firing of favorite pieces, while facilities in sewing will be made available for the use of the homemakers.

It is probable that one or two sections of a class in auto mechanics will be made available; this class had been asked for and if scheduled, will be made available through the courtesy of two of Arlington's prominent automobile dealers, who may agree to provide facilities and the teaching services of one of their master mechanics for this course. It will offer the adult layman a chance to learn something about the care and adjustment of his automobile or engine, general servicing, ignition systems, brake adjustment and trouble shooting instruction. These classes will have to be limited in enrollment so that individual attention may be given to members of the class.

Public invited to witness police showing of films Sept. 24

Arlington Heights Police will present Monday evening, September 24, at 8:00 o'clock, two very interesting films, entitled "The Beginning of the End" and "Texas City Disaster," to the members of their special police and fire department, and other civic organizations in Arlington Heights, at the Arlington Heights high school auditorium.

This program is a part of a complete and intensive training program arranged for the members of both the regular and special police, which is scheduled to begin Wednesday, September 19, lasting for 14 weeks.

Chief Skoog is in charge of the training program, and is assisted by Officer Johnson of that department, F.B.I. Special Agent, Raymond A. Driscoll, and Raymond R. Tegtmeier, Ass't Director of the American Red Cross.

The public is invited to view the above named films.

Pumpkins what am raised by Emil Juhnke

Emil Juhnke, the "Pumpkin King," appeared at the office of Paddock Publications Friday morning with two gigantic pumpkins he had just picked off the vines on his farm on Rte. 58 and Rte. 83, just south of Mt. Prospect.

"I've got a 70 pounder still in the field," said Juhnke, "but thought a couple of 50 pound samplers would be 'proof of the pudding' at your office."

Etched in one of the pumpkins is "Grown by E. Juhnke." He explained that this is done while the pumpkin is still green, and as it grows the name does too, forming a scab over the pin mark, giving it a raised effect on the pumpkin.

Every year Juhnke sells a truckload of pumpkins, corn stalks, Indian corn and regular field corn to Olson Rug Co., which uses them for its fall outdoor display. The company's name is etched on many of the pumpkins.

From a quarter of an acre of pumpkin vines Juhnke will realize five truckloads of pumpkins. He is selling them to anyone interested, and invites the general public to stop at his farm and see for themselves what fine pumpkins he has. By they way, they're as wonderful for pies as they are for Hallowe'en Jack-O-Lanterns.

Slichenmyer, administrative assistant and Student Senate adviser, and Barbara Arnold, Student Senate president, will serve as hosts at the board meeting which will include delegates from the high schools of Downers Grove, Des Plaines, La Grange, Glen Ellyn, Elmhurst, Hinsdale, and Riverside-Brookfield. Six year old girl dies as result of trampling by cows

Cows were blamed for the death of Diane Nix, 6, of Plum Grove Acres farm, Long Grove rd., three miles southeast of Lake Zurich.

The girl was found moaning in a pasture a week ago Saturday, a short time after her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nix, missed her. She was able to tell them the name of several "bad cows" which had stepped on her.

Diane was taken to St. Theresa's hospital in Waukegan, where she died Thursday of multiple fractures and internal injuries.

Nix told police that the child had been in the barn with him earlier in the day but left saying she was going into the house to take a nap.

New piano teacher added to staff of El Rey Music Center

El Rey Music Center is proud to announce the addition of a piano teacher to the studio teaching staff at 110 N. Evergreen st., Arlington Heights. The teacher is Miss Marianne Lemke who has been playing the piano since she was four years old and has considerable teaching experience, both class and private.

Marianne played her first solo recital at the age of nine and averaged one recital a year until she was fourteen, at the same time performing as soloist at the Sunday evening musicales at the Allerton hotel. She won a scholarship with Leon Rosenbloom, dean of the Sherwood School of Music, and later joined the Chicago Piano Cosmopolitan School of Music as a student of Margaret Weiland and in her freshman year won the opportunity of appearing with the symphony on the commencement concert program; she was the only freshman on the program. In the 1950-51 term she won this privilege again and played the C Minor Concerto by Saint-Saens in Thorne hall under the direction of Tauno Hannikainen, former conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Marianne has been teaching privately for five years in Chicago, using the famous Curtis method for regular piano students, and has also had two years experience in class piano instruction in the Chicago public schools. She is also an experienced teacher in modern popular music. Further information may be obtained by calling the El Rey Music Center.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Poole, George C. Poole, Inc., Arlington Heights, are shown receiving framed certificate from Joseph DiLorenzo, Chicago Motor club, for cooperation in the midwest high school driver training program. The local merchandising firm has furnished training cars for the safety courses.

More than 250 Illinois and Indiana automobile dealers and their wives received public recognition Saturday for their distinguished service to midwest driver training programs.

Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, presented each dealer with a handsomely engraved certificate which attested to the contribution to traffic safety which the dealers made.

Dual controls for each driver training car are supplied and installed by the club. Visual aids such as movies, pamphlets, tests and posters are also supplied free by the club.

During the 1950-51 school year 276 schools in Chicago Motor club territory participated in driver training programs.

Visiting Social Counselors meet at Arlington high

The September meeting of the northern division of Visiting Social Counselors was held at the Arlington Heights township high school Wednesday. Miss Ethel Riordan, counselor at the high school, served as hostess. A movie, "Angry Boy," afforded the program for the meeting.

The Visiting Social Counselors were organized last year for the purpose of exchanging ideas and receiving inspiration in their chosen work. The northern division comprises the visiting social counselors from Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Dundee, Evanston, Glencoe, Palatine, Park Ridge, Skokie, Winnetka, Elgin, Waukegan, and Crystal Lake. Carl Johnson, counselor at Niles township high school, served as president.

scenry will make this film one of the outstanding presentations of the series. Another newcomer to the series this season will be Curtis Nagel, who appears annually on these courses from coast to coast, and who will present one of his new films, "Rolling Down to Rio," Mar. 24, a glorious picture of the mighty continent to the south of us. The series will close April 7 with another newcomer to the series in the person of Norman Hallock, presenting his lecture entitled "The Athabasca Country," a breath-taking film of the Lake Louise country, acknowledged to be one of the beauty spots of the world.

Regular classes in the Adult Evening school will begin Monday, October 1, and Wednesday, October 3, with most courses continuing for 10 weeks. Classes to be offered during the second semester will include golf, slip covers, cooking, fly casting and physical fitness for men. Increased facilities will be available for the second half of the school year when the new gymnasium and classroom unit to the present high school building has been completed and opened for use. It will house the most modern facilities for home economics, physical education, corrective gym, large new cafeteria and music rehearsal and classroom facilities.

TWO CLASSES will be held in the new South school, junior high building, which include the class in ceramic and the beginning sewing class. Through special arrangement with the elementary school board of education and superintendent, facilities in art will include the use of the kiln for the firing of favorite pieces, while facilities in sewing will be made available for the use of the homemakers.

It is probable that one or two sections of a class in auto mechanics will be made available; this class had been asked for and if scheduled, will be made available through the courtesy of two of Arlington's prominent automobile dealers, who may agree to provide facilities and the teaching services of one of their master mechanics for this course. It will offer the adult layman a chance to learn something about the care and adjustment of his automobile or engine, general servicing, ignition systems, brake adjustment and trouble shooting instruction. These classes will have to be limited in enrollment so that individual attention may be given to members of the class.

Public invited to witness police showing of films Sept. 24

Arlington Heights Police will present Monday evening, September 24, at 8:00 o'clock, two very interesting films, entitled "The Beginning of the End" and "Texas City Disaster," to the members of their special police and fire department, and other civic organizations in Arlington Heights, at the Arlington Heights high school auditorium.

This program is a part of a complete and intensive training program arranged for the members of both the regular and special police, which is scheduled to begin Wednesday, September 19, lasting for 14 weeks.

The public is invited to view the above named films.

Pumpkins what am raised by Emil Juhnke

Emil Juhnke, the "Pumpkin King," appeared at the office of Paddock Publications Friday morning with two gigantic pumpkins he had just picked off the vines on his farm on Rte. 58 and Rte. 83, just south of Mt. Prospect.

"I've got a 70 pounder still in the field," said Juhnke, "but thought a couple of 50 pound samplers would be 'proof of the pudding' at your office."

Etched in one of the pumpkins is "Grown by E. Juhnke." He explained that this is done while the pumpkin is still green, and as it grows the name does too, forming a scab over the pin mark, giving it a raised effect on the pumpkin.

Every year Juhnke sells a truckload of pumpkins, corn stalks, Indian corn and regular field corn to Olson Rug Co., which uses them for its fall outdoor display. The company's name is etched on many of the pumpkins.

From a quarter of an acre of pumpkin vines Juhnke will realize five truckloads of pumpkins. He is selling them to anyone interested, and invites the general public to stop at his farm and see for themselves what fine pumpkins he has. By they way, they're as wonderful for pies as they are for Hallowe'en Jack-O-Lanterns.

Sales tax receipts reveal month business

Sales tax figures for July, released this week, give an excellent idea as to how much money in purchases of goods subject to the two per cent sales tax was spent in July of this year in the northwest area. A comparison of the following figures also shows the business potential in the various towns.

In Arlington Heights, 170 firms reported the collection of $17,377.08 in state sales which in turn means that they did a gross business of $868,851.

Des Plaines led with 307 firms reporting the collection of $36,671.01 or $1,833,500 amount of business. Eighty firms in Mt. Prospect reported $8,490.92 ($425,046); Palatine, 128 firms paid $10,760.07 ($538,000); Wheeling, 57, $6,416.47 ($320,823); Prospect Heights, 7, $695.65 ($34,783); Barrington, 43, $4,621.64 ($231,082); Northbrook, 81, $7,205.10 ($360,255); Glenview, 123, $10,511.06 ($975,553); Bartlett, 21, $2,186.31 ($109,315).

The grand total for Cook county was $8,720,265.

The above figures do not include sales upon which no sales tax is charged, viz: newspapers, printed matter, etc.

Arlington village officials to attend conference

Members of the Arlington Heights village board have made reservations to attend the Illinois Municipal League conference at Peoria, October 7-9. Those planning to attend are trustees William Luehring, Harry Robinson, David Zimmerman, Edward Carlisle, and Ralph Hoffie; village attorney Hugo J. Thal, and village clerk, Forrest F. Davis.

Mt. Prospect leads area in slack month for homes

All building figures for August (17 millions) were greater than July (10 million) in the entire Chicago area with housing permits picking up a bit after a June and July slack. A great slackening of activity in unincoroprated areas was noted in Bell's monthly building survey, but suburban area towns were picking up.

July suburban figures showed permits granted for 1,398 homes valued at $17,047,609 while August totals indicated 1,640 homes valued at $19,818,958.

The housing situation may be summed up by saying that the year thus far is approximately 10,000 units behind last year, while the reported investment in new housing has fallen this year by more than $70,000,000. The total for the eight month period of 1950 is 32,590 units with a valuation of $309,136,526 and for the corresponding period of 1951, 22,894 units, $238,972,864.

Arlington Heights, 15 homes, $192,700.
Bensenville, 17 homes, $170,300.
Des Plaines, 48 homes, $268,700.
Glenview, 52 homes, $731,800.
Mt. Prospect, 21 homes, $346,500.
Northbrook, 6 homes, $87,000.
Northfield, 5 homes, $75,970.
Palatine, 12 homes, $138,00.

Iron Ore

Iron ore was first taken from the Cornwall district of Pennsylvania in 1740. More than 50 million tons of ore have been taken from the mines since they were opened. These ores are currently important because of their cobalt content. The Ringwood mines in Northern New Jersey were also opened about this year, and operated almost continuously until 1931.

Just Looking

The mum plants are in—in at Sauerland Florists. For people in the hospital or as a nice gesture to a nice hostess or just for prettiness in your own living room—you can't do better in flowers now. At least a dozen blooms on each plant and they last and last. I saw two plants with soft purple flowers and several in white but Mr. S. tells me they come in just about every shade.

My eyes have just been opened! I thought it was strictly an interior decorator's baby. What am I raving about? Wallpaper with matching drapes—the exact same design and same colors as the wallpaper. And the prices—well, a lot of the fabrics were very reasonable.

I'd better get right down to cases. Webber's Paint on N. Dunton has a huge and wonderful selection of wallpapers. All prices, designs, and periods. They have several books where you can order drapes, made up or not, to match the paper. They have a trimming machine where they'll happily trim your paper free. The have a wallpaper kit containing everything you need to do the job yourself which they rent for practically nothing. Even if you're not planning anything in the decorating line right now, just for sheer pleasure, go in and look at some of their distinctive papers.

Last fall's shoes are still in fashion. That is, if your shoes were opera pumps, or very fancy, or just about anything. Seems mine look like last year's tho—or at least they did till I got smart and took them to Arlington Shoe Repair, 4 W. Campbell.

They put new lifts on them, dyed them, and roughed up the suede expertly. And now they look like new. Ha, saved some money there!

Seems I'm always chatting about saving money. Well, I guess I talk about it more than I save but I'm trying. My husband is firmly pushing this saving platform at our house.

All the rage last year were the new indelible lipsticks. Like so many things tho, when you got to know them they were somewhat of a disappointment. Revlon sat back, apparently, let the others make mistakes and this fall they have come out with their own "indelible" lipstick.

Stays on beautifully too but the new touch is that it's not a bit drying. Remains moist and soft instead of caking and splitting. And of course it's in those favorite Revlon shades which perfectly match their nail polish. $1.10 a stick at Sieburg's Drugstore.

Most men don't like fancy concoctions. Something about this weather makes me want to have a party—2 tables of bridge, for instance. And I always have to restrain myself when it comes to the lunch. I want to fix something no one else ever had and according to Shorty (my husband) no one else ever wanted.

I guess he's right in insisting that men like a selection of good cold cuts, Swiss cheese, sliced tomatoes, rye bread, dill pickles, and hot coffee. I'll have to admit it's the easiest lunch and Stefanik's Delicatessen on N. Dunton can furnish every item on the menu. Include in (Sam Goldwyn's touch) some of their baked ham.

To attend Girls' club planning conference

In carrying out the duties of his new assignment, Hulls will cover the entire country for the large beer organization.

Sales tax receipts reveal month business

Sales tax figures for July, released this week, give an excellent idea as to how much money in purchases of goods subject to the two per cent sales tax was spent in July of this year in the northwest area. A comparison of the following figures also shows the business potential in the various towns.

In Arlington Heights, 170 firms reported the collection of $17,377.08 in state sales which in turn means that they did a gross business of $868,851.

Des Plaines led with 307 firms reporting the collection of $36,671.01 or $1,833,500 amount of business. Eighty firms in Mt. Prospect reported $8,490.92 ($425,046); Palatine, 128 firms paid $10,760.07 ($538,000); Wheeling, 57, $6,416.47 ($320,823); Prospect Heights, 7, $695.65 ($34,783); Barrington, 43, $4,621.64 ($231,082); Northbrook, 81, $7,205.10 ($360,255); Glenview, 123, $19,511.06 ($975,553); Bartlett, 21, $2,186.31 ($109,315).

The grand total for Cook county was $8,720,265.

The above figures do not include sales upon which no sales tax is charged, viz: newspapers, printed matter, etc.

Mt. Prospect leads area in slack month for homes

All building figures for August (17 millions) were greater than July (10 million) in the entire Chicago area with housing permits picking up a bit after a June and July slack. A great slackening of activity in unincoroprated areas was noted in Bell's monthly building survey, but suburban area towns were picking up.

July suburban figures showed permits granted for 1,398 homes valued at $17,047,609 while August totals indicated 1,640 homes valued at $19,818,958.

The housing situation may be summed up by saying that the year thus far is approximately 10,000 units behind last year, while the reported investment in new housing has fallen this year by more than $70,000,000. The total for the eight month period of 1950 is 32,590 units with a valuation of $309,136,526 and for the corresponding period of 1951, 22,894 units, $238,972,864.

Arlington Heights, 15 homes, $192,700.

Bensenville, 17 homes, $170,300.

Des Plaines, 48 homes, $268,700.

Glenview, 52 homes, $731,800.

Mt. Prospect, 21 homes, $346,500.

Northbrook, 6 homes, $87,000.

Northfield, 5 homes, $75,970.

Palatine, 12 homes, $138,00.

Iron Ore

Iron ore was first taken from the Cornwall district of Pennsylvania in 1740. More than 50 million tons of ore have been taken from the mines since they were opened. These ores are currently important, because of their cobalt content. The Ringwood mines in Northern New Jersey were also opened about this year, and operated almost continuously until 1931.

Just Looking

The mum plants are in—in at Sauerland Florists. For people in the hospital or as a nice gesture to a nice hostess or just for prettiness in your own living room—you can't do better in flowers now. At least a dozen blooms on each plant and they last and last. I saw two plants with soft purple flowers and several in white but Mr. S. tells me they come in just about every shade.

My eyes have just been opened! I thought it was strictly an interior decorator's baby. What am I raving about? Wallpaper with matching drapes—the exact same design and same colors as the wallpaper. And the prices—well, a lot of the fabrics were very reasonable.

I'd better get right down to cases. Webber's Paint on N. Dunton has a huge and wonderful selection of wallpapers. All prices, designs, and periods. They have several books where you can order drapes, made up or not, to match the paper. They have a trimming machine where they'll happily trim your paper free. The have a wallpaper kit containing everything you need to do the job yourself which they rent for practically nothing. Even if you're not planning anything in the decorating line right now, just for sheer pleasure, go in and look at some of their distinctive papers.

Last fall's shoes are still in fashion. That is, if your shoes were opera pumps, or very fancy, or just about anything. Seems mine look like last year's tho—or at least they did till I got smart and took them to Arlington Shoe Repair, 4 W. Campbell.

They put new lifts on them, dyed them, and roughed up the suede expertly. And now they look like new. Ha, saved some money there!

Seems I'm always chatting about saving money. Well, I guess I talk about it more than I save but I'm trying. My husband is firmly pushing this saving platform at our house.

All the rage last year were the new indelible lipsticks. Like so many things tho, when you got to know them they were somewhat of a disappointment. Revlon sat back, apparently, let the others make mistakes and this fall they have come out with their own "indelible" lipstick.

Stays on beautifully too but the new touch is that it's not a bit drying. Remains moist and soft instead of caking and splitting. And of course it's in those favorite Revlon shades which perfectly match their nail polish. $1.10 a stick at Sieburg's Drugstore.

Most men don't like fancy concoctions. Something about this weather makes me want to have a party—2 tables of bridge, for instance. And I always have to restrain myself when it comes to the lunch. I want to fix something no one else ever had and according to Shorty (my husband) no one else ever wanted.

I guess he's right in insisting that men like a selection of good cold cuts, Swiss cheese, sliced tomatoes, rye bread, dill pickles, and hot coffee. I'll have to admit it's the easiest lunch and Stefanik's Delicatessen on N. Dunton can furnish every item on the menu. Include in (Sam Goldwyn's touch) some of their baked ham.

To attend Girls' club planning conference

The activities will be climaxed by the Spring Conference at Lew Wallace high school at Gary at which approximately 400 girls and their advisers will meet for a program and discussion groups based on the theme "Moral and Spiritual Values."

Prospect, who has been affiliated with Anheuser-Busch, Inc,. for 24 years and recently has directed the activities of its Chicago branches, has been named special representative to the president and to the director of sales of the firm. In carrying out the duties of his new assignment, Hulls will cover the entire country for the large beer organization.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Members of the local Pi Beta Phi alumnae club have invited their friends to attend an Arrowcraft tea next week Saturday to benefit their major philanthropic project, the Pi Phi Settlement school in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Articles on sale at the tea—to be held at the home of Mrs. Willia Hubbard, the group's president—will be handmade household items, most of which fall into the inexpensive but mighty useful category. They will be on exhibit and for sale during the afternoon.

The Pi Phi Settlement school has been doing its work since 1912, when the town of Gatlinburg was but a group of six houses, three stores and a church. From an enrollment of 12 students, the school has grown to include 12 grades where 500 pupils are instructed by 15 teachers. All items for sale are made in the Arrowcraft shop at the school.

Officers of the Arlington group, which was formed just last spring, are, besides Mrs. Hubbard, vice-president, Mrs. L. P. Swanson; recording secretary, Mrs. William Hull; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph Faner; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Wood, and historian, Mrs. N. T. Burfeind.

Committee chairmen working on this affair include Mrs. Paul Doane, who is in charge of the sale; Mrs. William Hannum and Mrs. Faner, the tea; Mrs. Charles Mills and Mrs. Russell Drake, table decorations; Mrs. Joseph Grinnell, invitations, and Mrs. Wood, publicity.

The Pi Beta Phi alumnae group was organized to bring together women of similar interests on a social basis and to renew friendships of college days.

Last call

Subscription rates of the Arlington Herald will go to $4 a year on October 1, but those who wish may take advantage of the $3 rate by renewing or beginning their subscriptions may do so before then. Renewals and new subscriptions must, of course, be paid for before that date to take advantage of the old price.

The raise in price—following closely behind the increase to 10 cents a copy on the newsstand—reflects the rising cost of newsprint and the anticipated rise in mailing rates.

Read on

A chance to help the high school raise some money without a cent of extra cost to oneself is presented now. That is the annual magazine drive where the student salesmen receive prizes for themselves and cash for their classes for taking renewals and new subscriptions at regular publishers' rates.

Thus, the householder who subscribes receives the same magazine for the same period at the same price he'd pay if he just sent in his money—and the high school receives a profit. It's a good deal all the way around, so when the high schooler down the street rings the bell, think over what your magazine needs are for the present.

Down the field

Arlington Heights township high school launched its first full season of sports competition in the West Suburban league last Friday when they met Downers Grove on the football field.

Though every one expects Arlington to have tough sledding for a while in the fast company of this league, Friday's game was far from a walk-away. Downers Grove finally won by the margin of the point after touchdown, 7-6.

Opponents of Arlington Heights on the sport scene are in for some surprises—and Arlington is ready to hand them out.

Roselle Boy, 8, 1st North DuPage Polio Fatality

James Raymond Golchert, eight-year-old son of Raymond and Edna Golchert, Catalpa st., Roselle, became north DuPage county's first polio fatality of the year Saturday noon when he died at the Hinsdale sanitarium. He was stricken September 6, only a few days after the Golcherts had moved to Roselle from Chicago.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Monday in Roselle from the Richert and son funeral home to the Trinity Lutheran church with the Rev. W. H. Mehlberg officiating. Burial was in Concordia cemetery, Forest Park.

James, who had just started classes at the Trinity Lutheran school, leaves, in addition to his parents, a sister, Judith; a brother, Glenn, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Golchert, Bellwood, and Mrs. Alvina Behnke, Chicago.

This latest polio death raised to three the number who have succumbed this year to the dreaded disease in DuPage county. Margaret Mary McGurn, 9, Elmhurst, died August 4 and a Lombard girl, Eva Hiskey, 14, died August 27.

Dr. E. L. Sederlin, head of the county health department, reports that 36 cases have now been reported, but they seem to be slowing down. Two peaks were hit, he reveals, one in July and the other in mid-August. The cases have been distributed as follows: Elmhurst, seven; Naperville and Downers Grove, four each; Villa Park, Glen Ellyn and Wheaton, three each; Lombard, two and the following communities one apiece, Bensenville, Roselle, Addison, Warrenville and Clarendon Hills.

Notice

Objections to the granting of such license may be made to the President of the Board of Commissioners of Cook County, as Local Liquor Control Commissioner, in writing and signed by the objector within five days, stating specifically the grounds of objection.

Very truly yours,
Wm. N. Erickson,
Cook County Liquor Control Commissioner.

There's telephone work going on all over town

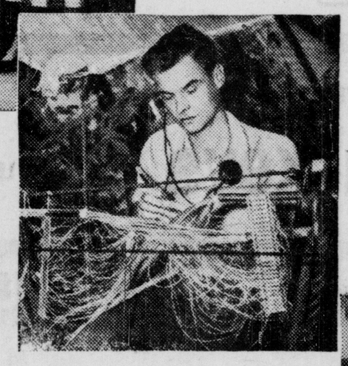
The moment these new switchboards arrived at the 11 N. State Road exchange, telephone men began installing them. This is the equipment rushed from Detroit and specially re-made to work with the Arlington Heights switchboards.

Inside, outside, above ground, underground—telephone work moves ahead in the Arlington Heights-Mt. Prospect-Prospect Heights areas. And the $1,900,000 dial project is only part of it.

We expect to bring speedy dial service to you by next summer—as fine as any in the world. But in the meantime, we're rushing in new switchboards, thousands of miles of wire and other costly additions to tide you over until dial service is ready.

Now under construction at Eastman St. and Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, the new telephone building will house the latest in modern dial apparatus. The only solution in meeting the needs of this booming area was the costly one of replacing present equipment with an entirely new dial system.

Here, an installer puts in a telephone at the home of Mrs. S. H. Clark, Jr., even before the new switchboards are ready to serve it! This way, those waiting for service get it the moment the switching equipment is available.



Splicing cable is no job for an amateur! Here, Illinois Bell splicer Donald Mueller links together the maze of wire in cable that helps to provide you with more and better service. More than 1,700 miles of wire in new cable are being added to the telephone network in this area.

One reason for the record demand for telephone service is the $4,000,000 expansion in new homes in this area. Every month nearly 100 new families apply for service.

Even though we haven't been able to give everyone service as ordered, we're providing as much service as possible. Mrs. George R. Bouffald makes a call from one of eight outdoor emergency telephone booths installed at strategic locations in the communities served by the Arlington Heights exchange.

HELP YOURSELF TO BETTER SERVICE

1 CALL OUTSIDE THE "BUSY" HOURS IF YOU CAN—it'll be faster. The switchboard is busiest in the morning between 9 and 11 and in the evening between 5 and 8. From noon to 4 P.M. your calls go through faster.

2 KEEP YOUR CALLS AS BRIEF AS POSSIBLE. Short conversations let more calls go through with fewer delays for you and your neighbors.

3 ENCOURAGE YOUR CHILDREN TO FOLLOW YOUR EXAMPLE. The youngsters can be a great help in improving your telephone service by "doing as you do"—being brief and calling during the less busy periods.

CIRCLING THE TOWN
BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Members of the local Pi Beta Phi alumnae club have invited their friends to attend an Arrowcraft tea next week Saturday to benefit their major philanthropic project, the Pi Phi Settlement school in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Articles on sale at the tea—to be held at the home of Mrs. Willia Hubbard, the group's president—will be handmade household items, most of which fall into the inexpensive but mighty useful category. They will be on exhibit and for sale during the afternoon.

The Pi Phi Settlement school has been doing its work since 1912, when the town of Gatlinburg was but a group of six houses, three stores and a church. From an enrollment of 12 students, the school has grown to include 12 grades where 500 pupils are instructed by 15 teachers. All items for sale are made in the Arrowcraft shop at the school.

Officers of the Arlington group, which was formed just last spring, are, besides Mrs. Hubbard, vice-president, Mrs. L. P. Swanson; recording secretary, Mrs. William Hull; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph Faner; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Wood, and historian, Mrs. N. T. Burfeind.

Committee chairmen working on this affair include Mrs. Paul Doane, who is in charge of the sale; Mrs. William Hannum and Mrs. Faner, the tea; Mrs. Charles Mills and Mrs. Russell Drake, table decorations; Mrs. Joseph Grinnell, invitations, and Mrs. Wood, publicity.

The Pi Beta Phi alumnae group was organized to bring together women of similar interests on a social basis and to renew friendships of college days.

Subscription rates of the Arlington Herald will go to $4 a year on October 1, but those who wish may take advantage of the $3 rate by renewing or beginning their subscriptions may do so before then. Renewals and new subscriptions must, of course, be paid for before that date to take advantage of the old price.

The raise in price—following closely behind the increase to 10 cents a copy on the newsstand—reflects the rising cost of newsprint and the anticipated rise in mailing rates.

Read on

A chance to help the high school raise some money without a cent of extra cost to oneself is presented now. That is the annual magazine drive where the student salesmen receive prizes for themselves and cash for their classes for taking renewals and new subscriptions at regular publishers' rates.

Thus, the householder who subscribes receives the same magazine for the same period at the same price he'd pay if he just sent in his money—and the high school receives a profit. It's a good deal all the way around, so when the high schooler down the street rings the bell, think over what your magazine needs are for the present.

Down the field

Arlington Heights township high school launched its first full season of sports competition in the West Suburban league last Friday when they met Downers Grove on the football field.

Though every one expects Arlington to have tough sledding for a while in the fast company of this league, Friday's game was far from a walk-away. Downers Grove finally won by the margin of the point after touchdown, 7-6.

Opponents of Arlington Heights on the sport scene are in for some surprises—and Arlington is ready to hand them out.

Roselle Boy, 8, 1st North DuPage Polio Fatality

James Raymond Golchert, eight-year-old son of Raymond and Edna Golchert, Catalpa st., Roselle, became north DuPage county's first polio fatality of the year Saturday noon when he died at the Hinsdale sanitarium. He was stricken September 6, only a few days after the Golcherts had moved to Roselle from Chicago.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Monday in Roselle from the Richert and son funeral home to the Trinity Lutheran church with the Rev. W. H. Mehlberg officiating. Burial was in Concordia cemetery, Forest Park.

James, who had just started classes at the Trinity Lutheran school, leaves, in addition to his parents, a sister, Judith; a brother, Glenn, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Golchert, Bellwood, and Mrs. Alvina Behnke, Chicago.

This latest polio death raised to three the number who have succumbed this year to the dreaded disease in DuPage county. Margaret Mary McGurn, 9, Elmhurst, died August 4 and a Lombard girl, Eva Hiskey, 14, died August 27.

Dr. E. L. Sederlin, head of the county health department, reports that 36 cases have now been reported, but they seem to be slowing down. Two peaks were hit, he reveals, one in July and the other in mid-August. The cases have been distributed as follows: Elmhurst, seven; Naperville and Downers Grove, four each; Villa Park, Glen Ellyn and Wheaton, three each; Lombard, two and the following communities one apiece, Bensenville, Roselle, Addison, Warrenville and Clarendon Hills.

There's telephone work going on all over town

The moment these new switchboards arrived at the 11 N. State Road exchange, telephone men began installing them. This is the equipment rushed from Detroit and specially re-made to work with the Arlington Heights switchboards.

Inside, outside, above ground, underground—telephone work moves ahead in the Arlington Heights-Mt. Prospect-Prospect Heights areas. And the $1,900,000 dial project is only part of it.

We expect to bring speedy dial service to you by next summer—as fine as any in the world. But in the meantime, we're rushing in new switchboards, thousands of miles of wire and other costly additions to tide you over until dial service is ready.

Now under construction at Eastman St. and Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, the new telephone building will house the latest in modern dial apparatus. The only solution in meeting the needs of this booming area was the costly one of replacing present equipment with an entirely new dial system.

Birthday parties honor 2 women, 90, the same day

Ninetieth birthdays are quite rare and should be celebrated, especially when two people live in the same home and reach the ripe age of 90 on the same day.

Such was the case last week Wednesday at the Arlington Heights Rest Home, 414 N. Vail ave., when two residents, Mrs. Mary E. Hodgkins and Mrs. Hanna Hansen each had a birthday party in honor of their ninetieth birthdays. The Hansen party was held on the second floor of the Home, while Mrs. Hodgkins entertained her guests in her downstairs room. Relatives and friends were present at each affair and special birthday cakes highlighted both refreshment tables.

Mrs. Hodgkins has been a resident of Arlington Heights for many years, living at 802 N. Vail. She has lived at the Rest Home since last October. Her guests included two ladies, Mrs. E. A. Elfeld and Mrs. Esther Cleveland, who, with her, formed the original birthday club in Arlington Heights.

THESE THREE women have been dear friends for many years and always served on the same Presbyterian church Ladies Aid committee. (Paddock Publications wishes to apologize to Mrs. Elfeld for omitting her in the accompanying picture of the birthday party. The error was unintentional.)

Mrs. Hodgkins will be remembered for her fine artistic ability. She at one time painted china dishes and vases and had her own oven for baking the paint on the china. Whenever the Ladies Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church wanted to sew a quilt to raise funds, Mrs. Hodgkins would be asked to design the quilt pattern. Mrs. Elfeld showed the reporter several samples of quilts designed by Mrs. Hodgkins, which were proof in themselves of the beautiful patterns she designed.

Mrs. Hansen has lived in the Home since last spring, coming here from Chicago. She was born in Lier, Norway, and is one of twins. Her twin sister died in 1936.

Prior to her sister's death the two were quite popular in their day, having presided for several years as the oldest twins in Chicago, at which time their pictures appeared in Chicago papers. They were also recognized as the oldest twins among the 44 sets of twins who were invited by the Burlington railroad, April 14, 1935, to be guests at the time they made their first test run of the Twin Zephyrs train. They were made charter members of the Twin Zephyr club.

AFTER HER marriage to Emil Hansen in Norway, she and her husband remained there for 15 years before coming to this country. Mrs. Hansen is one of a family of 13 children and has a brother, Louis Larsen, 87, living in Oconomowoc, Wis. Mrs. Hansen has many nieces and nephews who help to keep her happy. She in turn, recognizes each one, recalling to their minds many fond and lovable characteristics concerning them which she cherishes among her memories.

Both Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Hodgkins each had a son, both of whom died a number of years ago. Their husbands have also succumbed.

Members of the Rest Home staff and nurses, along with Rev. Harald F. H. Ellingsen, owner of the Home, assisted at both birthday parties. Rev. Ellingsen joined in with the guests and made everyone feel welcome, despite the fact that the serving of refreshments and other activities disrupted the usual orderly routine of the Rest Home.

Businessmen's table feature of annual smorgasbord

The annual smorgasbord, highlight of the activities of the Mothers' club of St. Peter Lutheran school, will be held September 28 at 5 p. m. in the school basement.

A special feature of the evening will be a table reserved for the businessmen. Those businessmen, who identify themselves, will sit at this table to insure their being served early in order that they might return to their businesses as soon as possible.

Included in the many appealing dishes will be baked ham, meat loaf, German and American style potato salad, scalloped potatoes, noodle casseroles, spaghetti, fish dishes and a variety of salads.

Home-made cakes will be served for dessert.

Tickets will be $1 for adults, and 65 cents for children. They may be purchased from any member of the club or at the door. High chairs will also be available.

Mrs. William Gronert is chairman of the smorgasbord. Mrs. Clarence Horcher, September serving chairman, is working with Mrs. Gronert.

FAVORITES For FLAVOR

by LOIS SEILER

A family favorite at the Harris Helgeson home, 50 N. Benton st., Palatine, is Mahogany Cake, a luscious chocolate cake topped with a creamy cocoa icing.

"My daughters, Janie and Karen, like this recipe best when made into cup cakes," reported Mrs. Helgeson, who is the active president of the Palatine Junior Woman's club. Cup cakes are always appealing to children, and it's a special treat for youngsters to discover them in their lunch boxes.

Mrs. Helgeson received this recipe from her mother, Mrs. E. H. Oltendorf, who lives with her. "When I was a student at Northwestern, mother brought this cake to the sorority house on my birthday," she related. "It made such a hit with the girls that the cook at the house adopted this recipe, and now, whenever chocolate cake is served at the Chi Omega house, it is made from this recipe."

Mahogany Cake

½ cup grated bitter chocolate
Cook until thick
Part 2
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
3 egg yolks beaten
½ cup milk

Cream butter and sugar and add egg yolks. Sift flour and soda and add to mixture alternately with milk. Blend in part 1 and vanilla and fold in egg whites. Bake in two layers in 350 degree oven and when cool put together with cocoa cream icing.

Cocoa Cream Icing

Dolores Potts and Melvin Towner married recently

White gladioli and palms formed the setting for the wedding September 8 of Miss Dolores Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Potts of Long Grove, and Melvin Towner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Towner of Mundelein.

Rev. Paul Irion officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place at the Long Grove church at 4 p. m. Mrs. Robert Klepper of Prospect Heights, soloist, sang "Because" and "Still is the Night." Mrs. Paul Irion presided at the organ.

The bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with a beaded manderin collar, fitted bodice and a long train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a lace juliet cap trimmed with beads and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias surrounded by white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Anna Mae Stelling of Long Grove was matron of honor. She wore a coral satin gown with a lace jacket and carried a cascade bouquet of pale yellow carnations with a gardenia center.

Antique and Hobby show draws record crowds

Cars lining Dunton, Vail and Evergreen sts. last week were indicative of the growing popularity of the annual Antique and Hobby show sponsored by the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights. More than 1,500 persons representing 75 towns, some even coming from as far as Beloit, Wis., attended the three day show.

The auditorium on the second floor of the church was devoted to the display of hobbies of local residents.

On the left as one entered the room housing the hobby display was a hand carved representation of the stable at Bethlehem, with the infant Jesus surrounded by Mary, Joseph, the cattle, shepherds and Magi. This creche, an angel choir and other religious figures, carved by participants in the Oberammergau Passion Play, were exhibited by Mrs. Arthur Batty and her daughter.

SITUATED in the corner was Major Arthur Batty's gun collection. Before the last war Major Batty was engaged as an expert in the identification of firearms before the courts of California. Many of the pistols on exhibit were brought back from Europe to aid him in his work. Major Batty is now assistant PMS & T at Lane technical high school. In the collection, including guns used in modern warfare and hunting, is a small sword dated 1414, which evidently was made for some young prince.

Mrs. Henry Tholen displayed her collection of articles which have appeared in various newspapers concerning the practice, started in Elgin, of having students from International House, a residence hall in Chicago for foreign students, visit American families for a week end. In this way foreign students obtain a general idea of American family life.

The oriental exhibit included carvings of Buddha and the Hindu God, Krishna. Following Maynard Whitelaw's exhibit of bass bugs and trout flies was an exhibit of salt and pepper shakers placed on a map of the United States to indicate the state in which they were purchased. Included in Miss Jo Lorene Miller's display were a gold pair that were a fiftieth wedding anniversary present of her maternal grandparents.

HIGHLIGHTING the hobby exposition were demonstrations given by three of the hobbyists whose work was displayed. Mrs. Albert Anderson demonstrated how she paints her Norwegian Rosemaling plates. Rosemaling is a Norwegian folk art and the word means rose or flower painting, but it represents a characteristic type of Norwegian folk painting. Norwegian art is essentially ornamental, never naturalistic, and its ideas are charged with ancient magic. Mrs. Andersen, who is of Norwegian descent, began this hobby two years ago and the designs she paints are taken from original Norwegian works of art and museum pieces dating as far back as 1735.

Mrs. Helen Vasumpaur of Prospect Heights painted portraits in front of her exhibit of paintings which featured a large portrait of a bride. Figurine painting was demonstrated by Kitty Brand, who won first prize at the Mt. Prospect Lions club Fall Festival in 1950 for her figurines.

Bonnie Jean Jensen had her miniature hand-made circus imported from Italy on display. This H & J circus, the world's smallest circus, left nothing to the imagination. All the animals, cages, various acts and even the spectators were minutely carved.

RHINESTONE jewelry and flower corsages made from fish scales were displayed by Miss Elvira Behrens, who is an invalid and is up only a few hours each day. Included in this hobbyist's display was a miniature bridal party made of sea shells.

Central and South American curios were exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ewing. Mrs. Ewing, whose father was connected with the Panama Canal, was born and raised in Guatemala. A real Panama hat, nothing like ours, woven by natives of the Republic of Panama, was one of the attractions of the exhibit. Our conventional Panama hats are woven in Equador.

Intricate hand-made articles were exhibited by the younger hobbyists. Among the articles included were: a boat and plane made by Al Lidberg, 14 years old; two planes made by Marshall Sherrill, 14; trains, planes and an "Old Timer" car made by Don Allen Plank, 12; a chuck wagon and a surrey with a fringe on top made by Tom Livingston, 15; and an old fashioned train made by Billy Shuman, 8.

Birthday parties honor 2 women, 90, the same day

Ninetieth birthdays are quite rare and should be celebrated, especially when two people live in the same home and reach the ripe age of 90 on the same day.

Such was the case last week Wednesday at the Arlington Heights Rest Home, 414 N. Vail ave., when two residents, Mrs. Mary E. Hodgkins and Mrs. Hanna Hansen each had a birthday party in honor of their ninetieth birthdays. The Hansen party was held on the second floor of the Home, while Mrs. Hodgkins entertained her guests in her downstairs room. Relatives and friends were present at each affair and special birthday cakes highlighted both refreshment tables.

Mrs. Hodgkins has been a resident of Arlington Heights for many years, living at 802 N. Vail. She has lived at the Rest Home since last October. Her guests included two ladies, Mrs. E. A. Elfeld and Mrs. Esther Cleveland, who, with her, formed the original birthday club in Arlington Heights.

THESE THREE women have been dear friends for many years and always served on the same Presbyterian church Ladies Aid committee. (Paddock Publications wishes to apologize to Mrs. Elfeld for omitting her in the accompanying picture of the birthday party. The error was unintentional.)

Mrs. Hodgkins will be remembered for her fine artistic ability. She at one time painted china dishes and vases and had her own oven for baking the paint on the china. Whenever the Ladies Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church wanted to sew a quilt to raise funds, Mrs. Hodgkins would be asked to design the quilt pattern. Mrs. Elfeld showed the reporter several samples of quilts designed by Mrs. Hodgkins, which were proof in themselves of the beautiful patterns she designed.

Mrs. Hansen has lived in the Home since last spring, coming here from Chicago. She was born in Lier, Norway, and is one of twins. Her twin sister died in 1936.

Prior to her sister's death the two were quite popular in their day, having presided for several years as the oldest twins in Chicago, at which time their pictures appeared in Chicago papers. They were also recognized as the oldest twins among the 44 sets of twins who were invited by the Burlington railroad, April 14, 1935, to be guests at the time they made their first test run of the Twin Zephyrs train. They were made charter members of the Twin Zephyr club.

AFTER HER marriage to Emil Hansen in Norway, she and her husband remained there for 15 years before coming to this country. Mrs. Hansen is one of a family of 13 children and has a brother, Louis Larsen, 87, living in Oconomowoc, Wis. Mrs. Hansen has many nieces and nephews who help to keep her happy. She in turn, recognizes each one, recalling to their minds many fond and lovable characteristics concerning them which she cherishes among her memories.

Both Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Hodgkins each had a son, both of whom died a number of years ago. Their husbands have also succumbed.

Members of the Rest Home staff and nurses, along with Rev. Harald F. H. Ellingsen, owner of the Home, assisted at both birthday parties. Rev. Ellingsen joined in with the guests and made everyone feel welcome, despite the fact that the serving of refreshments and other activities disrupted the usual orderly routine of the Rest Home.

"I'm a Lucky Guy" by Frank B. Gilbreth, Jr. With the same wonderful humor that made "Cheaper by the Dozen" and "Bells on Their Toes" best-sellers, the author tells what happens to a member of that uproarious clan when he leaves the rollicking roost for the great wide world. "I'm a Lucky Guy" is as lively and exuberant as a spring zephyr. From finding his future wife on a scavenger hunt to giving involuntary aid and comfort to the enemy in the Pacific, Frank Gilbreth never fails to be at his funniest, offering the reader a front-row seat at a hilarious but human comedy.

"Mr. Smith" by Louis Bromfield is a novel about a man all of us will recognize—the successful businessman with a college degree, an expensive house, a beautiful car, an attractive-looking, competent wife, and two nice children. It is the story of "Mr. Smith" who all his life had done the expected thing, and would have somehow gone on doing so except for the morning when, looking into his mirror, he realized with sudden, frightening clarity that he was lost. In this brilliant dissection of one man's life, Mr. Bromfield makes appealing and disturbing commentary on the character of our time.

"The Best American Short Stories of 1951," edited by Martha Foley, have been chosen both for their literary significance and their permanent reading value. The result is a collection which will appeal to the general reader as well as the particular student of literature. It is one of the most consulted books in private and public libraries throughout the country. These stories have been picked from hundreds of magazines, big and little, simple and sophisticated, from all over the United States. The well-known authors of tomorrow are represented side by side.

Proclamation

WHEREAS the citizens of Arlington Heights are vitally interested in our youth and recognize the importance of adult participation in matters pertaining to the welfare of our children.

WHEREAS one of the principal tasks facing our nation and our community today is the building of our youth into useful and honorable citizens.

WHEREAS it is fitting that we make every effort to keep all children from being prey to any form of delinquency and to foster all good and proper endeavors aimed at helping our youth to achieve the benefits offered by the American way of life.

WHEREAS through the joint efforts of Kiwanis International and The National Kids' Day Foundation as represented by our local Kiwanis Club, a day has been set aside to focus attention upon the problems and the accomplishments of youth throughout the forty-eight states at both a national and community level.

WHEREAS the purpose of the day is to provide wherever possible, assistance in helping underprivileged children to enjoy some of the benefits normally accruing to boys and girls in more fortunate circumstances.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mayor Albert W. Goedke by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Arlington Heights, do hereby designate Saturday, September 22, as Kids' Day in Arlington Heights and do call upon all citizens to support the objectives of this day and to cooperate to the best of their abilities in making the event a success.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Arlington Heights to be affixed this 20th day of September in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-One.

Capering canines' shrub damage can be minimized

Tens of thousands of evergreens and other foundation plantings go to the dogs annually because the dogs can't resist going to them.

Growing adjacent to the home, low-growing shrubs, with ugly brown areas hardly are cause for pride by the owner. They stick out like sore thumbs because they are planted to be noticed by embellishing lines of the house itself.

Since the matter of canine capers is one that calls for humane as well as judicious action, Hugo E. Birkner, an executive of the Davey tree experts, has some suggestions worth heeding. You don't have to banish your own Fido or sit with rifle cocked for the neighbor's pooch to come visiting.

Of course, tree guards for the purpose can be had at almost any supply store. However, if you are inclined to be more artistic about the matter, you can indulge in a bit of preventive landscaping.

It sometimes is possible to surround plantings with a low hedge that will seem to be a part of the landscaping plan. Such a hedge might conceal a woven wire fence or it might be composed of a thorny type of Barberry or a low-growing juniper, like Pfitzer. Such plants would have to be trimmed annually to keep them from getting too large.

For your own dog, you can fix a definite run for him. Fasten his leash to a wire stretched between two posts. He will get plenty of exercise but his scrambling through shrubbery will be curtailed.

Prevents Ugly Stain

A corrosive wash from copper gutters and flashings is likely to cause an undesirable yellowish-green stain on light or white-painted houses. To avoid this, new copper or bronze should be washed off with gasoline or turpentine to remove any grease present. The surface should then be roughened slightly with sandpaper and a metal primer, followed by a coating of house paint in the desired color, should be applied. Weathered copper or bronze should be thoroughly dusted. They do not need the preliminary washing or sanding before the priming coat and finish coat are applied, however.

Driver knocked out but saves his bus

Robert Armstrong of Mount Prospect, a driver for Cardinal Bus Lines, saved his bus, enroute from Waukegan to Kenosha, from what might have been a serious accident last week Tuesday.

The bus was nearing the state line on Rt. 42, when a rock-laden tomato was hurled through the window and struck Armstrong on the side of the head. Reflex action caused him to jam his foot on the brake pedal a moment before he lost consciousness.

The bus skidded off the road and came to a stop in a driveway. Several windows in the bus were broken, and the floor was littered with ripe tomatoes and stones. Armstrong was treated in a hospital for cuts and bruises.

Driver knocked out but saves his bus

Robert Armstrong of Mount Prospect, a driver for Cardinal Bus Lines, saved his bus, enroute from Waukegan to Kenosha, from what might have been a serious accident last week Tuesday.

The bus was nearing the state line on Rt. 42, when a rock-laden tomato was hurled through the window and struck Armstrong on the side of the head. Reflex action caused him to jam his foot on the brake pedal a moment before he lost consciousness.

The bus skidded off the road and came to a stop in a driveway. Several windows in the bus were broken, and the floor was littered with ripe tomatoes and stones. Armstrong was treated in a hospital for cuts and bruises.

NW SCHOOLS OPEN CONFERENCE PLAY; ARLINGTON HOST TO MARMION FRIDAY

by G. A. McELROY

Friday night the lid is pried off on the Northwest Conference football season when Bensenville's Bisons play at Antioch under the arcs at 7:30. The rest of the league teams open Saturday. Ela-Vernon is host to Barrington at 2:30 and Northbrook entertains Grant at the same hour. In the evening Palatine takes on Wauconda in a double header at Palatine Community park with a frosh-soph game at 6:30 and the varsity contest at 8:15. Prospects point to an evenly matched field of teams in comparison with the last few years when Barrington has dominated the situation completely.

Barrington may still dominate the league this year. They have much depth in material, particularly in the line. They have size, a winning spirit, and confidence that they can beat their conference opponents as they have in the last 21 games in a row. Led by such sterling performers as Dave Heckmiller, a smart athlete and a fine team player at right half; Bill Harrison, a 220 pound giant junior at tackle; and Bruce Anderberg, a 200 pound center, Grant led by all-conference Roger Smith at center weighing 185; Jim Kramer, all league half back; Stu Koutny and Don Wehrstein who alternated at quarterback; and Jim Jensen 190, Bill Swanson 185, and George Vermillion 210, who are veteran linemen.

Northbrook always is strong under the capable handling of Bill Lutz. The Vikings who copped third a year ago with a 5-2 record have seven regulars among eleven lettermen. Northbrook will have a strong lineup but few replacements. Regulars returning are Jerry Kempa, 170 fullback; Skip Hanseman, 180 fullback and an outstanding punter; Art Landwehr, 185 end; Del Koelper, 170 tackle; Ray Schmidt, 170 guard; George Boyer, 160 center; and Walter Sellers 205 tackle. Don't count out the Vikings. They are always in the race.

PALATINE is accorded a two touchdown edge over Wauconda if they play up to expectations but the Bulldogs will be no push-over. Last year Palatine eked out a 7-6 victory at Wauconda. Bob Nolan, Ed Shuringa, and George Sutko were fine boys for Wauconda last year. Nolan was second all-conference end and Shuringa won the same honors at tackle. Sutko, one of the fastest backs in the conference as a sophomore, is a coming star. Wauconda lost only two or three players off last year's starting team.

Palatine looked ragged at Warren but has possibilities of being one of the league's better teams. The Pirates have two of the best ends in the league in Walter Grever and Dick Abrahamson and the backfield of Don Zoellick at quarter, Dan Day at full, and Burton Nessett and Bob Ward at halves will be one of the best quartets on offense in the conference.

When the same teams met last year the scores were: Bensenville 19, Antioch 13; Barrington 39, Ela-Vernon 6; Grant 31, Northbrook 8; and Palatine 7, Wauconda 6. What will they be this year? No one knows at this point but there will be lots of folks out to watch the results as the league opens play this week end.

Visitors have weight but Cards could —

Spirit and determination might be just the thing to overcome a 14 pound-per-man weight disadvantage this Friday evening, September 21, when Arlington Heights gridders play host to Marmion of Aurora. The visiting linemen outweigh Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's boys just that much.

Whether or not the Heights Cardinals were playing over their heads last week while holding Downers Grove to a 7-6 margin is the big question for fans to decide this week. Defensive play was good against Downers with the offense lacking polish another game might soften.

A doubleheader is on tap again with the frosh-soph encounter starting at 6:15.

MARMION offers Arlington some good competition as preparation for the York contest a week later. The Aurora school gathers boys from all over the country, most of them big, which has provided Heights with three losses in four previous meetings.

The two schools take turns winning. Marmion copped the first encounter in '48, 18-0. Arlington took the 1949 contest, 35-25, but lost last year, 19-6. At that rate Marmion should win this one.

But just how much Arlington spirit can offset that record will be seen Friday night.

SUBSTANTIALLY the same lineup will start for the Cardinals with Rezek and Cooper at tackles, Grace and Leckband at guards, Intravartolo at center and Hinneberg at left end. Sander may replace Simmons in the starting fold at right end, however.

In the backfield it is certain to be Eakins at quarter, Ragland at left half and Tom Theis at full. Hollihan may replace Mike Theis at right half.

A weak passing game Friday has forced some attention on the aerial end of the business this week.

IN ADDITION, there are some starters, all transfers, who may see action this week. They include tackle Earl Brandon from Lane, guard Wally Vartanian from Senn, and guard Ken Jacobson of Arlington Heights.

The frosh-sophs are certain to see more changes made this second week, according to coach John Ligon. In addition to Harting and Lemke at ends, Butler and Schaeffer at tackles, Amann and Milnamow at guards, Wilson at center, and Hauff, Werner, Sieburg and Glueckert in the backfield are several late arrivals.

Another team of yearlings could easily be Dave Ells and

NW wins at 21

Barrington sets sights on 4th conf. title in row

by G. A. McELROY

Saturday Barrington opens the Northwest Conference season at Ela-Vernon in quest of their fourth straight championship. The Bronchos' 24-game winning streak was stopped by Libertyville last Saturday. However, the Bronchos still have a league record of 21 straight wins which they hope to extend to 28 this year.

Coach Tom Fredericks has 17 lettermen to help Barrington make it four straight but only six played enough to be considered among the 15 boys who performed regularly last year. Barrington will have size and numbers but the quality will not be up to the standard of the last few years. Still, the Bronchos appear to be the favorite finish on to this season.

HEADING THE list of veterans is Dave Heckmiller whom Coach Fredericks rates as the best back in the conference. "Tige" Aspinwall, who played fullback most of last season, has the inside track for that job. Dave Bergen, one of Barrington's best defensive backs, will probably play on both offense and defense this year. Chuck Buckley, Bob Thomas and Bob Whitmer are other backs from whom a quarterback will be selected. Bob Whitmer operated at the key spot in the Libertyville game.

The best linemen are the three regulars left from last season. Bruce Anderberg, 200 pound center; Bill Harrison, 230 pound tackle; and Bob Weldon, 175 pound end: are expected to be the bulwarks in an outstanding forward wall. Other top line prospects are Ted LaBarre, 160 end; Dick Popp, 195, sophomore tackle; Rollin Lindberg, 165, sophomore guard; and Bob Naylor, 165, guard.

BOB BENTLEY, a 190 pound junior transfer from Taylorville, is a great prospect and played line backer on defense in the opening game. Doug Stevenson, who played tackle at Lake Geneva, Wis., last year, is a good senior tackle.

According to Coach Fredericks the big problem will be to develop a good quarterback so essential in giving the school a winner. If this position is filled satisfactorily the team should continue its league winning ways. The schedule does not pit the Bronchos against the strongest teams until mid-season. By that time the green players will be seasoned veterans.

Palatine Theater second in tourney

Palatine Theater softball team lost the championship game at Libertyville Sunday night when a series of three hits and a base on balls were just enough to defeat ace pitcher Dick Heiden. Dick had been driven from Decatur where he is attending James Millikin university to pitch both Friday and Sunday nights for Don Foster.

Friday night the Theater group whitewashed Oak Park, 2-0. Wickersham scored in the third on a double, error and an infield out.

Pitcher Heiden dumped a triple in the fifth and scored on a long fly by Diddo. Only other hit for Palatine was a double by Diddo in the opening inning.

Heiden allowed just one hit, struck out six and walked the first man.

SUNDAY NIGHT Libertyville's Warren Boys struck out 14 Theater boys as he went on to the tourney title, 2-0. Heiden struck out five in the nine inning encounter, allowing four hits and one earned run.

That earned run, by the way, was the only one scored against Palatine Theater in seven tourney games, both at Park Ridge and Libertyville. There were four unearned scores in these seven contests.

'Little 7' Conference begins plans for season

Coaches of the "Little 7" Conference which was started last year met at the Wheeling school September 14 and discussed the program for the present school year and worked on a schedule of sports.

The conference consists of Elk Grove school, Mt. Prospect school, Prospect Heights, St. James, St. Peter, St. Paul and Wheeling schools.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

For the next seven week ends all schools of the Northwest conference will be playing league football games. From our viewpoint the league will have a more evenly matched season than for several seasons. Barrington, who was undefeated, and Grant with a 6-1 record last year, are neither expected to be as good as a year ago. Palatine 4-3, Antioch 1-6, and Wauconda 0-7 should be improved. Northbrook 5-2 and Ela 2-5 may be at about the same strength while Bensenville, 3-4, is expected to be much weaker. On the whole the caliber of play may be down a bit this year.

Still think Bronchos will take fourth straight title

On the basis of what we saw and heard last week end in practice games it looks like Barrington and Grant would again run 1-2 in the final standings with Palatine, Northbrook and Antioch getting the next three spots. Wauconda, Ela, and Bensenville may be very evenly matched in the second division.

Barrington is slower, lacks an outstanding break-away runner, has poorer quarterbacking, is not as adept at pass catching, and has more mediocre regulars than the past three years, but they still appear to us to pack more punch than the rest of the conference. We predict they will come down to earth and play some tough football following the defeat of last Saturday. It is probably the tonic needed.

Last beaten in conference by Palatine in 1947

Barrington ended a 24 game winning streak with their defeat at the hands of Libertyville Saturday but they still have a long streak going in the Northwest conference where they have won 21 in a row. The last Northwest defeat was a 6-0 loss to Palatine in mid-October of 1947 on the Barrington field.

Is Barrington material running out?

Last year Palatine freshmen beat Barrington in football. This year Barrington coaches say their material in the first year class is very poor, cancelled a frosh game with Arlington for this reason, and have declined to schedule Palatine or other Northwest frosh teams. Can it be that Barrington is nearing the end of a football cycle? Other conference football coaches hope this is the case, but have their doubts.

Impressed by spirit and improvement of Arlington Heights team

We saw Arlington Heights lose to Downers Grove 7-6, Friday night and were very much impressed by the spirited playing and improvement in the Arlington teams. There was every indication that the boys are being well coached and put in the proper frame of mind for stiff competition.

While Arlington may not win a game in the tough West Suburban league they are going to give an excellent account of themselves and play a brand of ball fans will enjoy watching. We feel sure of this after watching them play and seeing the way the coaches handle the boys.

Northwest league notes

Grant high tops the league in enrollment with 560 and is so crowded the school is on a double shift with frosh and sophs getting out of school at 5 p.m. daily. . . . Dan Osinski, Barrington's outstanding athlete last year in all sports, has signed a bonus contract with the Cleveland Indians as a pitcher and will go to spring training with them next

63 out for cross country at Arlington

That "cross country" has become of age at Arlington Heights high school was evident this week when 63 boys were conditioning themselves for the approaching ten meet season with Coach Russ Attis serving as mentor. First match is this Friday, September 21, at Palatine.

A full league schedule is on the docket for the Heights runners which, incidentally, include many boys in other sports who use this method of getting in shape for the approaching basketball and wrestling seasons. With last year's dozen boys providing a background for this year's West Suburban conference entrant of 63 the increase in interest is obvious.

JUST HOW conditioning through cross country puts boys in shape for winter sports was very evident last basketball season when two members of the varsity were well ahead of the rest of the squad for more than half the season.

West Suburban champion in cross country is handled just as golf and tennis were last spring. Low total of league standing, plus position in the league meet, will determine the championship.

NW SCHOOLS OPEN CONFERENCE PLAY; ARLINGTON HOST TO MARMION FRIDAY

Bensenville at Antioch Friday; Palatine, Northbrook host Sat.

Barrington fans can now obtain copies of the Palatine Enterprise at 10c a copy at the school every Friday morning in order to keep up with Northwest conference sports activities. the Bronchos are the season favorites. They are picked to beat Ela by three touchdowns or more and are apt to be especially tough customers as they smart from the beating handed them last week by a powerful Libertyville eleven. Ela has a good spirit and quite a few veterans but meet too strong a team in the opener.

ANTIOCH is supposed to be much stronger than a year ago when they won but one game. Coaches who watched them play Wilmot, Wis. last week predict that Antioch may be a first division team. The new coach, Paul Kessenich, has developed a good team spirit and much hustle in the Sequoits.

Antioch has very good performers in Bob Lubkeman, 190 pound second all-conference end; Dennis Kennedy, a 175 pound veteran guard; Bill Bachman, a 185 pound junior tackle; and Harry Larsen, 185 pound fullback, among eight good lettermen. Antioch is favored over Bensenville in a tight game by one touchdown. The Bisons will be green but fast this year and will probably do better than their limited material would indicate.

NORTHBROOK and Grant should have quite a game as both are well supplied with varsity regulars of a year ago when Grant finished second with a 6-1 record and Northbrook took third with 5-2. It looks like a slight edge for

Palatine Theater second in tourney

Palatine Theater softball team lost the championship game at Libertyville Sunday night when a series of three hits and a base on balls were just enough to defeat ace pitcher Dick Heiden. Dick had been driven from Decatur where he is attending James Millikin university to pitch both Friday and Sunday nights for Don Foster.

Friday night the Theater group whitewashed Oak Park, 2-0. Wickersham scored in the third on a double, error and an infield out.

Pitcher Heiden dumped a triple in the fifth and scored on a long fly by Diddo. Only other hit for Palatine was a double by Diddo in the opening inning.

Heiden allowed just one hit, struck out six and walked the first man.

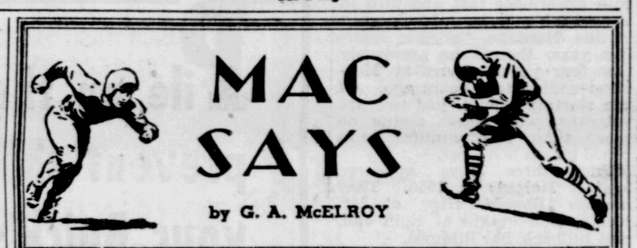
SUNDAY NIGHT Libertyville's Warren Boys struck out 14 Theater boys as he went on to the tourney title, 2-0. Heiden struck out five in the nine inning encounter, allowing four hits and one earned run.

That earned run, by the way, was the only one scored against Palatine Theater in seven tourney games, both at Park Ridge and Libertyville. There were four unearned scores in these seven contests.

'Little 7' Conference begins plans for season

Coaches of the "Little 7" Conference which was started last year met at the Wheeling school September 14 and discussed the program for the present school year and worked on a schedule of sports.

The conference consists of Elk Grove school, Mt. Prospect school, Prospect Heights, St. James, St. Peter, St. Paul and Wheeling schools.



For the next seven week ends all schools of the Northwest conference will be playing league football games. From our viewpoint the league will have a more evenly matched season than for several seasons. Barrington, who was undefeated, and Grant with a 6-1 record last year, are neither expected to be as good as a year ago. Palatine 4-3, Antioch 1-6, and Wauconda 0-7 should be improved. Northbrook 5-2 and Ela 2-5 may be at about the same strength while Bensenville, 3-4, is expected to be much weaker. On the whole the caliber of play may be down a bit this year.

Still think Bronchos will take fourth straight title

On the basis of what we saw and heard last week end in practice games it looks like Barrington and Grant would again run 1-2 in the final standings with Palatine, Northbrook and Antioch getting the next three spots. Wauconda, Ela, and Bensenville may be very evenly matched in the second division.

Barrington is slower, lacks an outstanding break-away runner, has poorer quarterbacking, is not as adept at pass catching, and has more mediocre regulars than the past three years, but they still appear to us to pack more punch than the rest of the conference. We predict they will come down to earth and play some tough football following the defeat of last Saturday. It is probably the tonic needed.

Last beaten in conference by Palatine in 1947

Barrington ended a 24 game winning streak with their defeat at the hands of Libertyville Saturday but they still have a long streak going in the Northwest conference where they have won 21 in a row. The last Northwest defeat was a 6-0 loss to Palatine in mid-October of 1947 on the Barrington field.

Is Barrington material running out?

Last year Palatine freshmen beat Barrington in football. This year Barrington coaches say their material in the first year class is very poor, cancelled a frosh game with Arlington for this reason, and have declined to schedule Palatine or other Northwest frosh teams. Can it be that Barrington is nearing the end of a football cycle? Other conference football coaches hope this is the case, but have their doubts.

Impressed by spirit and improvement of Arlington Heights team

We saw Arlington Heights lose to Downers Grove 7-6, Friday night and were very much impressed by the spirited playing and improvement in the Arlington teams. There was every indication that the boys are being well coached and put in the proper frame of mind for stiff competition.

While Arlington may not win a game in the tough West Suburban league they are going to give an excellent account of themselves and play a brand of ball fans will enjoy watching. We feel sure of this after watching them play and seeing the way the coaches handle the boys.

Northwest league notes

Grant high tops the league in enrollment with 560 and is so crowded the school is on a double shift with frosh and sophs getting out of school at 5 p.m. daily. . . . Dan Osinski, Barrington's outstanding athlete last year in all sports, has signed a bonus contract with the Cleveland Indians as a pitcher and will go to spring training with them next

63 out for cross country at Arlington

That "cross country" has become of age at Arlington Heights high school was evident this week when 63 boys were conditioning themselves for the approaching ten meet season with Coach Russ Attis serving as mentor. First match is this Friday, September 21, at Palatine.

A full league schedule is on the docket for the Heights runners which, incidentally, include many boys in other sports who use this method of getting in shape for the approaching basketball and wrestling seasons. With last year's dozen boys providing a background for this year's West Suburban conference entrant of 63 the increase in interest is obvious.

JUST HOW conditioning through cross country puts boys in shape for winter sports was very evident last basketball season when two members of the varsity were well ahead of the rest of the squad for more than half the season.

West Suburban champion in cross country is handled just as golf and tennis were last spring. Low total of league standing, plus position in the league meet, will determine the championship.

MEETS include:

Friday, Sept. 21, Palatine, there.
Saturday, Sept. 29, York, there.
Friday, Oct. 5, Maine, here.
Wednesday, Oct. 10, Downers Grove, here.
Tuesday, Oct. 16, Palatine, here.

Barrington sets sights on 4th conf. title in row

by G. A. McELROY

Saturday Barrington opens the Northwest Conference season at Ela-Vernon in quest of their fourth straight championship. The Bronchos' 24-game winning streak was stopped by Libertyville last Saturday. However, the Bronchos still have a league record of 21 straight wins which they hope to extend to 28 this year.

Coach Tom Fredericks has 17 lettermen to help Barrington make it four straight but only six played enough to be considered among the 15 boys who performed regularly last year. Barrington will have size and numbers but the quality will not be up to the standard of the last few years. Still, the Bronchos appear to be the favorite finish on to this season.

HEADING THE list of veterans is Dave Heckmiller whom Coach Fredericks rates as the best back in the conference. "Tige" Aspinwall, who played fullback most of last season, has the inside track for that job. Dave Bergen, one of Barrington's best defensive backs, will probably play on both offense and defense this year. Chuck Buckley, Bob Thomas and Bob Whitmer are other backs from whom a quarterback will be selected. Bob Whitmer operated at the key spot in the Libertyville game.

The best linemen are the three regulars left from last season. Bruce Anderberg, 200 pound center; Bill Harrison, 230 pound tackle; and Bob Weldon, 175 pound end; are expected to be the bulwarks in an outstanding forward wall. Other top line prospects are Ted LaBarre, 160 end; Dick Popp, 195, sophomore tackle; Rollin Lindberg, 165, sophomore guard; and Bob Naylor, 165, guard.

BOB BENTLEY, a 190 pound junior transfer from Taylorville, is a great prospect and played line backer on defense in the opening game. Doug Stevenson, who played tackle at Lake Geneva, Wis., last year, is a good senior tackle.

According to Coach Fredericks the big problem will be to develop a good quarterback so essential in giving the school a winner. If this position is filled satisfactorily the team should continue its league winning ways. The schedule does not pit the Bronchos against the strongest teams until mid-season. By that time the green players will be seasoned veterans.

Dan Taggert intercepts pass for Ela victory

An 80 yard pass interception by Dan Taggert, formerly of Arlington Heights, provided victory for Ela against Oswego Friday night, 7-6. With George Radke holding, Bob Helzer kicked the extra point.

Host school Oswego tallied in the second period and led in most of the statistics. Rushing yardage was 119-112, first downs 8-7, completed passes 5-4 and fumbles 4-2.

Libertyville dumps Barrington 13-7

24 game streak washed away in non-league tilt

Barrington's winning streak which had reached 24 straight, the longest unbroken record in Illinois, came to an end in the opening game of the 1951 season as Libertyville beat the Bronchos, 13-7. The last Barrington defeat prior to last Saturday was the season opener in 1948 at Arlington Heights by a score of 19-0. Since that time Barrington had taken three undefeated Northwest championships.

Barrington may still continue their conference winning streak for in spite of the fact that they were quite badly outplayed Saturday they still appear superior to the rest of the Northwest teams. It was generally figured that Barrington was meeting their strongest oponpent of the year in the veterans North Suburban team, a championship favorite.

The Bronchos put over a touchdown in the first quarter Saturday but thereafter Libertyville had a decisive edge, scoring twice in the second period and dominating a scoreless second half. Libertyville's play was featured by a clever, short passing attack and the terrific line plunging of Jim Beitzel, Wildcat fullback.

EARLY IN THE game Libertyville got off a poor punt which went straight up in the air and behind the line of scrimmage on the 25 yard line. From this point Barrington moved to a touchdown with Bob Whitmer finally going over from the one foot line. Ernie Gerlach, Barrington's combination manager and goal kicker, made the conversion.

In the second quarter Libertyville marched from midfield to the Barrington 10 and lost the ball on downs. Barrington got off a short punt and the Wildcats came down from the 30 yard stripe to score on line bucks with Jim Beitzel going over from the two yard line. Joe Ray converted.

A LITTLE LATER after receiving the kickoff Barrington tried to advance the ball by passing and Whitmer's toss to the flat was taken by Newman who ran it to the Barrington 15 yard line. A five yard line buck by Beitzel was followed by a pass from Bill Yopp to Don Rogers in the end zone for the second touchdown. The conversion was blocked.

In the second half Libertyville threatened on three occasions. Once they had first down on the Barrington nine yard line but a flat pass was intercepted by Bob Thomas and run to the 40. Barrington advanced into Libertyville territory on a long pass from Whitmer to LaBarre and Heckmiller made several good line gains but the Wildcats eventually stopped them before they could become dangerous.

LATE IN THE game when Barrington failed to punt on fourth down on their own 30 yard line Libertyville had another scoring chance and was just seven yards from pay dirt when the game ended.

Better line blocking, more speed, better pass catching and a standout line plunger and line backer in Jim Beitzel gave the Wildcats a greater edge than the score would indicate. Barrington had a decided weight advantage.

Barrington beat Dundee 12-6 in a frosh-soph preliminary game.

Leyden mauls Bensenville in non-league opener under lights

by BUD BOOTH

Bensenville high school's varsity gridders opened their 1951 season Saturday night at home and, despite some valiant efforts, lost to Leyden of Franklin Park, 34 to 0. The host frosh-soph squad experienced similar difficulties, ending on the short end of a 19-0 count.

Two Leyden veterans, fullback Tom Schiferl and halfback George Durante, dominated the varsity scoring, tallying two touchdowns each. Schiferl put the visitors in the lead midway through the first quarter when he plunged across the Bison goal from two yards out. The conversion by Dan Bergman made the score 7 to 0.

A few minutes later the Franklin Park eleven went ahead, 13-0, as Durante climaxed a brief drive by scampering 29 yards to pay dirt. Schiferl accounted for the third Leyden TD shortly after the start of the second quarter. He plowed through the Bensenville line, picked up blockers and crossed the goal standing up. The play covered 43 yards. Bergman's tries for the extra points after these scores failed and the half ended 19-0.

AFTER SUBSTITUTE halfback Roy Reynolds made the score 25-0 with a 45 yard gallop in the third quarter, the Bisons put on their best defensive exhibition of the night.

The host team halted a Leyden drive which actually got to the one foot line, but, as luck would have it, the excellent play went for naught. On the first play of the final staza the visitors were awarded a safety when Bensenville was caught behind its goal attempting to punt out of danger.

Undiscouraged, the Bisons pounded back with their best offensive punch and pushed to the Leyden one yard mark before losing the ball on downs. End Jim Karrigan got the drive underway when he recovered a fumble. Quarterback Ken Wilke then paced the action with explosive runs of 13, seven and two yards.

LEYDEN then marched down the field in rapid fashion to nab a fifth touchdown. Durante ran through the entire Bensenville team in a 66-yard jaunt and Bergman's successful kick made the final count 34 to 0.

Bensenville's coach, Tom Meneguin, was fairly satisfied with his team's performance, despite the score. After the game he pointed out Leyden had failed to complete a pass and statistics show each team notched five first downs.

Fullback Merlyn Merholtz was the only Bison casualty, suffering a cut lip, but he's expected to be ready for the team's first conference game, Saturday, September 21, at Antioch. According to Meneguin there will probably be several changes in the line for the league opener and the addition of Tom Walsh, a 196 pound, 6'4" tackle, who has just become eligible, should be a definite asset. Walsh starred with a Chicago high school before transferring this fall.

Northbrook sports club plans events

Bowling, field trials, archery, fishing and a comprehensive shooting program are on the jam-packed agenda of Northbrook sports club activities for this fall, according to Alex T. Franz, Wilmette, president of the organization.

A summer-long intra-club twilight golf program was completed this week with an all day golf jamboree at the Roy Roy country club, and a banquet at the Union hotel in Wheeling. "Wives of members and guests enjoyed an evening of dining and dancing, and the presentation of awards to the golf champions . . . William Schilling and George Scott, both of Northbrook . . . concluded a splendid season of club golfing," according to Luke Duebler, Northbrook, chairman of the golf committee.

ROY F. SMITH, Winnetka, chairman of the bowling committee, said, "The club bowling league rolled its first series Thursday, September 6, and will continue to bowl weekly throughout the season. Many club members are active in this sport and we look forward to a fine year of interesting competition."

Field trials will occur on the club property on Pfingsten and County Line roads in Northbrook October 21 and October 28. Al Roehr, Northbrook, chairman of the hunting committee, has indicated a big turnout for these events.

Combined with field trials Sunday, October 28, will be a merchandise trap shooting program open to all persons in the area. Club membership is not required for participation in the merchandise shoot.

Shotgun shooters will be busy each week end through November 1 participating in the intra-club trapshooting program, according to Dr. C. B. Blake, Northfield, chairman. Six teams of nine members each will compete for the Club Championship.

Grant whips Grayslake, 18-6

Grant scored in three different quarters to soundly trounce Grayslake Saturday, 18-6, on the winner's field with runs of 64, 43, 40 and 18 yards, plus a 31 yard aerial spelling the difference.

On the second play of the game Jim Lumber went through the line and 64 yards for the game's first TD. Later Jim Kramer went 43 yards on an end run, followed by Ross catching a 31 yard toss by Koutny for another score in the second period.

FINAL TALLY for Grant was the result of a pass interception by Kramer late in the fourth quarter, who ran 15 yards to the Grayslake 20. Ross picked up 18 yards on an end around, then after a loss picked up five more for the touchdown.

Only score for the losers was Pech's five yard plunge in the third period. Grant held the edge in yards rushing, 253-138 and punting yardage, 130-65. Otherwise Grayslake held a slight edge in first downs, 7-4, passing yardage, 53-31, passes completed, 5-1, fumbles, 3-4, and yards penalized, 30-50.

Hinsdale ties Lake Forest on Prais' long run

Hinsdale battled to a 12 to 12 tie in a football game Saturday in Lake Forest.

Lake Forest's first touchdown came in the opening quarter on a pass from Jim Harris to Tom Grant. Hinsdale tied the score on Bob Nicherson's plunge from the 8 in the third period.

In the final quarter, Hinsdale's Tom Kena dashed 64 yards to score, but a 90 yard kickoff return by Bobby Prais brought about the deadlock.

Wayne Sandman is at Illinois Normal after transfer from Iowa State and Jerry Centoni and John Connelly of last year's team are at Marquette university.

Northbrook is now the smallest Northwest school with 220 but actually has the greatest enrollment if they had room and did not have to send some 300 to other schools on a tuition basis. Whether Northbrook will have a school next year is still a question as their plans for a new building are still held up by technicalities. . . . Gerlach doubles at taking out towels and first aid kit, and in kicking points after touchdowns. He had one kicking chance last Saturday and made good.

Now, due to defense construction needs, Palatine will be lucky to have the steel for the gym framework by the end of next March, 1952. . . . Melvin Eide of Ela was elected president and Claude Bailey of Palatine, secretary, as the Northwest conference coaches held their fall meeting at Lake Zurich Monday.

Eliot happy to see slimmer Karras afield

A slimmer, trimmer Johnny Karras will assault his own Big Ten rushing records this year. The senior halfback from Argo, playing his final season for the Fighting Illini, weighed in for practice at a neat 170 pounds—fifteen less than he carried to fame in 1949 and 1950. His new weight is the talk of the Illinois squad, but Johnny isn't concerned.

Karras says he's stronger than he ever was, and early indications are that his speed has picked up. The Illini star ran the "Eliot mile" in 5:46 this year, best time he ever recorded, and even then he "had a lot left."

THIS MEANS the Argo Express will be harder for opponents to handle than in the 1949 season when his 732 yards gained rushing took Big Ten honors. Last year, hampered by a sprained ankle, Karras still managed to cover 592 yards in 117 tries for a respectable 5.1 yards per try average.

Karras trained hard through off-season months, and surprisingly lost weight not only around the middle, but in his legs. He's solid now, and thinks that added speed will aid him in running over tacklers as he did in previous seasons.

Far more important to John than his loss of weight is the way his bad ankle has mended. The injury, sustained in the third quarter of last year's battle with Indiana, forced Karras to miss the Michigan and Iowa games, and his play was limited against Ohio State.

Illini's Chuck Flynn at Illini club lunch

With the smell of autumn, excitement over football runs high, especially in the midwest. University of Illinois alumni in the Chicago area are having a unique opportunity to get the complete picture of each player and each position from Chuck Flynn, the athletic association's director of publicity. Chuck is regarded as one of the best qualified men in the nation, according to sportswriters.

The occasion will be the Illini club of Chicago's luncheon Thursday, September 20, at their private dining room adjoining Mandel Brother's men's grill.

This will be the "inside" preview of the Fighting Illini's tough football schedule — and starting Thursday, October 4, the Illini club of Chicago will show at their regular Thursday luncheons movies of the previous Saturdays' Illinois football games, both home and out-of-town contests.

Cards-Marmion

MARMION plays a free lance schedule which includes Kankakee, Niles, Belvidere, St. Thomas of Rockford, Joliet Catholic and Gage Park of Chicago this year. Last week they were severely trounced by Dixon, 26-6, after a 6-6 first half.

A green club, Marmion could gain experience fast and turn in a creditable slate. Head coach is Joe Nardone, "a new man" this year, though he previously saw four years service at Marmion ending five years ago. Of the starting lineup, just two are veterans, with others seeing no more than five minutes combined action last year.

HALFTIME festivities this game, in addition to the football band directed by Bob Meredith, will feature the entire group of "Swing Queens," the dancers directed by Miss Schipper and the twirlers led by Fredrick Schmoyer.

Included on the band program will be "Kentucky Korn," a humorous skit modelled after the Stefan Jones show in Miami, Florida.

DeMoss and Smid

Nine freshman candidates for the 1951 University of Illinois football team have been awarded varsity status by Head Coach Ray Eliot, including Clarence DeMoss, halfback, of York high school, and Jan Smid, guard, of Leyden.

9 lettermen brighten hopes for Ela eleven

by GERALD McELROY, JR.

Last year the Ela Bears finished sixth in the Northwest conference standings with a 2-5 record, but along with fine team spirit and nine returning lettermen the outlook is much brighter for the 1951 season. Encouraged by their recent win over Oswego, the Bears are looking forward to their first conference game at home with Barrington Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

NON LETTERMEN are: Mickey Cuscaden, 170, Bill Hahnfeldt, 175, and Jerry Kiobasse, 260, at tackles; Dave Nielsen, 155, and Leo Sheehan, 165, at guards; Eldon Wilson, 165, at center; and Marty Halvorsen, 160, at halfback.

Promising sophomores who will see action this year are Glen Chaffin, Dan Gudgeon, Tom Mylott, Don Prouty, and Dellard Volling. Heading the boys who transferred to Ela this year is Dan Taggert from Arlington Heights who intercepted a pass and ran eighty yards for a touchdown to beat Oswego, 7 to 6.

Libertyville dumps Barrington 13-7

24 game streak washed away in non-league tilt

Barrington's winning streak which had reached 24 straight, the longest unbroken record in Illinois, came to an end in the opening game of the 1951 season as Libertyville beat the Bronchos, 13-7. The last Barrington defeat prior to last Saturday was the season opener in 1948 at Arlington Heights by a score of 19-0. Since that time Barrington had taken three undefeated Northwest championships.

Barrington may still continue their conference winning streak for in spite of the fact that they were quite badly outplayed Saturday they still appear superior to the rest of the Northwest teams. It was generally figured that Barrington was meeting their strongest oponpent of the year in the veterans North Suburban team, a championship favorite.

The Bronchos put over a touchdown in the first quarter Saturday but thereafter Libertyville had a decisive edge, scoring twice in the second period and dominating a scoreless second half. Libertyville's play was featured by a clever, short passing attack and the terrific line plunging of Jim Beitzel, Wildcat fullback.

EARLY IN THE game Libertyville got off a poor punt which went straight up in the air and behind the line of scrimmage on the 25 yard line. From this point Barrington moved to a touchdown with Bob Whitmer finally going over from the one foot line. Ernie Gerlach, Barrington's combination manager and goal kicker, made the conversion.

In the second quarter Libertyville marched from midfield to the Barrington 10 and lost the ball on downs. Barrington got off a short punt and the Wildcats came down from the 30 yard stripe to score on line bucks with Jim Beitzel going over from the two yard line. Joe Ray converted.

A LITTLE LATER after receiving the kickoff Barrington tried to advance the ball by passing and Whitmer's toss to the flat was taken by Newman who ran it to the Barrington 15 yard line. A five yard line buck by Beitzel was followed by a pass from Bill Yopp to Don Rogers in the end zone for the second touchdown. The conversion was blocked.

In the second half Libertyville threatened on three occasions. Once they had first down on the Barrington nine yard line but a flat pass was intercepted by Bob Thomas and run to the 40. Barrington advanced into Libertyville territory on a long pass from Whitmer to LaBarre and Heckmiller made several good line gains but the Wildcats eventually stopped them before they could become dangerous.

LATE IN THE game when Barrington failed to punt on fourth down on their own 30 yard line Libertyville had another scoring chance and was just seven yards from pay dirt when the game ended.

Better line blocking, more speed, better pass catching and a standout line plunger and line backer in Jim Beitzel gave the Wildcats a greater edge than the score would indicate. Barrington had a decided weight advantage.

Barrington beat Dundee 12-6 in a frosh-soph preliminary game.

Leyden mauls Bensenville in non-league opener under lights

by BUD BOOTH

Bensenville high school's varsity gridders opened their 1951 season Saturday night at home and, despite some valiant efforts, lost to Leyden of Franklin Park, 34 to 0. The host frosh-soph squad experienced similar difficulties, ending on the short end of a 19-0 count.

Two Leyden veterans, fullback Tom Schiferl and halfback George Durante, dominated the varsity scoring, tallying two touchdowns each. Schiferl put the visitors in the lead midway through the first quarter when he plunged across the Bison goal from two yards out. The conversion by Dan Bergman made the score 7 to 0.

A few minutes later the Franklin Park eleven went ahead, 13-0, as Durante climaxed a brief drive by scampering 29 yards to pay dirt. Schiferl accounted for the third Leyden TD shortly after the start of the second quarter. He plowed through the Bensenville line, picked up blockers and crossed the goal standing up. The play covered 43 yards. Bergman's tries for the extra points after these scores failed and the half ended 19-0.

AFTER SUBSTITUTE halfback Roy Reynolds made the score 25-0 with a 45 yard gallop in the third quarter, the Bisons put on their best defensive exhibition of the night.

The host team halted a Leyden drive which actually got to the one foot line, but, as luck would have it, the excellent play went for naught. On the first play of the final staza the visitors were awarded a safety when Bensenville was caught behind its goal attempting to punt out of danger.

Undiscouraged, the Bisons pounded back with their best offensive punch and pushed to the Leyden one yard mark before losing the ball on downs. End Jim Karrigan got the drive underway when he recovered a fumble. Quarterback Ken Wilke then paced the action with explosive runs of 13, seven and two yards.

LEYDEN then marched down the field in rapid fashion to nab a fifth touchdown. Durante ran through the entire Bensenville team in a 66-yard jaunt and Bergman's successful kick made the final count 34 to 0.

Bensenville's coach, Tom Meneguin, was fairly satisfied with his team's performance, despite the score. After the game he pointed out Leyden had failed to complete a pass and statistics show each team notched five first downs.

Fullback Merlyn Merholtz was the only Bison casualty, suffering a cut lip, but he's expected to be ready for the team's first conference game, Saturday, September 21, at Antioch. According to Meneguin there will probably be several changes in the line for the league opener and the addition of Tom Walsh, a 196 pound, 6'4" tackle, who has just become eligible, should be a definite asset. Walsh starred with a Chicago high school before transferring this fall.

Hinsdale ties Lake Forest on Prais' long run

Hinsdale battled to a 12 to 12 tie in a football game Saturday in Lake Forest.

Lake Forest's first touchdown came in the opening quarter on a pass from Jim Harris to Tom Grant. Hinsdale tied the score on Bob Nicherson's plunge from the 8 in the third period.

In the final quarter, Hinsdale's Tom Kena dashed 64 yards to score, but a 90 yard kickoff return by Bobby Prais brought about the deadlock.

spring. He has enrolled in college at DeKalb and will attend the first two quarters until baseball season. He will not be able to play in college athletics but professional baseball success is the big goal for him. . . . Three former Ela athletes are on college football squads. Wayne Sandman is at Illinois Normal after transfer from Iowa State and Jerry Centoni and John Connelly of last year's team are at Marquette university.

Northbrook is now the smallest Northwest school with 220 but actually has the greatest enrollment if they had room and did not have to send some 300 to other schools on a tuition basis. Whether Northbrook will have a school next year is still a question as their plans for a new building are still held up by technicalities. . . . Roger Smith, Grant high center, is the only all conference player still in school. He was the only junior selection last year. . . . Ron Andrae of Barrington was one of seven Chick Evans caddy scholarship winners in the midwest this past year. . . . Ernie Gerlach of Barrington is the only Northwest conference manager listed also as a member of the football team. Gerlach doubles at taking out towels and first aid kit, and in kicking points after touchdowns. He had one kicking chance last Saturday and made good.

Palatine scheduled Dundee for December 1 with the thought in mind of dedicating a new gym that night. Now, due to defense construction needs, Palatine will be lucky to have the steel for the gym framework by the end of next March, 1952. . . . Melvin Eide of Ela was elected president and Claude Bailey of Palatine, secretary, as the Northwest conference coaches held their fall meeting at Lake Zurich Monday.

Northbrook sports club plans events

Bowling, field trials, archery, fishing and a comprehensive shooting program are on the jam-packed agenda of Northbrook sports club activities for this fall, according to Alex T. Franz, Wilmette, president of the organization.

A summer-long intra-club twilight golf program was completed this week with an all day golf jamboree at the Roy Roy country club, and a banquet at the Union hotel in Wheeling. "Wives of members and guests enjoyed an evening of dining and dancing, and the presentation of awards to the golf champions . . . William Schilling and George Scott, both of Northbrook . . . concluded a splendid season of club golfing," according to Luke Duebler, Northbrook, chairman of the golf committee.

ROY F. SMITH, Winnetka, chairman of the bowling committee, said, "The club bowling league rolled its first series Thursday, September 6, and will continue to bowl weekly throughout the season. Many club members are active in this sport and we look forward to a fine year of interesting competition."

Field trials will occur on the club property on Pfingsten and County Line roads in Northbrook October 21 and October 28. Al Roehr, Northbrook, chairman of the hunting committee, has indicated a big turnout for these events.

Combined with field trials Sunday, October 28, will be a merchandise trap shooting program open to all persons in the area. Club membership is not required for participation in the merchandise shoot.

Shotgun shooters will be busy each week end through November 1 participating in the intra-club trapshooting program, according to Dr. C. B. Blake, Northfield, chairman. Six teams of nine members each will compete for the Club Championship.

Grant whips Grayslake, 18-6

Grant scored in three different quarters to soundly trounce Grayslake Saturday, 18-6, on the winner's field with runs of 64, 43, 40 and 18 yards, plus a 31 yard aerial spelling the difference.

On the second play of the game Jim Lumber went through the line and 64 yards for the game's first TD. Later Jim Kramer went 43 yards on an end run, followed by Ross catching a 31 yard toss by Koutny for another score in the second period.

FINAL TALLY for Grant was the result of a pass interception by Kramer late in the fourth quarter, who ran 15 yards to the Grayslake 20. Ross picked up 18 yards on an end around, then after a loss picked up five more for the touchdown.

Only score for the losers was Pech's five yard plunge in the third period. Grant held the edge in yards rushing, 253-138 and punting yardage, 130-65. Otherwise Grayslake held a slight edge in first downs, 7-4, passing yardage, 53-31, passes completed, 5-1, fumbles, 3-4, and yards penalized, 30-50.

Eliot happy to see slimmer Karras afield

A slimmer, trimmer Johnny Karras will assault his own Big Ten rushing records this year. The senior halfback from Argo, playing his final season for the Fighting Illini, weighed in for practice at a neat 170 pounds—fifteen less than he carried to fame in 1949 and 1950. His new weight is the talk of the Illinois squad, but Johnny isn't concerned.

Karras says he's stronger than he ever was, and early indications are that his speed has picked up. The Illini star ran the "Eliot mile" in 5:46 this year, best time he ever recorded, and even then he "had a lot left."

THIS MEANS the Argo Express will be harder for opponents to handle than in the 1949 season when his 732 yards gained rushing took Big Ten honors. Last year, hampered by a sprained ankle, Karras still managed to cover 592 yards in 117 tries for a respectable 5.1 yards per try average.

Karras trained hard through off-season months, and surprisingly lost weight not only around the middle, but in his legs. He's solid now, and thinks that added speed will aid him in running over tacklers as he did in previous seasons.

Far more important to John than his loss of weight is the way his bad ankle has mended. The injury, sustained in the third quarter of last year's battle with Indiana, forced Karras to miss the Michigan and Iowa games, and his play was limited against Ohio State.

Illini's Chuck Flynn at Illini club lunch

With the smell of autumn, excitement over football runs high, especially in the midwest. University of Illinois alumni in the Chicago area are having a unique opportunity to get the complete picture of each player and each position from Chuck Flynn, the athletic association's director of publicity. Chuck is regarded as one of the best qualified men in the nation, according to sportswriters.

The occasion will be the Illini club of Chicago's luncheon Thursday, September 20, at their private dining room adjoining Mandel Brother's men's grill.

This will be the "inside" preview of the Fighting Illini's tough football schedule — and starting Thursday, October 4, the Illini club of Chicago will show at their regular Thursday luncheons movies of the previous Saturdays' Illinois football games, both home and out-of-town contests.

MARMION plays a free lance schedule which includes Kankakee, Niles, Belvidere, St. Thomas of Rockford, Joliet Catholic and Gage Park of Chicago this year. Last week they were severely trounced by Dixon, 26-6, after a 6-6 first half.

A green club, Marmion could gain experience fast and turn in a creditable slate. Head coach is Joe Nardone, "a new man" this year, though he previously saw four years service at Marmion ending five years ago. Of the starting lineup, just two are veterans, with others seeing no more than five minutes combined action last year.

HALFTIME festivities this game, in addition to the football band directed by Bob Meredith, will feature the entire group of "Swing Queens," the dancers directed by Miss Schipper and the twirlers led by Fredrick Schmoyer.

Included on the band program will be "Kentucky Korn," a humorous skit modelled after the Stefan Jones show in Miami, Florida.

DeMoss and Smid

Nine freshman candidates for the 1951 University of Illinois football team have been awarded varsity status by Head Coach Ray Eliot, including Clarence DeMoss, halfback, of York high school, and Jan Smid, guard, of Leyden.

9 lettermen brighten hopes for Ela eleven

by GERALD McELROY, JR.

Last year the Ela Bears finished sixth in the Northwest conference standings with a 2-5 record, but along with fine team spirit and nine returning lettermen the outlook is much brighter for the 1951 season. Encouraged by their recent win over Oswego, the Bears are looking forward to their first conference game at home with Barrington Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

NON LETTERMEN are: Mickey Cuscaden, 170, Bill Hahnfeldt, 175, and Jerry Kiobasse, 260, at tackles; Dave Nielsen, 155, and Leo Sheehan, 165, at guards; Eldon Wilson, 165, at center; and Marty Halvorsen, 160, at halfback.

Promising sophomores who will see action this year are Glen Chaffin, Dan Gudgeon, Tom Mylott, Don Prouty, and Dellard Volling. Heading the boys who transferred to Ela this year is Dan Taggert from Arlington Heights who intercepted a pass and ran eighty yards for a touchdown to beat Oswego, 7 to 6.

Other good transfers are Dick Wieland, also from Arlington Heights, Bud Long from Libertyville, John Langfield, a sophomore from Lake Forest, and Walt Murphy, a sophomore from Chicago.

Assisting Coach Bill Lehmann in his fourth year as Ela football coach will be Edward Thommen and Melvin Eide. Thommen will also coach varsity basketball.

Illini J-V schedule

A five-game schedule for Illinois Junior-Varsity football team was announced by Douglas R. Mills, director of athletics.

The Illini will play four conference foes, Purdue, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Ohio State, and a non-league opponent, Notre Dame.

The schedule:
Sept. 28, Purdue at Illinois.
October 5, Wisconsin at Illinois.
October 19, Notre Dame at Illinois.
November 9, Iowa at Illinois.
November 16, Ohio State at Columbus.

Palatine scores in final 45 seconds to beat Warren, 6-0

Palatine scored in the final 45 seconds of play to beat Warren at Gurnee in the opening game of the season last Friday, 6-0. It was a typical opening game for green teams with numerous fumbles, penalties, and poor offensive blocking. However, both schools had veteran teams returning rather than green material and neither was very much encouraged by the showing that was made.

There was only a minute to play and a scoreless tie seemed a foregone conclusion. Warren had the ball with first down on their own 21 yard stripe. They elected to pass and Frank Hummel, a Palatine lineman, grabbed a bad throw and ran to the Warren 17. On the first play Dick Abrahamson came back on an end around play and tossed a pass to rangy Walter Grever, right end, who took it on the goal line for the score. An attempted plunge for the extra point by Bob Lorden failed but it wasn't needed.

Aside from the excitement of the final minute the game was a ragged, poorly played contest. There were seven fumbles and 135 yards in penalties. Palatine made only two first downs, one on a penalty and the other on a pass. Warren got but four first downs of which two were on running plays, one on a pass, and one by a penalty.

WARREN HAD the superior line and Palatine the best backfield. Both showed more on defense than they did on offense. Palatine's vastly superior punting by Don Zoellick was quite a factor in favor of the Pirates for the Palatine quarterback averaged 36 yards on six kicks.

Palatine had their backs to the wall on their own two yard line early in the game after being set back by a penalty and a fumble, but they punted out and Warren suffered a 15 yard penalty to ease the situation. Later Warren got in the same fix and had to punt from their own eight yard line but Palatine blocked it and took over on the seven. After Dejka gained three, Bob Ward went through the line and fumbled right into the hands of a Warren player on the one foot line. Warren punited out to the 20 but Palatine finally lost the ball on downs on the 35 after a 15 yard penalty and a loss on a running play.

JUST BEFORE the half Capt. Dan Day recovered a Warren fumble on the 45 yard line and the Pirates seemed on the way as they completed two passes in a row to Abrahamson. A holding penalty spoiled the Pirate chances and they lost the ball on the 30 as the half ended.

In the third quarter Lorden was tackled on fourth down before he could punt and Warren took over on the Palatine 26. The Blue Devils were on their way to a score until Bob Dejka recovered a fumble on the eight yard line. Palatine punted out, then Bob Meyer intercepted a Warren pass and Zoellick punted 43 yards to the Warren 29 yard line.

Palatine had a net gain of 73 yards on 35 running plays to 29 for Warren on 33 plays. The Pirates gained 34 yards on four completed passes in seven tries. Warren gained 13 yards on two completions in eight attempts. Palatine was penalized 85 yards to Warren's 50 and averaged 36 yards to Warren's 25 on punts not including one blocked Warren kick. Palatine fumbled three times with Warren recovering two of them. Warren fumbled fou and Palatine picked up three.

PALATINE'S ENDS, Dick Abrahamson and Walter Grever, looked good and Harry Frette who did not win a letter last year, did some fine tackling in the line. The Palatine backfield ran well but got little blocking ahead of them. Coach Welty used a big squad of boys and got a line on who will be his best competitors for the games to follow.

Arlington defense surprises; Cardinals lose to Downers, 7-6

Surprising defense, plenty of spirit and lots of stamina—that was the verdict of fans watching Arlington Heights high school gridders in their first West Suburban conference competition as the locals bowed, 7-6, Friday night under the lights.

The Cardinals had their big chance late in the final period. Just one point behind, the locals had first down on the Downers 15 yard stripe. The visitors held three times, in fact, pushed Arlington back two yards.

Then came the attempted place kick. The ball was tossed, placed in position, but the kick went wide, killing a chance for a 9-6 victory for Arlington.

AS CAN BE EXPECTED, offense was sluggish on the part of both squads on the Heights field Friday, but defense on the part of Arlington more than made up for it. The entire squad surprised fans with their play. They are hoping for a good showing in the initial league game.

Biggest surprise of all was the uninterrupted playing of five Heights linesmen who stayed in the entire game. They were plenty tired when it was over, but played aggressive ball throughout the evening against both offensive and defensive Downers platoons.

For John Cooper, Norbert Leckband, Jim Intravartolo, Ronnie Grace and Joe Rezek, it was 60 minutes of play as they bucked the heavier Downers line. Just 16 boys were used by Coach "Bus" Ormsbee.

ARLINGTON started with a rush, going from the Downers 40 yard line to just one foot from pay dirt when stopped.

The next time Heights had the ball, a pass from Eakins to Simmons, good for 25 yards, put the Cards on the three. From there it was a pitch out to Ragland, who cut inside end for the score. The point after was missed.

Particularly outstanding for Arlington Friday night were Roy Hinneberg at end, Sander at defensive right end, and Ragland, whose running was a standout. Once he develops "hip action" a bit more, he'll be a constant threat to West Suburban foes.

QUICK KICKS both saved the day and caused the loss for Arlington Friday night. The first one, early in the game for almost 60 yards, set Downers back for most of the contest.

The other one, following a dead ball on the Arlington three yard line, went only to the 24. Walker crossed the goal line on the last of four plays for Downers with the point after according for the winning 7-6 margin.

PENALTIES cost the Arlington frosh-sophs plenty of scoring opportunities against Downers Friday night in the preliminary. Two clippings, three holdings, and several offsides attested to the determination of the Heights yearlings to grab the league's first football victory and present new coach John Ligon with a win. Their efforts were only halfway successful however, as the youngsters gained only a scoreless tie.

Best opportunity for victory was a Heights rush to the five yard stripe with the payoff pass dropped in the end zone for no score. Again the Heights defensive play was outstanding.

Downers Grove had its best chance to score when Heights, back to punt, fumbled the ball on the 30. The Arlington line held, however.

Starting for Heights were Clyde Harting and Ken Lemke at ends, Bob Butler and Bill Schaffer at tackles, Dick Amann and John Milnamow at guards, Bud Wilson at center, Dick Hauff at quarter, and Carroll Werner, John Blueckert and Jack Sieburg in the backfield.

Lake Forest to open Friday at Grinnell college

Lake Forest college will open its 63rd year of intercollegiate football at Grinnell college in a non-conference night game Saturday. The meeting will be the second between the two midwestern foes with Grinnell winning last season's initial game, 13-6.

Led by Leo Ferrari, all conference fullback, and veteran halfbacks Jack Cassidy of Joliet and Jay Blessing of Skokie the Foresters are expected to pull no punches in seeking to avenge last year's setback at the hands of the Pioneers. Coach John Breen will probably take the wraps off a few of his speedy freshmen backs on Saturday.

GUS CHANDLER, former Amundsen high school grid star and Roger Ziegler of Elgin are two frosh backs Breen will unveil against Grinnell. Probably the most interesting highlight of the game will be the debut of little Paul Baranowski into collegiate football. Baranowski, 5'6" 155 lbs., was one of the Chicago city league's outstanding linemen last season at Schurz high school. Lake Forest's "mighty mite" is expected to start at a defensive end position.

Heavy emphasis was placed on pass defense during this final week of workout. "We expect Grinnell to do a good deal of passing against us," commented Breen, "but then we expect to throw a little ourselves," he added. The Foresters, operating off the T-formation will depend on the throwing arm of Bob Carbone, sophomore quarterback from Kenosha.

LAKE FOREST'S probable starting lineup for the season's opener figures to see Buzz Hammond, Wauwatosa, Wis., and Gene Tagliapietra, Highland Park, at ends; Roger Siuda, Chicago, and Carl Scichili, Waukesha, Wis., at tackles; John Gaspar, Bensenville, and Chuck Walsh, Evanston, at guards and Bill Wolf, Belvidere, at center. In the backfield the Foresters will open with Bob Carbone, Kenosha, at quarterback; Jack Cassidy, Joliet, and Jay Blessing, Skokie, at half; and Leo Ferrari, Highland Park, at fullback.

The squad of 36 will leave for Grinnell Friday. Following the Grinnell opener Lake Forest returns to Farwell Field to face Illinois college in their home opener

Riverside pass ties Morton, 6-6

Morton and Riverside-Brookfield battled to a 6 to 6 tie Saturday in Riverside.

Morton tallied on a pass from quarterback Bob Klines to right end Bob Konovsky. Riverside-Brookfield rallied in the final period on a pass from George Vojta to Ray Fox.

Lessons In . . . . English

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "I've got to go now." This is a much used expression, but it is much better to say, "I have to go now."

Do not say, "This coin is no good." Say, "is worthless."

The word "raise" should never be used in the sense of bringing human beings to maturity. "Cattle are raised." Human beings are "brought up" or "reared."

Do not say, "There isn't but one dress in the store window." Say, "There is but one dress."

Do not say, "It was none other than him." Say, "It was no other than he."

Do not say, "I read where the governor is going to visit us." Say, "I read that the governor is going to visit us."

Words Often Mispronounced

Equine. Pronounce e-kwin, e as in me, i as in line, accent first syllable.

Learned (adjective and verb). Pronounce the adjective in two syllables, as lur-ned. Pronounce the verb in one syllable, as lurnd.

Deprecatory. Pronounce depre-ka-to-ri, first e as in set, second e as in me unstressed, a as in ask unstressed, o as in no, i as in it, principal accent on last syllable.

Distinguish between pronunciation of plaid (cloth) and plait (braid of hair). Pronounce plaid as plad, a as in at. Pronounce plait as plat, a as in ate.

Intaglio (an engraving). Pronounce in-tal-yo, i as in in, a as in tap, o as in no, accent second syllable.

Inimical. Pronounce in-im-i-kal, all i's as in it, a as in at unstressed, accent second syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Plait (a braid, as of hair); plate (a dish). Tragedy; not tradg. Enclose and inclose; enclose is preferred. Poll (casting of votes, or place for voting); pole (long rod). Emphasis (singular); emphases (plural). Caress; one r, two s's.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Stimulus; something that rouses the mind or spirits, or incites to activity; an incentive. "Nobility of birth does not always act as a stimulus to noble actions."

Countervail; to furnish an equivalent to or for; compensate. "A good conscience will countervail many calamities."

Consonant; being in agreement or harmony. "His sentiments are consonant with their inclinations."

Inscrutable; incapable of being searched into and understood. "It was an inscrutable smile."

Docile; disposed to be taught; tractable. "A docile disposition will win many friends."

Cavil; to raise captious and frivolous objections. (Pronounce the a as in calf). "The meeting was a failure, because several of the members caviled."

Modern Etiquette

Q. When a man and woman are entering a public dining room, and the head waiter is in another part of the room, what should they do?

A. They should stand in the doorway until the headwaiter comes and escorts them to a table. In any dining room where there is a head waiter, one should never make an attempt to seek one's own table.

Q. Is it necessary that a telegram of congratulation received at a wedding be acknowledged?

A. This does not necessitate the note of thanks required by a gift, but the first time one meets the sender of the telegram, a few words of appreciation should be expressed.

Q. May candles be used on the dinner table even when they are not to be lighted?

A. Yes; candles are always correct on the dinner or supper table.

Q. How should one take leave of persons to whom one has just been introduced?

A. You can say, "Good-by, I am very glad (or, so glad) to have met you." To one who has been especially interesting, or who is somewhat of a personage, you say, "It's been a great pleasure to meet you."

Q. Just what are the purposes of a dinner napkin?

A. To wipe the mouth before drinking from the water glass, that the glass may not be smeared, and also to wipe the fingers.

Q. When a man offers his seat in a streetcar or bus to a woman, should he lift his hat?

A. Yes; it is a polite thing for this "rare man" of today to do.

Q. What is the distinction between "American plan" and "European plan" hotels?

A. "American plan" means so much a day for room, including table d'hote meals. In the "European plan" hotel, the prices of rooms include no food. And the restaurant charge is so much for each dish ordered.

Q. At a wedding reception, who should stand in the receiving line, and in what positions?

A. The bride should stand at the right of the bridegroom, with her maid of honor on her right, the bridesmaids next.

Q. May one use the knife to cut open a muffin?

A. Never! Bread of all kinds should be broken open with the fingers, never cut.

Q. When accompanying a woman to the dinner table, should a man sit down at exactly the same time she does?

A. No. The man should draw out the chair for his partner, and not sit down until she has seated herself.

Plan colorful pageantry at Stadium 30th

"Christianity Through the Ages" will be depicted in colorful pageantry as the highlight of the Lutheran Hour rally to be held Sunday, September 30, in the Chicago Stadium.

While each narrated scene is projected in color on two oversize translucent screens, members of the cast of 400, appropriately costumed, will provide living portrayals illustrating the activity. Musical background will include special massed choral arrangements accompanied on the mighty stadium pipe organ.

Beginning with the ministry of Christ and His disciples, the spread of Christianity will be chronicled from the time of the Apostle Paul through the days of Martin Luther and the Reformation. Present day mission activities will be illustrated by such projects as the International Lutheran Hour broadcasts which proclaim the gospel over 1,034 stations each week.

THE FINALE, "Forward With Christ," will offer a gigantic tableau involving all members of the cast in a climactic crescendo in which the choirs of 5,000 voices will be augmented with congregational singing by the audience of 25,000.

As part of the presentation the new Lutheran Hour speaker, the Rev. Prof. Armin C. Oldsen, formerly of Addison, Ill., will deliver a 15-minute address on the pageant theme "Send Out Thy Truth."

This rally is sponsored by 250 Lutheran churches in Chicago and Northern Illinois. Members of the pageant cast and the choirs are drawn from these sponsoring congregations. The public is invited. There will be 20,000 free seats.

Leukemia target of new grant for research

A fight for the lives of thousands of children who die each year from leukemia, a cancer-like disease involving the organs which make blood, is being waged at the University of Illinois college of medicine in Chicago under a three-year grant from the Playtex Park Research Institute.

Although there are several forms of the disease, acute leukemia is a child-killer. Its cause is unknown but recently research has produced clues which give hope of solving the mysteries that surround its origin. There is no known specific treatment, the disease invariably being fatal, but encouraging strides have been made in the use of drug treatment that has succeeded in prolonging from 10 to 15 months the lives of its youthful victims. This progress is particularly significant because all medical research is a fight for time during which even more hopeful gains may be made.

THE OBJECTIVE of the investigations in leukemia is to try to find out if there is a chemical basis underlying the abnormal white blood cell development that is characteristic of the disease. After a lead is found in this direction, the information may be projected for the treatment of the disease, very much like that which has been done in the use of liver or liver extracts, folic acid and vitamin B12 for pernicious anemia.

The work is being based on recent evidence indicating that acute leukemia may be due to some chemical deviation from normal which permits white blood cells to develop in an abnormal manner. By finding out more about the chemical abnormalities of cell formation and growth, it is hoped that a more rational approach to treatment of the disease may be obtained.

National sales up

Sales for the four weeks ending September 8, of National Tea Co. amounted to $26,294,226 as compared with $23,169,965 for the corresponding period of 1950, an increase of 13.48%.

Sales for the year to date amounted to $246,671,783 as compared with $209,007,376 in 1950, an increase of 18.02%.

The number of stores in operation decreased from 634 in 1950 to 620 at September 8.

Motorists must renew caution now that school is on again

Every motorist must conduct his own safety campaign as children begin returning to school, advises Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

Drivers should keep an alert eye open for the yellow signs warning of an approaching school zone or school crossing. Drivers should also be on the lookout for safety patrol boys wearing the familiar white Sam Browne belt.

Yellow school signs and patrol boys should be an immediate warning to motorists to slow down and be prepared for an emergency stop. Young children especially in the five to nine age group are not familiar with the restrictions placed on them by traffic. After a summer spent largely within the confines of their own block, children are not aware of the dangers at intersections.

Motorists should also make turning motions at the lowest possible speeds at intersections used by school children in order to have cars under complete control at these danger points.

High Protein Feed

Grass silage is a high protein livestock feed which enables farmers to cut down on grain concentrates.

Wilson school news

The Wilson PTA meeting last Friday evening was well attended and the 4-H girls presented a splendid program. Visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Griefen, Mrs. Nell and Mrs. Stroebach, all of whom recently moved into this district. A tea will be given by the PTA at the home of Mrs. Carl Sundquist of Palatine rd. October 4, from 1 to 4 p. m. for all the new mothers in an effort to acquaint them with their neighbors and the PTA activities. Those wishing transportation call Mrs. Robert Huebner, A. H. 2856.

A baby girl weighing 6 lbs. was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Koelper of Palatine rd. September 17 at St. Joseph's hospital in Elgin. The Koelpers have two other children, Lee, 9 years old, and Ronald, 1 year old.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Lindstrom and son, Nels Jr., arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Schanmier Sunday morning from Melrose, Mass. Mr. Lindstrom is Mrs. Schanmier's brother, and the Lindstroms plan to settle in the Chicago area.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Esbaum of Wheatland, Iowa, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Klehm last week end. The Esbaums are cousins of Mrs. Klehm and were on their way home from a vacation in the East.

Two of the Wilson school children had birthdays recently. Susan Hanich was seven years old September 6, and Donna Gieske celebrated her ninth birthday September 15.

The fine weather for the past two weeks has been favorable for the building contractors, and the new addition to the school is progressing rapidly.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

It probably is not the thing to do in these days when anyone who does not speak with violent anti-communism in his voice is supected of fellow traveling, but I want to spend a few minutes remembering Louis Adamic. One upon a time, we were a tolerant sort of people who recognized that people's personalities varied in texture and color; now it seems that one is all-black or all-white morally, and all-red politically. There is no doubt that Louis Adamic was to the political left of the average citizen whom you or I meet on the street.

But when I hark back to "The Native's Return," or "My America," or "Nation of Nations," I don't remember that I read communistic propaganda in them. There may be some; it may be there, cleverly concealed. But that is not what I remember.

Instead I recall a sympathy with the imigrant who went home for a visit—and discovered more about his home country than he had ever known before. He may have bemoaned certain primitive and oppressive conditions in the land, but who would not have noticed that in Yugoslavia or any eastern European country in the '20's and '30's? Any American traveler would have felt that this country needed some tractors and some efficiency in its development. It's been years since I read it—although as I write this, I have gotten it off the shelf and may well be up all night with it. But my recollections are of a charming and politically insignificant journey to Carniola, a Yugoslavian province.

There was a similar approach in the other works I have mentioned. It seemed as though Adamic had discovered the manner in which he could write best, and that he was discovering America and the people who had made it. In "A Nation of Nations," he writes, in the introduction, that there is a great deal of history that has never been written, the human history of the people who have made America. He looked at the countries they had come from and some of the contributions they had made. They came from many lands, each of them a product of a culture, each of them with a dream in his heart. That culture and that dream had been built into the structure that is America. "E pluribus unum" had more meaning for me because of that work.

If you pick up the books he has written and read them, you might have difficulty in realizing that this is the same man who has been mentioned before many congressional committees. In view of what I have been saying, you may agree with me that it probably matters little that the manuscript of his book about Tito has disappeared. Fifteen or twenty years from now, we will have forgotten the manner of his death and these sidelights on his career. His estate will be common property, about a dozen books. And they will tell the story of a culture and a dream; the stories of the cultures and the dreams that produced a people in the western hemisphere.

Railroads spent nearly $610 million for iron and steel products in 1950, an increase of approximately $55½ million compared with such expendi[illegible] in 1949

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The fraudulent nature of belief in the reality of matter,—and the fact of the absolute supremacy of God, infinite Spirit, will be explained in next Sunday's services in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The title of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, September 23, is "MATTER."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (73: 26) "My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include the following:

"We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair . . . While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal" (II Cor. 4: 8,18).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Throughout the infinite cycles of eternal existence, Spirit and matter neither concur in man nor in the universe . . . Matter does not express Spirit. God is infinite omnipresent Spirit. If Spirit is all and is everywhere, what and where is matter? . . . The spiritual fact and the material belief of things are contradictions; but the spiritual is true, and therefore the material must be untrue" (pp. 319, 223, 289).

Light and Shadow Affect Decor

Light and shadow have a definite effect on the colors that are combined in a room's decoration. Because the wall area that surrounds windows is in shadow, it appears darker than the walls on which the light from the windows falls. Decorators sometimes have window walls painted in a lighter tint to compensate for this condition.

"I got the story on
and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil" says E. M. Markl, Sr.
Buick Dealer
Kansas City, Kansas

GARAGE MANAGER

"A mechanic dreams of working on a clean engine," says Lewis Stoddart, Garage Manager, Blackfoot, Idaho. "My dream came true when customers started using new Conoco Super. It cuts down trouble, but I'm a loyal booster of Conoco Super."

RANCHER

"I'm sure glad you converted me to the '50,000 Miles—No Wear' oil," writes Albert E. Lentz, Rancher, Delta, Colorado. "I really barreled my Mercury over the highway on a recent trip, and all I could hear was a motor purring like a kitten."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

"A mechanic dreams of working on a clean engine," says Lewis Stoddart, Garage Manager, Blackfoot, Idaho. "My dream came true when customers started using new Conoco Super. It cuts down trouble, but I'm a loyal booster of Conoco Super."

"I'm sure glad you converted me to the '50,000 Miles—No Wear' oil," writes Albert E. Lentz, Rancher, Delta, Colorado. "I really barreled my Mercury over the highway on a recent trip, and all I could hear was a motor purring like a kitten."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

Alcohol Check

The most common methods of determining a person's blood alcohol concentration is to chemically analyze his blood, urine, or breath. The amount of alcohol in the urine or breath directly parallels the amount of alcohol in the blood, many scientists believe, and therefore, from the amount of alcohol excreted through the kidneys or lungs, the concentration of alcohol in the circulating blood can be determined accurately.

Groundbreaking ceremony Sunday opens $250,000 Fund Drive for Libertyville Hospital

Officers of Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville, have announced a $250,000.00 building program and campaign for funds to begin on Sunday, September 23, 1951, with a groundbreaking ceremony, parade and concert.

The groundbreaking ceremony will take place at 2:30 p. m. at the hospital, attended by members of the Board of Trustees, hospital personnel, outstanding residents of the area and interested citizens of Lake county.

In launching the drive for $250,000 Condell Hospital's Board of Trustees has worked closely from studies made by experts and from statistics on population and public health. These clearly indicate the need for more than 100 hospital beds in the Libertyville area.

At the present time, Condell has 30. Population has soared in Lake county—from 110,000 in 1940 to 170,000 in 1950—and of this latter number, it is estimated that more than 50,000 reside west of the North Shore area, and conservative estimates indicate that more than 25,000 persons live inside a 15-mile radius of Libertyville or the area from which 80% of Condell's patients are admitted.

Therefore, in order to adequately serve the needs of its public, Condell Hospital must expand. During the drive for funds with which to achieve this greatly needed expansion every effort will be made to make clear the present situation.

The first step in the building program, is immediate construction of a one story and basement unit to be attached to the east wing of the present building. This first addition will provide room for 12 new surgical and medical beds on the ground floor, with the basement reserved for possible physical therapy equipment in the future. The balance of the program includes a very necessary modernization of the maternity department and the further addition of 35 beds to the south of the present building.

About Your Health

When some portion of the abdominal contents protrudes through a weak place in the abdominal wall, a hernia or rupture develops. Hernias also occur in the groin and may be mild or serious, the Educational Committee of the Illinois state medical society observes in a health talk.

Many factors are involved in the development of hernias. Primarily associated with a weak spot in the musculature of the body, particularly the mid-section, a protrusion will be marked with pain following undue strain. This is true of workmen and athletes. Sometimes they occur if the tissues fail to heal properly following an operation. A child may suffer a hernia during an attack of whooping cough, since the excessive coughing places additional strain on the abdominal wall.

HERNIAS are identified as reducible or irreducible. They are reducible when the bulging mass slips back into the abdominal cavity, either when the patient lies down or under gentle pressure. They are irreducible when the protrusion cannot be replaced, a condition brought on by inflammation in the abdominal cavity or sac, by adhesions or scars between the sac and its contents, by hardening and narrowing of the neck of the sac due to wearing trusses. Sudden accumulation of gas and fecal matter in the intestines may also be responsible.

Trusses have been valuable in the treatment of small ruptures, since they give support to the abdominal wall and relieve the strain on the weakened area, permitting it to heal. This is true, particularly, in young persons who may have a mild rupture. It is well to remember, however, that a hernia is more apt to increase in size, rather than to heal. As the continued pressure increases, the opening is enlarged and eventually, if uncontrolled, the mass will fill the opening. When this happens, the walls of the opening may create a pressure on the tissues inside that may result in serious complications.

If this condition occurs, the hernia is said to be strangulated. Usually characterized by abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, this type of hernia demands immediate surgical attention.

WHILE SURGERY is the most effective treatment in hernia, recurrences have been reported, usually because the tissues fail to heal normally, leaving the abdominal cavity weak and susceptible. This is particularly true of persons with excess weight. Lack of exercise is another cause for recurrence.

In uncomplicated hernias the injection treatment has been used to advantage. This procedure does not cause the hernia to disappear, as some people think, but rather causes the surrounding tissue to exude a substance which later solidifies into a heavy scar. Actually the scar forms a tough, fibrous membrane which closes the hernia opening, preventing further protrusions.

A PERSON who suffers a hernia should not listen to the advice of well-meaning friends. He should seek competent medical advice immediately to determine the degree of involvment. An uncontrolled hernia can mean an unpleasant, painful death. Individual weakness and the extent of damage caused by the protrusion are two chief considerations for the physician in selecting the treatment and wise is the person who submits to his choice.

Cancer Discovery

The discovery of a new series of chemicals which retard the growth of cancer in animals has been reported by biochemists in the University of California School of Medicine, who are conducting a comprehensive program of testing potential cancer-fighting compounds.

Anti-Fogging Liquid

Wilkins Co., Inc., Cortland 21, N.Y., has introduced what is described as a greatly improved liquid coating to prevent goggles and glasses from fogging and steaming. The liquid, called "Fog-Free," contains silicone and when tested on the glasses of ice-cream plant employees who moved from humid heat to freezing cold is said to have lasted a whole day with one application.

Park Heating asks a 'repeat' on service calls

Park Heating and Electric, formerly of 33 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, asked Paddock Publications to aid them in conveying a message to approximately 20 persons who have engaged them to do work on their heating systems.

In moving their office to Prospect Heights, important service records were lost, and they now have no idea of where they are supposed to make a number of service calls. Persons who are expecting Park Heating to do work for them should call the office, Arlington Heights 3232, and they will make the call as soon as possible.

NEW NEIGHBORS .... IN THE CITY OF GOOD NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Huettig

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Huettig and daughter, Carol, who have been residents of 914 N. Princeton ave., Arlington Hts., for only three weeks, already have their home and yard in spic and span condition.

Little 14 month old Carol, who just had her first professional haircut, likes to follow her mother all around the house. She also amuses herself playing with her black and white toy kitty.

Mrs. Huettig, who worked in Arlington Heights about five years ago, is originally from Park Ridge. The family are former residents of Edison Park, Mr. Huettig's home town.

Mr. Huettig, assistant superintendent of Atlas Box Makers in Chicago, enjoys fishing, bowling and baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Auburn Jr.

The Walter Auburns were busy working in their yard when this reporter came to interview them. The Auburns, who have been living at 1005 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights, for the last two weeks, moved here from Chicago because they have always liked the suburbs.

Right now they are kept busy getting settled in their new home, but in their spare time both enjoy ice-skating.

Mr. Auburn is in the advertising business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rosier

The new residents of 1111 N. Patton ave. in Sherwood came to Chicago two weeks ago from Toronto, Canada. Mr. Rosier, who is an engineer with the U. S. Gypsum Co., was transferred to Chicago.

The Rosiers have three children: Wendy, who is 4 years old; Linda, 2½, and Ross, 19 months old.

Her children take up most of Mrs. Rosier's time, but she does like to knit. She was a nurse before her marriage.

Mr. Rosier likes to fish.

Unstick Drawers

If the drawers in your dresser stick in damp weather, cover the inside surfaces with a thin coat of fresh shellac on a dry day. Unfinished wood swells in damp weather and causes the drawers to stick. The shellac seals the surfaces and prevents sticking.

Alcohol Check

The most common methods of determining a person's blood alcohol concentration is to chemically analyze his blood, urine, or breath. The amount of alcohol in the urine or breath directly parallels the amount of alcohol in the blood, many scientists believe, and therefore, from the amount of alcohol excreted through the kidneys or lungs, the concentration of alcohol in the circulating blood can be determined accurately.

Groundbreaking ceremony Sunday opens $250,000 Fund Drive for Libertyville Hospital

Officers of Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville, have announced a $250,000.00 building program and campaign for funds to begin on Sunday, September 23, 1951, with a groundbreaking ceremony, parade and concert.

The groundbreaking ceremony will take place at 2:30 p. m. at the hospital, attended by members of the Board of Trustees, hospital personnel, outstanding residents of the area and interested citizens of Lake county.

In launching the drive for $250,000 Condell Hospital's Board of Trustees has worked closely from studies made by experts and from statistics on population and public health. These clearly indicate the need for more than 100 hospital beds in the Libertyville area.

At the present time, Condell has 30. Population has soared in Lake county—from 110,000 in 1940 to 170,000 in 1950—and of this latter number, it is estimated that more than 50,000 reside west of the North Shore area, and conservative estimates indicate that more than 25,000 persons live inside a 15-mile radius of Libertyville or the area from which 80% of Condell's patients are admitted.

Therefore, in order to adequately serve the needs of its public, Condell Hospital must expand. During the drive for funds with which to achieve this greatly needed expansion every effort will be made to make clear the present situation.

The first step in the building program, is immediate construction of a one story and basement unit to be attached to the east wing of the present building. This first addition will provide room for 12 new surgical and medical beds on the ground floor, with the basement reserved for possible physical therapy equipment in the future. The balance of the program includes a very necessary modernization of the maternity department and the further addition of 35 beds to the south of the present building.

About Your Health

When some portion of the abdominal contents protrudes through a weak place in the abdominal wall, a hernia or rupture develops. Hernias also occur in the groin and may be mild or serious, the Educational Committee of the Illinois state medical society observes in a health talk.

Many factors are involved in the development of hernias. Primarily associated with a weak spot in the musculature of the body, particularly the mid-section, a protrusion will be marked with pain following undue strain. This is true of workmen and athletes. Sometimes they occur if the tissues fail to heal properly following an operation. A child may suffer a hernia during an attack of whooping cough, since the excessive coughing places additional strain on the abdominal wall.

HERNIAS are identified as reducible or irreducible. They are reducible when the bulging mass slips back into the abdominal cavity, either when the patient lies down or under gentle pressure. They are irreducible when the protrusion cannot be replaced, a condition brought on by inflammation in the abdominal cavity or sac, by adhesions or scars between the sac and its contents, by hardening and narrowing of the neck of the sac due to wearing trusses. Sudden accumulation of gas and fecal matter in the intestines may also be responsible.

Trusses have been valuable in the treatment of small ruptures, since they give support to the abdominal wall and relieve the strain on the weakened area, permitting it to heal. This is true, particularly, in young persons who may have a mild rupture. It is well to remember, however, that a hernia is more apt to increase in size, rather than to heal. As the continued pressure increases, the opening is enlarged and eventually, if uncontrolled, the mass will fill the opening. When this happens, the walls of the opening may create a pressure on the tissues inside that may result in serious complications.

If this condition occurs, the hernia is said to be strangulated. Usually characterized by abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, this type of hernia demands immediate surgical attention.

WHILE SURGERY is the most effective treatment in hernia, recurrences have been reported, usually because the tissues fail to heal normally, leaving the abdominal cavity weak and susceptible. This is particularly true of persons with excess weight. Lack of exercise is another cause for recurrence.

In uncomplicated hernias the injection treatment has been used to advantage. This procedure does not cause the hernia to disappear, as some people think, but rather causes the surrounding tissue to exude a substance which later solidifies into a heavy scar. Actually the scar forms a tough, fibrous membrane which closes the hernia opening, preventing further protrusions.

A PERSON who suffers a hernia should not listen to the advice of well-meaning friends. He should seek competent medical advice immediately to determine the degree of involvement. An uncontrolled hernia can mean an unpleasant, painful death. Individual weakness and the extent of damage caused by the protrusion are two chief considerations for the physician in selecting the treatment and wise is the person who submits to his choice.

Cancer Discovery

The discovery of a new series of chemicals which retard the growth of cancer in animals has been reported by biochemists in the University of California School of Medicine, who are conducting a comprehensive program of testing potential cancer-fighting compounds.

Anti-Fogging Liquid

Wilkins Co., Inc., Cortland 21, N.Y., has introduced what is described as a greatly improved liquid coating to prevent goggles and glasses from fogging and steaming. The liquid, called "Fog-Free," contains silicone and when tested on the glasses of ice-cream plant employees who moved from humid heat to freezing cold is said to have lasted a whole day with one application.

Park Heating asks a 'repeat' on service calls

Park Heating and Electric, formerly of 33 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, asked Paddock Publications to aid them in conveying a message to approximately 20 persons who have engaged them to do work on their heating systems.

In moving their office to Prospect Heights, important service records were lost, and they now have no idea of where they are supposed to make a number of service calls. Persons who are expecting Park Heating to do work for them should call the office, Arlington Heights 3232, and they will make the call as soon as possible.

NEW NEIGHBORS .... IN THE CITY OF GOOD NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Huettig

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Huettig and daughter, Carol, who have been residents of 914 N. Princeton ave., Arlington Hts., for only three weeks, already have their home and yard in spic and span condition.

Little 14 month old Carol, who just had her first professional haircut, likes to follow her mother all around the house. She also amuses herself playing with her black and white toy kitty.

Mrs. Huettig, who worked in Arlington Heights about five years ago, is originally from Park Ridge. The family are former residents of Edison Park, Mr. Huettig's home town.

Mr. Huettig, assistant superintendent of Atlas Box Makers in Chicago, enjoys fishing, bowling and baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Auburn Jr.

The Walter Auburns were busy working in their yard when this reporter came to interview them. The Auburns, who have been living at 1005 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights, for the last two weeks, moved here from Chicago because they have always liked the suburbs.

Right now they are kept busy getting settled in their new home, but in their spare time both enjoy ice-skating.

Mr. Auburn is in the advertising business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rosier

The new residents of 1111 N. Patton ave. in Sherwood came to Chicago two weeks ago from Toronto, Canada. Mr. Rosier, who is an engineer with the U. S. Gypsum Co., was transferred to Chicago.

The Rosiers have three children: Wendy, who is 4 years old; Linda, 2½, and Ross, 19 months old.

Her children take up most of Mrs. Rosier's time, but she does like to knit. She was a nurse before her marriage.

Mr. Rosier likes to fish.

Unstick Drawers

If the drawers in your dresser stick in damp weather, covor the inside surfaces with a thin coat of fresh shellac on a dry day. Unfinished wood swells in damp weather and causes the drawers to stick. The shellac seals the surfaces and prevents sticking.

Diary tells experiences of Civil War soldier in capture of Atlanta, Sherman's March to the Sea

Among the family heirlooms of the Lester Bennett family, 931 South Vail, Arlington Heights, is the diary of Alfred Lamb who was with Gen. Sherman outside the city of Atlanta, Georgia, in the fall of 1864 and accompanied him to the sea. This is the first installment.

ON PICKET SIX MILES EAST OF ATLANTA

Sunday, July 24, 1864

Yesterday, after the great battle at Smyrna, Ga., our regiment reoccupied the town and the battle ground.

Company F was advanced as near the enemy as possible and this morning finds us at our post after a cold and sleepless night.

We have lost all our blankets and are too exposed for comfort.

The loss of a little personal comfort is nothing, but we feel the loss of our keepsakes that we had carried for months, such as our pocket bibles, our pictures of freinds at home and our needles and thread.

All were taken with our knapsacks by the rebels.

Today I volunteered to help bury the dead and such a day's work I never have witnessed before. Two days after a battle in the hot summer sun of Georgia and the handling of lifeless flesh could not be endured except from a sense of duty.

The putrid bodies of my dear comrades are lying all over the field, not as they fell by the rebel bullets. Most of them were ruthlessly plundered of all their valuables and their blue uniforms stripped from them.

We hurried over the grounds with our shovels. As we were in sight of the enemy, all we could do was to heap a few shovels of earth over their swollen and almost unrecognizable bodies.

God has permited them to be slain for a principle greater than the life of any man. Although no tear of affection kisses the uncoffined forms, yet far away there will be hearts wrung in agony at the sadness of the fate of the soldier boys as reported to his loved ones at home.

IN THE FRONT LINES EAST OF ATLANTA

Sunday, July 31, 1864

Since last Sunday there has been a week of battle. No hour has passed without some soldier being hurried into eternity. Within half a mile from us are two graves containing 450 dead rebels who were killed when they attacked our invincible "Army of the Tennessee" on Friday.

We are not in open engagement today but the bullets and shells are whizzing around and among us quite freely. No services today.

Sunday, August 7, 1864

We are now closely besieging the city of Atlanta. We can see part of the town and its strong fortifications are in view. A strong skirmish party is in the advance every day and night and the timber intervening between the works is being cleared away to make clear range for our artillery.

We received a mail and we forgot that we are under rapid fire from the enemy as we read the anxious thoughts from the loved ones at home. "God have mercy on them and on us too," is the prayer of the soldier as he covers his musket with his body and wraps his blanket around him at night.

Alfred Lamp, member of Company F of the 25th regiment of Wisconsin infantry was appointed a first sergeant August 15, 1864. While his diary, which he started July 24, does not mention any acts of heroism or deeds on his part that brought about his advancement to a first sergeancy, his diary gives more than a hint as to the fierce fighting in which Lamb and his comrades were engaged. He had no doubt won his stripes.

First installation of the diary covers the period from July 24, 1864, to September 4 of that year, during which time Atlanta was taken.

LAMB GIVES full details in his diary of the fall of that city. He was not writing a feature story for newspaper publication and probably never dreamed that what he was writing, while in the trenches, would reach the printed page 88 years later.

Accompanying the diary is an account of measures taken by Gen. Sherman to destroy parts of Atlanta to remove its war potential. This story will be covered in the third installment.

Accompanying the diary, which has been loaned to Paddock Publications, is a tag attached to the dried skin of an apple that is 80 years old. The tag reads, "A large apple and a good keeper. Grown in 1870. A. H. Lamp."

INCLUDED in the box containing the diary is the original sergeant's commission, plus a short sketch of Joseph K. Lamb, a soldier of the War of 1812, the grandfather of the Civil War soldier.

Next week's installment will tell about Lamb's furlough after two years' army service. Two weeks were consumed in travel from Atlanta to LaCrosse, Wis., part of which time in open freight cars or on top of box cars. Delay was caused by guerrilla warfare.

Returning to Atlanta the diary tells of the start on Nov. 15 of Sherman's march to the sea.

IN THE TRENCHES OF THE DOOMED CITY

Sunday, August 14, 1864

Why do the rebels keep us at bay and refuse our advances? Steadily we close the lines and every week brings us nearer the possession of the city. There is no general fighting now but deadly missiles are constantly flying over us and many a dutiful soldier is struck down.

We are in the midst of earnest work advancing our lines, preparing our meals and policing the force we are much exposed.

IN THE TRENCHES

Sunday, August 21, 1864

Hail Sabbath day! It is a beautiful clear morning and all is quiet along the line except the nearby whizzing bullets which come over, reaching closely for victims.

We move about along the lines as we get used to them but are always shrinking and dodging as they pass by.

At sundown our beloved chaplain preached to us as we were seated around him on the ground. His text was "Thou God Seest Me." He preached very earnestly and amid the surrounding scenes it was very impressive to all. Before the conclusion the thundering bomb shells came thundering over us and we were warned to be ready.

At dark every man was close in fortification with his musket ready for action for fierce cannonading suggests an assault. No enemy advanced and many went to sleep while the hissing and screeching parrot shells were bursting among us.

A comrade seated by my side was struck and the blood splattered over me as his head fell heavily into my lap. I raised him up and with pain and groans he revived. I helped him to the rear, aided by the light of bursting shells.

All that deadful night we lay in the trenches lest an assault might be made on our line. There is very little danger of being surprised however, for there is a strong picket line on our front and the sharpshooters are keen.

ON THE MARCH TOWARD JONESBORO, GEORGIA

Sunday, August 28, 1864

All of Sherman's army fell back secretly from Atlanta at night, two miles. One of General Sherman's strategies is being carried out now.

The whole line was left vacant around Atlanta and our immense army fell to the south, most boldly and silently while the enemy's cannon is thundering after us. The 20th corps is being left to the north to gain possession of the city, if possible.

Today finds us moving along Montgomery railroad through a fertile section of the country not before visited by the army. We find plenty of forage for men and animals. How different the scenes from the blighted desolate battlefields, whose grounds are stenched with human gore and the carcasses of fallen animals and all the debris of destroying armies who have contested every yard of ground by fierce conflict.

Here we can lie down in green pastures and by the still water brooks. It is a relief to be able to move about without being exposed to the fire of the enemy.

We hear only the distant sound of cannon.

NEAR JONESBORO

Sunday, Sept. 4, 1864

A great battle has been fought since last Sabbath. The great central point of the Confederacy is ours. Atlanta has fallen and is now occupied by our troops. We have received congratulatory orders from General Sherman. The army is in exuberant spirits. Many hundreds of our comrades, however, who were with us one week ago are sleeping in the bloody fields of Jonesboro. Many noble forms were taken to hospitals torn, shattered and maimed for life. A few have been hurried away by the rebels to the dreaded Anderson prison.

We had church services in the field and preaching by the chaplain of the 43rd Ohio regiment. He gave us a good sermon and a peculiar emphasis was made of our recent victories. God has singly blessed us and given us a great victory.

While we lament the beloved ones who have fallen and know that many more must be given up, we look forward to greater victories and a speedy overthrow of the rebellion. We trust in the God of Daniel.

I am truly thankful to my Heavenly Father for the preservation of life and health.

Lost twins get an extra period of summer outing

Excited counselors at Camp Reinberg instituted an immediate search for the two eight-year-old boys.

Their disappearance was noted when officials at the camp began counting the heads of the youthful boys and girls (age 8 to 13) who were slated to be placed aboard a bus for their return to Chicago and Cook county homes.

The search continued for 30 minutes but no trace could be found of the lost campers. The bus, already loaded, was sent off and the search continued.

The counselor's didn't have to look long after the bus departed. The tow-headed twins turned up immediately afterward.

The youths hastily explained that they had been hiding in a swamp. They just didn't want to go home after spending the 12 days at Camp Reinberg.

Camp officials allowed the youths to stay for another camp period.

Dorothea Chant, executive director of Camp Reinberg, located on Quintens rd., near Palatine near Deer Grove forest preserve, related the story of the twins as she busied herself compiling records of the sixth camping season at the one-time welfare camp.

Six hundred and fifty boys and girls from the Chicago and Cook county area, most of them from homes that because of economical or social difficulties aren't the bst places in the world, were afforded 12-day vacations at the camp. The bill is footed by 15 welfare and church organizations in Cook county.

The camp has three living units, each consisting of four children's cabins, a unit house and a unit leader's cabin. Each cabin can accommodate eight children and the unit house has facilities for indoor meetings and activities.

The camp is staffed by 18 regular personnel who are supplemented by counselors of the participating groups.

And all of the counselors are kept busy as the youths learn wooderaft, participate in games, sing, and take overnight camping trips.

Camp Reinberg, located on land owned by the county, is operated by the participating organizations on a non-profit basis, however, it may in the future get funds from the Community Chest. The camp has been operating on a $27,000 budget.

Clifford Gallant

In a letter to the high school Gallant said he is now known as an assistant "professor de lycee." His letter in part reads:

"The teacher in France holds a position of high honor and prestige, and believe me, there is scarcely any teacher-pupil relationships — no fraternization. The French are about 100 years retarded where method is concerned — 'individual differences' and 'educational psychology' are terms bandied about by American pedagogues, they think. I shall have fun this year teaching my classes 'a la americaine' for I believe in our techniques and the results I can obtain with them."

Gallant left for France this summer with a group of other teachers, and spent five weeks studying in the Ecole Normale d' Instituteurs in Paris. Following is the first part of two which will be run in Paddock Publications, telling the experiences of a stranger in Paris.

"HISTORY has done more than strengthen geographical outlines. A road map of France shows at a glance the position Paris holds and the role she plays in the country's life; all the nation's strength flows toward this nerve center, which stimulates all the country's driving forces.

"Every large city is really a federation of small towns closely linked together. Each district preserves a local, one might almost say provincial, life, to a certain extent, and this was even more apparent in the days when it took half a day to make a trip from Auteuil, where I am now residing, to the Buttes-Chaumon. Nowadays, Paris can be crossed in half an hour at its widest point. Auteuil, known as one of the 'chic quarters' of Paris, is also the seat of the Ecole Normale d'Instituteurs where our group spent five weeks of the summer in study. This normal school happens to be one where the young men attend, for there are two; co-education in France and much of Europe exists in its real form only in the universities.

"A considerable number of volumes have been written on life and culture in Paris. Tourist guide books have been prepared to spare the visitor to this charming city the difficulties experienced when he finds himself eager and well prepared both physically and financially to 'see and do Paris' in a relatively short period of time. There is in truth much to see in a city as historic and cultural as Paris, even in summer.

"PARISIAN LIFE begins to slow down as summer draws near however; except in the Latin Quarter where it preludes a period of feverish agitation prior to the long vacation. This is the time when thousands of students are being examined and tested by hundreds of professors. Throughout July the corridors of the Sorbonne resemble station waiting-rooms at the peak of the holiday rush. But the old university halls are weighed down with worry that travelers overlook.

"In speaking of schools and education, I am reminded of the French student on a scholarship in the United States who mentioned in a letter to her mother back in Paris that she was somewhat taken aback to learn that an institution in the states (she found them numerous) is often an establishment for the mentally ill. Here in Paris one passes in the course of a day many such edifices, but they are rather schools and private academies. Of course, the question of language enters into the young lady's experience, for an institute in the States can also be an educational institution.

"WHERE CUSTOMS are concerned taking meals in restaurants and in the French home requires close observation if the visitor is to be taken for a Frenchman and not a tourist. An American is easily detected, for example, by his manipulation of knife and fork. When cutting meat or vegetables the native proceeds to eat with fork in left hand and knife in right because he often finds it necessary to heap the vegetable on the back of the fork with his knife, which usually stays in his right hand. I might add, the Frenchman is adept in the uses of conventional cutlery that he can peel a peach or a pear, as the French usually do, with these two instruments alone.

"At an elegant dinner party I attended, served by a friend of the tumbled higher aristocracy, the servant placed before each guest a fair sized, yet dainty bowl filled with water. Having just finished the entree, roast chicken, I began to place my fingers gently into the warm water only to withdraw them briskly when I observed the guest next to me reach for a handful of cherries and plunge them into his bowl. My practical French vocabulary immediately increased by one word when, by experience, I learned that the vesicle placed before me was not intended to be used as a 'rince doigts.

Weekly recipe

During the next few months, there will be many occasions for you to serve special treats for your children and their friends Their eyes will open wide, and there will be many delighted "ohs" and "ahs" if you give them Taffy Apples. Here is an easy way to prepare them.

Taffy Apples

9 apples
9 wooden skewers
1½ cups brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter

Method: Melt three-quarter cup of the granulated sugar over a direct flame. Add the boiling water and cook to a smooth syrup. In a separate pan cook the cream with remaining sugar and butter to the soft ball stage (235 degrees). Combine the two syrups and cook until drops of syrup will form a hard ball in cold water—or to a temperature of 250 degrees. Cool the syrup to lukewarm. Place apples or skewers and twirl them in the caramel syrup. Dip them in ice water immediately to harden the caramel.

Folding Step in Closet

INSTEAD of carrying a chair or stool into a closet to reach a high shelf, install a folding step like the one illustrated. It is made in three parts. One end is attached to the baseboard with screws or nails. Note that this end is hinged to the tread portion of the step so that the device can be folded against the wall and held with a hook when not in use. (Illus., courtesy Popular Mechanics.)

Catholic school

I am writing to thank you for the attention you gave to our plans for a new school and hall at St. Walter's parish. Our own parishioners who read your paper were delighted, and many non-Catholics read the article and commented to me on what a valuable addition this would make to the community.

Your weekly reports on the progress of our building fund campaign were a great factor in its success. We are close to our goal of $30,000.00, and expect to reach it shortly. Many of your readers were surprised and pleased to learn how much our Catholic schools are saving the community and all tax-payers.

WANT AD BARGAIN—$1.00

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

For 25 years I have watched the children on my route grow up and become acquainted with their parents. It has always been of great interest to me, having a son of my own to raise, to observe the different methods used by parents in training their children, and their results.

There are as many methods and variations as there are parents. Some parents are tyrants who insist upon obedience to the finest detail. Others are lenient to extremes. Still others, by examples of high living and, in some cases, downright sinfulness, have developed a similar habit pattern in their children. The differences are legion, and the results vary, but generally, lazy parents beget lazy children, overly religious parents rear children who are either religious fanatics or outright agnostics, and so on.

But there is one method of rearing children which seems to develop the highest abilities, the greatest mentality, the most stable, well balanced characters and personalities.

It seems, in my observations, that the parent who is careful or sees that his children have a thorough knowledge of the principles of Christ's teachings without being in any manner fanatic; who teaches the child to consider every angle of every problem which arises, and to plan ahead for situations which he sees shaping up and decides in the light of his religious, moral and logical training what is the best course to pursue if such situations develop; who teaches him to subject emotion to principle and logic; who leads him to read extensively in every field and weigh what he has read by one writer against what other writers say on the same subject, reaching his decision in the light of his on knowledge and principles; to hold fast to his principles as long as he believes them to be right, yet never fear to change when he believes he has found improved, more logical or better principles to guide him in his professional, religious, social, or any other part of his life; and only to impose his authority after he finds his child will not respond correctly to reason or listen to the sense of his own knowledge and religious principles. Authority, imposed continuously and tyrannically, soon looses respect, and gains only resentful, sullen obedience, often breeding a hatred that forces a parent and his children farther apart.

It has been my observation that where this latter method of instruction is used, children are better adjusted, more self reliant, and more capable of handling their family, business or moral problems when they mature.

A sad tragedy occurred near Wauconda when Samuel John Lenzen, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lenzen, drowned in a stock watering tank on the family farm on the Volo-Gilmer road known as the old Sinnott farm.

The boy had been missing about thirty minutes when his body was found in the tank. The Lenzens, without telephone service, rushed the child to Wauconda and summoned a physician and inhalator squad of the local fire department. In spite of every possible effort to revive him, the lad was pronounced dead about an hour later.

The boy had apparently fallen into the concrete tank while playing near it with some pieces of lumber. The boards had no doubt aided the youngster in climbing to the top of the tank, from where he fell. The outside of the tank was about as high as the lad's chin.

'Foxy' not a neckpiece but a Des Plaines pet

"Foxy" the educated fox will never be a neckpiece if Lillian and brother Bud Locke of Des Plaines have anything to say about it. Four and a half months ago "Foxy," a gray fox, was caught in the Tennessee hills and sent to the Lockes as a gift. They raised it through the puppy stage and today "Foxy" sits up and asks for food, is housebroken, plays with the two dogs owned by the Lockes, and acts like a gentleman when strolling on a leash.

The uncommon pet is kept in a cage at the Sinclair Service Station, Oakton and River, owned and operated by Bud. The kids in the neighborhood consider "Foxy" as one of the gang. He plays like a dog, likes to be petted and has a most genial disposition. For information's sake, this is most unusual for a wild animal.

Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money

Diary tells experiences of Civil War soldier in capture of Atlanta, Sherman's March to the Sea

Among the family heirlooms of the Lester Bennett family, 931 South Vail, Arlington Heights, is the diary of Alfred Lamb who was with Gen. Sherman outside the city of Atlanta, Georgia, in the fall of 1864 and accompanied him to the sea. This is the first installment.

ON PICKET SIX MILES EAST OF ATLANTA

Sunday, July 24, 1864

Yesterday, after the great battle at Smyrna, Ga., our regiment reoccupied the town and the battle ground.

Company F was advanced as near the enemy as possible and this morning finds us at our post after a cold and sleepless night.

We have lost all our blankets and are too exposed for comfort.

The loss of a little personal comfort is nothing, but we feel the loss of our keepsakes that we had carried for months, such as our pocket bibles, our pictures of freinds at home and our needles and thread.

All were taken with our knapsacks by the rebels.

Today I volunteered to help bury the dead and such a day's work I never have witnessed before. Two days after a battle in the hot summer sun of Georgia and the handling of lifeless flesh could not be endured except from a sense of duty.

The putrid bodies of my dear comrades are lying all over the field, not as they fell by the rebel bullets. Most of them were ruthlessly plundered of all their valuables and their blue uniforms stripped from them.

We hurried over the grounds with our shovels. As we were in sight of the enemy, all we could do was to heap a few shovels of earth over their swollen and almost unrecognizable bodies.

God has permited them to be slain for a principle greater than the life of any man. Although no tear of affection kisses the uncoffined forms, yet far away there will be hearts wrung in agony at the sadness of the fate of the soldier boys as reported to his loved ones at home.

IN THE FRONT LINES EAST OF ATLANTA

Sunday, July 31, 1864

Since last Sunday there has been a week of battle. No hour has passed without some soldier being hurried into eternity. Within half a mile from us are two graves containing 450 dead rebels who were killed when they attacked our invincible "Army of the Tennessee" on Friday.

We are not in open engagement today but the bullets and shells are whizzing around and among us quite freely. No services today.

Sunday, August 7, 1864

We are now closely besieging the city of Atlanta. We can see part of the town and its strong fortifications are in view. A strong skirmish party is in the advance every day and night and the timber intervening between the works is being cleared away to make clear range for our artillery.

We received a mail and we forgot that we are under rapid fire from the enemy as we read the anxious thoughts from the loved ones at home. "God have mercy on them and on us too," is the prayer of the soldier as he covers his musket with his body and wraps his blanket around him at night.

Alfred Lamp, member of Company F of the 25th regiment of Wisconsin infantry was appointed a first sergeant August 15, 1864. While his diary, which he started July 24, does not mention any acts of heroism or deeds on his part that brought about his advancement to a first sergeancy, his diary gives more than a hint as to the fierce fighting in which Lamb and his comrades were engaged. He had no doubt won his stripes.

First installation of the diary covers the period from July 24, 1864, to September 4 of that year, during which time Atlanta was taken.

LAMB GIVES full details in his diary of the fall of that city. He was not writing a feature story for newspaper publication and probably never dreamed that what he was writing, while in the trenches, would reach the printed page 88 years later.

Accompanying the diary is an account of measures taken by Gen. Sherman to destroy parts of Atlanta to remove its war potential. This story will be covered in the third installment.

Accompanying the diary, which has been loaned to Paddock Publications, is a tag attached to the dried skin of an apple that is 80 years old. The tag reads, "A large apple and a good keeper. Grown in 1870. A. H. Lamp."

INCLUDED in the box containing the diary is the original sergeant's commission, plus a short sketch of Joseph K. Lamb, a soldier of the War of 1812, the grandfather of the Civil War soldier.

Next week's installment will tell about Lamb's furlough after two years' army service. Two weeks were consumed in travel from Atlanta to LaCrosse, Wis., part of which time in open freight cars or on top of box cars. Delay was caused by guerrilla warfare.

Returning to Atlanta the diary tells of the start on Nov. 15 of Sherman's march to the sea.

IN THE TRENCHES OF THE DOOMED CITY

Sunday, August 14, 1864

Why do the rebels keep us at bay and refuse our advances? Steadily we close the lines and every week brings us nearer the possession of the city. There is no general fighting now but deadly missiles are constantly flying over us and many a dutiful soldier is struck down.

We are in the midst of earnest work advancing our lines, preparing our meals and policing the force we are much exposed.

IN THE TRENCHES

Sunday, August 21, 1864

Hail Sabbath day! It is a beautiful clear morning and all is quiet along the line except the nearby whizzing bullets which come over, reaching closely for victims.

We move about along the lines as we get used to them but are always shrinking and dodging as they pass by.

At sundown our beloved chaplain preached to us as we were seated around him on the ground. His text was "Thou God Seest Me." He preached very earnestly and amid the surrounding scenes it was very impressive to all. Before the conclusion the thundering bomb shells came thundering over us and we were warned to be ready.

At dark every man was close in fortification with his musket ready for action for fierce cannonading suggests an assault. No enemy advanced and many went to sleep while the hissing and screeching parrot shells were bursting among us.

A comrade seated by my side was struck and the blood splattered over me as his head fell heavily into my lap. I raised him up and with pain and groans he revived. I helped him to the rear, aided by the light of bursting shells.

All that deadful night we lay in the trenches lest an assault might be made on our line. There is very little danger of being surprised however, for there is a strong picket line on our front and the sharpshooters are keen.

ON THE MARCH TOWARD JONESBORO, GEORGIA

Sunday, August 28, 1864

All of Sherman's army fell back secretly from Atlanta at night, two miles. One of General Sherman's strategies is being carried out now.

The whole line was left vacant around Atlanta and our immense army fell to the south, most boldly and silently while the enemy's cannon is thundering after us. The 20th corps is being left to the north to gain possession of the city, if possible.

Today finds us moving along Montgomery railroad through a fertile section of the country not before visited by the army. We find plenty of forage for men and animals. How different the scenes from the blighted desolate battlefields, whose grounds are stenched with human gore and the carcasses of fallen animals and all the debris of destroying armies who have contested every yard of ground by fierce conflict.

Here we can lie down in green pastures and by the still water brooks. It is a relief to be able to move about without being exposed to the fire of the enemy.

We hear only the distant sound of cannon.

NEAR JONESBORO

Sunday, Sept. 4, 1864

A great battle has been fought since last Sabbath. The great central point of the Confederacy is ours. Atlanta has fallen and is now occupied by our troops. We have received congratulatory orders from General Sherman. The army is in exuberant spirits. Many hundreds of our comrades, however, who were with us one week ago are sleeping in the bloody fields of Jonesboro. Many noble forms were taken to hospitals torn, shattered and maimed for life. A few have been hurried away by the rebels to the dreaded Anderson prison.

We had church services in the field and preaching by the chaplain of the 43rd Ohio regiment. He gave us a good sermon and a peculiar emphasis was made of our recent victories. God has singly blessed us and given us a great victory.

While we lament the beloved ones who have fallen and know that many more must be given up, we look forward to greater victories and a speedy overthrow of the rebellion. We trust in the God of Daniel.

I am truly thankful to my Heavenly Father for the preservation of life and health.

Lost twins get an extra period of summer outing

The twins are lost!

Excited counselors at Camp Reinberg instituted an immediate search for the two eight-year-old boys.

Their disappearance was noted when officials at the camp began counting the heads of the youthful boys and girls (age 8 to 13) who were slated to be placed aboard a bus for their return to Chicago and Cook county homes.

The search continued for 30 minutes but no trace could be found of the lost campers. The bus, already loaded, was sent off and the search continued.

The counselor's didn't have to look long after the bus departed. The tow-headed twins turned up immediately afterward.

The youths hastily explained that they had been hiding in a swamp. They just didn't want to go home after spending the 12 days at Camp Reinberg.

Camp officials allowed the youths to stay for another camp period.

Dorothea Chant, executive director of Camp Reinberg, located on Quintens rd., near Palatine near Deer Grove forest preserve, related the story of the twins as she busied herself compiling records of the sixth camping season at the one-time welfare camp.

Six hundred and fifty boys and girls from the Chicago and Cook county area, most of them from homes that because of economical or social difficulties aren't the bst places in the world, were afforded 12-day vacations at the camp. The bill is footed by 15 welfare and church organizations in Cook county.

The children romp over 75 acres of the camp; have access to the adjacent 1100 acres of the forest preserve and visit nearby farms.

The camp has three living units, each consisting of four children's cabins, a unit house and a unit leader's cabin. Each cabin can accommodate eight children and the unit house has facilities for indoor meetings and activities.

Included among the camp's 40 buildings are in addition to the living units, a general dining half, an assembly hall, workshops, cookhouses and storerooms.

The camp is staffed by 18 regular personnel who are supplemented by counselors of the participating groups.

And all of the counselors are kept busy as the youths learn wooderaft, participate in games, sing, and take overnight camping trips.

Camp Reinberg, located on land owned by the county, is operated by the participating organizations on a non-profit basis, however, it may in the future get funds from the Community Chest. The camp has been operating on a $27,000 budget.

Heights high school teacher tells how it feels to be a stranger in Paris

Clifford Gallant

Clifford J. Gallant, instructor of French, Spanish and German at Arlington Heights township high school, is on a year's leave of absence in order that he may teach advanced English at a junior college for boys, Lycee Gambetta at Cahors, which is approximately 450 miles from Paris, France.

In a letter to the high school Gallant said he is now known as an assistant "professor de lycee." His letter in part reads:

"The teacher in France holds a position of high honor and prestige, and believe me, there is scarcely any teacher-pupil relationships — no fraternization. The French are about 100 years retarded where method is concerned — 'individual differences' and 'educational psychology' are terms bandied about by American pedagogues, they think. I shall have fun this year teaching my classes 'a la americaine' for I believe in our techniques and the results I can obtain with them."

Gallant left for France this summer with a group of other teachers, and spent five weeks studying in the Ecole Normale d' Instituteurs in Paris. Following is the first part of two which will be run in Paddock Publications, telling the experiences of a stranger in Paris.

"HISTORY has done more than strengthen geographical outlines. A road map of France shows at a glance the position Paris holds and the role she plays in the country's life; all the nation's strength flows toward this nerve center, which stimulates all the country's driving forces.

"Every large city is really a federation of small towns closely linked together. Each district preserves a local, one might almost say provincial, life, to a certain extent, and this was even more apparent in the days when it took half a day to make a trip from Auteuil, where I am now residing, to the Buttes-Chaumon. Nowadays, Paris can be crossed in half an hour at its widest point. Auteuil, known as one of the 'chic quarters' of Paris, is also the seat of the Ecole Normale d'Instituteurs where our group spent five weeks of the summer in study. This normal school happens to be one where the young men attend, for there are two; coeducation in France and much of Europe exists in its real form only in the universities.

"A considerable number of volumes have been written on life and culture in Paris. Tourist guide books have been prepared to spare the visitor to this charming city the difficulties experienced when he finds himself eager and well prepared both physically and financially to 'see and do Paris' in a relatively short period of time. There is in truth much to see in a city as historic and cultural as Paris, even in summer.

"PARISIAN LIFE begins to slow down as summer draws near however; except in the Latin Quarter where it preludes a period of feverish agitation prior to the long vacation. This is the time when thousands of students are being examined and tested by hundreds of professors. Throughout July the corridors of the Sorbonne resemble station waiting-rooms at the peak of the holiday rush. But the old university halls are weighed down with worry that travelers overlook.

"In speaking of schools and education, I am reminded of the French student on a scholarship in the United States who mentioned in a letter to her mother back in Paris that she was somewhat taken aback to learn that an institution in the states (she found them numerous) is often an establishment for the mentally ill. Here in Paris one passes in the course of a day many such edifices, but they are rather schools and private academies. Of course, the question of language enters into the young lady's experience, for an institute in the States can also be an educational institution.

"WHERE CUSTOMS are concerned taking meals in restaurants and in the French home requires close observation if the visitor is to be taken for a Frenchman and not a tourist. An American is easily detected, for example, by his manipulation of knife and fork. When cutting meat or vegetables the native proceeds to eat with fork in left hand and knife in right because he often finds it necessary to heap the vegetable on the back of the fork with his knife, which usually stays in his right hand. I might add, the Frenchman is adept in the uses of conventional cutlery that he can peel a peach or a pear, as the French usually do, with these two instruments alone.

"At an elegant dinner party I attended, served by a friend of the tumbled higher aristocracy, the servant placed before each guest a fair sized, yet dainty bowl filled with water. Having just finished the entree, roast chicken, I began to place my fingers gently into the warm water only to withdraw them briskly when I observed the guest next to me reach for a handful of cherries and plunge them into his bowl. My practical French vocabulary immediately increased by one word when, by experience, I learned that the vesicle placed before me was not intended to be used as a 'rince doigts.

Weekly recipe

During the next few months, there will be many occasions for you to serve special treats for your children and their friends Their eyes will open wide, and there will be many delighted "ohs" and "ahs" if you give them Taffy Apples. Here is an easy way to prepare them.

Taffy Apples

(Taffy coating for 9 apples)
1½ cups granulated sugar
¾ cup cream
9 apples
9 wooden skewers
1½ cups brown sugar
¾ cup boiling water
3 tablespoons butter

Method: Melt three-quarter cup of the granulated sugar over a direct flame. Add the boiling water and cook to a smooth syrup. In a separate pan cook the cream with remaining sugar and butter to the soft ball stage (235 degrees). Combine the two syrups and cook until drops of syrup will form a hard ball in cold water—or to a temperature of 250 degrees. Cool the syrup to lukewarm. Place apples or skewers and twirl them in the caramel syrup. Dip them in ice water immediately to harden the caramel.

Folding Step in Closet

INSTEAD of carrying a chair or stool into a closet to reach a high shelf, install a folding step like the one illustrated. It is made in three parts. One end is attached to the baseboard with screws or nails. Note that this end is hinged to the tread portion of the step so that the device can be folded against the wall and held with a hook when not in use. (Illus., courtesy Popular Mechanics.)

Catholic school

I am writing to thank you for the attention you gave to our plans for a new school and hall at St. Walter's parish. Our own parishioners who read your paper were delighted, and many non-Catholics read the article and commented to me on what a valuable addition this would make to the community.

Your weekly reports on the progress of our building fund campaign were a great factor in its success. We are close to our goal of $30,000.00, and expect to reach it shortly. Many of your readers were surprised and pleased to learn how much our Catholic schools are saving the community and all tax-payers.

WANT AD BARGAIN—$1.00

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

For 25 years I have watched the children on my route grow up and become acquainted with their parents. It has always been of great interest to me, having a son of my own to raise, to observe the different methods used by parents in training their children, and their results.

There are as many methods and variations as there are parents. Some parents are tyrants who insist upon obedience to the finest detail. Others are lenient to extremes. Still others, by examples of high living and, in some cases, downright sinfulness, have developed a similar habit pattern in their children. The differences are legion, and the results vary, but generally, lazy parents beget lazy children, overly religious parents rear children who are either religious fanatics or outright agnostics, and so on.

But there is one method of rearing children which seems to develop the highest abilities, the greatest mentality, the most stable, well balanced characters and personalities.

It seems, in my observations, that the parent who is careful or sees that his children have a thorough knowledge of the principles of Christ's teachings without being in any manner fanatic; who teaches the child to consider every angle of every problem which arises, and to plan ahead for situations which he sees shaping up and decides in the light of his religious, moral and logical training what is the best course to pursue if such situations develop; who teaches him to subject emotion to principle and logic; who leads him to read extensively in every field and weigh what he has read by one writer against what other writers say on the same subject, reaching his decision in the light of his on knowledge and principles; to hold fast to his principles as long as he believes them to be right, yet never fear to change when he believes he has found improved, more logical or better principles to guide him in his professional, religious, social, or any other part of his life; and only to impose his authority after he finds his child will not respond correctly to reason or listen to the sense of his own knowledge and religious principles. Authority, imposed continuously and tyrannically, soon looses respect, and gains only resentful, sullen obedience, often breeding a hatred that forces a parent and his children farther apart.

It has been my observation that where this latter method of instruction is used, children are better adjusted, more self reliant, and more capable of handling their family, business or moral problems when they mature.

A sad tragedy occurred near Wauconda when Samuel John Lenzen, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lenzen, drowned in a stock watering tank on the family farm on the Volo-Gilmer road known as the old Sinnott farm.

The boy had been missing about thirty minutes when his body was found in the tank. The Lenzens, without telephone service, rushed the child to Wauconda and summoned a physician and inhalator squad of the local fire department. In spite of every possible effort to revive him, the lad was pronounced dead about an hour later.

The boy had apparently fallen into the concrete tank while playing near it with some pieces of lumber. The boards had no doubt aided the youngster in climbing to the top of the tank, from where he fell. The outside of the tank was about as high as the lad's chin.

'Foxy' not a neckpiece but a Des Plaines pet

"Foxy" the educated fox will never be a neckpiece if Lillian and brother Bud Locke of Des Plaines have anything to say about it. Four and a half months ago "Foxy," a gray fox, was caught in the Tennessee hills and sent to the Lockes as a gift. They raised it through the puppy stage and today "Foxy" sits up and asks for food, is housebroken, plays with the two dogs owned by the Lockes, and acts like a gentleman when strolling on a leash.

The uncommon pet is kept in a cage at the Sinclair Service Station, Oakton and River, owned and operated by Bud. The kids in the neighborhood consider "Foxy" as one of the gang. He plays like a dog, likes to be petted and has a most genial disposition. For information's sake, this is most unusual for a wild animal.

Try Buffalo or Ranger alfalfa

If you're seeding some alfalfa in early fall, you want to plant either Buffalo or Ranger variety because these two new alfalfas are both highly resistant to bacterial wilt disease.

Dave Heusinkveld. in the Illinois college of agriculture, says on farms where wilt kills out alfalfa, Buffalo and Ranger can be depended on to maintain their stands at least 2 or 3 years longer.

Seed of both varieties is still high priced. But on rolling land or for alfalfa-grass mixtures, it may be worth while to use Buffalo or Ranger even at that. Ranger is more winter-hardy than Buffalo, so it is recommended for the northern half of Illinois, and Buffalo for the southern half. Buffalo is being grown farther north in the state than had at first been expected.

Aim for 200-240 pound hogs for this fall

Both overfinished and underfinished hogs are likely to sell at alrger-than-usual discounts this fall, with 200 to 240 pounders bringing the best prices. That's the hog outlook this season forecast by W. J. Wills, livestock marketing specialist in the University of Illinois.

The 1951 pig crop of about 105 million head is the second largest on record, and there no longer is the strong world demand for fats and oils of a year ago. So there will be more fats available and possibly a weaker lard market.

This probably will mean more price differential for type in live hogs. Hogs that are too heavy or too fat will probably have to take a larger discount than last year.

ON HOGS now under 180 pounds, Wills thinks farmers should feed them out. Discounts on lightweights are such that you can hardly afford not to feed them out.

With so many hogs now starting to market, packers can be rather choosey about the type of hog for which they pay top prices. Both underfinished and overfinished hogs will sell at a disadvantage. Try to sell as many as possible between 200 and 240 pounds.

Costs more feed, 5 weeks extra time for worms

Five dollars more feed and five more weeks' time is the price you pay to grow a moderately wormy hog to market weight.

That's the estimate today from Dr. N. D. Levine, parasitologist in the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

A moderately wormy pig eats 8/10ths of a pound more grain per pound of gain than a worm-free pig. With corn at $1.75 a bushel, and figuring 200 pounds of gain from weaning to market, it costs $4.99 more to raise a wormy hog.

THIS FIGURE would be even higher for hogs badly infested by worms. And it does not include the cost of your labor during the extra five weeks it takes to fatten the hogs.

Dr. Levine says you can save $5 and five weeks by following the McLean county system of swine sanitation. You can raise more pigs per litter, cut your feed costs, and get the hogs to market when prices are higher. Here are the four simple steps:

Wash the sows before putting them in the farrowing pen.

Keep the pigs on clean pasture.

The McLean system has been proven on Illinois farms. It relies on good management instead of drugs. Your farm adviser can give you more details about it. Or write to the College of Veterinary Medicine, Urbana.

Automobile leading killer in accidents

The automobile, one of the greatest conveniences of modern life, has become through misuse the No. 1 accident killer for all age groups except infants and the aged.

"Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, shows that autos are the leading cause of accidental death from infancy until the age of 65.

Under 1 year of age, suffocation is the most important accident cause, but deaths from suffocation drop to insignificance after the first birthday. The four leading causes of accidental death for other age groups are as follows:

1-4—Autos, burns, drowning, poisons.
5-14—Autos, drowning, burns, firearms.
15-24—Autos, drowning, firearms, airplane.
25-34—Autos, drowning, airplane, burns.
35-44—Autos, falls, burns, drowning.
45-54—Autos, falls, burns, drowning.
45-54—Autos, falls, burns, drowning.
55-64—Autos falls, burns, railroad.
65-74—Falls, autos, burns, railroad.
75 and over—Falls, autos, burns, poison gas.

Wagon unloaders, conveyors put to use on farm to lighten work

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Farmers aren't getting soft—just more sensible. That's why an increasing number of chores are being handled these days by power machinery; much of it electrified. Not only does such equipment make farm work easier, it also shortens choring time and helps to increase production.

IT TOOK SOME DOING—but here's a wagon unloader rigged up to remove onions from wagon to elevator for transportation to storage building.

In becoming "production line" conscious, farmers are following the lead set years ago by city industrial plants. Prime examples of this trend can be seen in the way many farmers now handle the lifting and moving of heavy loads. Much of this work is being turned over to electrically operated unloaders and elevator-conveyors.

One of the newest industrial applications being put to use on the farm is the wagon unloader. Such wagons, generally, are equipped with either a drag conveyor or a wide canvas belt—the latter covering the entire wagon bed. When used for hay, such wagons may have a false sliding front-end gate which is pulled back to push the load off the rear of the wagon. Grain and corn "unloading wagons" have a tight bed, with sides sloping toward the center. The unloading mechanism, operated by motors of from ¾ to ½ horsepower, uses from 1 to 2 kilowatt hours of power (kwhr) per each 100 tons moved. When wagon unloaders are used in connection with elevators or conveyors, harvested crops can be moved from the wagon directly into storage bins, feed grinders or elsewhere.

Portable inclined plane elevator-conveyors have many uses on the farm. They are capable of moving most types of field produce, including grain, ear corn and baled hay. It has been estimated that one of these devices, operated by a ½ horsepower motor, can elevate ear corn faster than two men can shovel it into the receiving hopper. They require motors of from ¼ to ½ horsepower. On the average, they use about ½ kwhr per 100 bushels of grain elevated.

A number of farmers also have auger elevators. These time and labor saving devices are used to move small grain into or out of trucks from side bins of granaries or other ground storage places. Operated by motors of from 1 to 2 horsepower, they use from 5 to 7 kwhrs for each 1000 bushels of grain handled.

All of which would seem to indicate that the days of the familiar scoop shovel are nearing an end on the farm.

Proper cooking best method of fighting trichinosis in pork

With beef in short supply, at a price many people cannot afford to pay, the consumption of pork and pork products is undoubtedly on the increase throughout the country.

Pork is a delicious, nourishing food and one of the best sources of protein. Consumers should remember, however, that all of it is potentially infected with trichinae, tiny parasites which are responsible for a serious disease, trichinosis.

When trichina infested meat is eaten by man these little parasites invade the muscles of the body causing severe pain. In addition to the muscles, the "worms" may penetrate the lungs, heart, brain and other body organs. When they are passing through the heart they may produce symptoms of heart disease, and when they penetrate the brain or spinal cord they may cause delirium, high fever and other serious conditions. Trichinosis is sometimes fatal, death occurring in about five or six out of every 100 cases.

TRICHINOSIS is much more prevalent in this country than is generally believed. In a study carried on at the University of Michigan of persons dying of other diseases in county hospitals in the Detroit area, 93 positive cases of trichinosis were found in 500 consecutive autopsy examinations. In New York City, studies showed an incidence of 16 per cent, while an incidence as high as 36 per cent was found in a study reported in Cleveland, O.

Almost all cases of trichinosis in man come from infected hogs. It has been estimated that each American who eats pork consumes about three servings of trichinous meat every year. Some of this may be in hamburgers, frankfurters, meat loaf or sausage. If these products have not been sufficiently cooked or adequately processed there is danger of trichinosis.

ALTHOUGH about 70 per cent of American pork is processed in government-inspected plants, it is not necessarily free from living trichinae. Statistics show that about 14,000 hogs out of every million slaughtered in this country are found to have trichinosis.

Hogs acquire trichinosis by eating offal or garbage containing scraps of raw infested pork, or by eating the flesh of infected rats, mice or other animals. In Illinois, where hogs are fed largely on grain, it is likely that they get much of their infection with trichinae from eating rats.

IT WOULD appear that the simplest way to control trichinosis in man would be to eliminate the disease from the meat he eats. Many control measures have been advocated. Among these are the cooking of all garbage fed to hogs, destruction of rats, microscopic inspection of meat, and adequate processing of all pork products.

Rain, Bane, Go Away

Rain is a handicap for the big circus. This is not only due to the fact that Jupiter Pluvius cuts down on attendance, but also because rain doubles and triples the immense work of setting up this town-sized traveling performance. The canvas of one "big top" weighs 11 tons dry—and three times as much when wet.

New equipment eases soybean spraying here

Spraying soybeans should be an easier job this year because of new equipment designed by the University of Illinois agricultural engineers. You can make it at home at low cost.

G. E. Pickard, Illinois farm machinery specialist, says that sheet metal snouts or fenders have been made to fit in front of tractor wheels so an ordinary tractor-mounted spray rig can go through fields without damaging the beans.

SKETCHES ARE available free from the College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

Formerly, airplanes applied the chemicals which made the leaves drop off of both beans and weeds. This makes for easier and possibly earlier harvesting.

During tests of the tractor shields, soybeans were sprayed at speeds up to five miles an hour without damage of any kind. At this speed and taking eight rows at a time, a ground rig can cover an acre in about four minutes, or about four to six hours to cover a 40-acre field.

Pickard says the equipment was tried on one field where the weeds were taller than the tractor, and the spray rig performed very well. The shields are hydraulically lifted so they won't interfere with turning the tractor.

IT'S ESPECIALLY important to spray at just the right time. The best period seems to be one to two weeks before normal harvest date. University men say spraying should be done when leaves have turned yellow and pods are brown or turning brown. The beans in the pods should be their normal color. If they're still imbedded in the white matter inside the pod, it's too early for spraying.

Egyptian feeder auction October 4

Almost twice as many head have been consigned to the second annual feeder calf sale sponsored by the Egyptian Livestock association, according to sales officials.

Indications are that more than 1,000 feeders will be offered at auction this year, compared with nearly 600 head in 1950. Several thousand bidders attended last year.

Date for the sale is Thursday, October 4, at the University of Illinois Dixon Spring Experiment Station, Robbs. All animals will be divided into lots according to age, sex and quality by graders from the Illinois Agricultural Extension Service.

A special feature of this year's sales will be calves for 4-H Club and FFA members. Club calves will be sold individually and in lots of 10. Thus chapters of clubs can get animals for several of their members in one lot.

The Egyptian association is a non-profit organization of progressive beef cattle raisers in Johnson, Pope-Hardin and nearby counties in southern Illinois. Members have united to improve beef herds in the area and to market their cattle to better advantage. Shortly after last year's sale a committee bought several good beef sires from western ranchers during a special trip for that purpose. They were assisted by R. J. Webb, superintendent at Dixon Springs.

High Hopes

Don't fill milk cans too full

Willard Hoover, dairy herd improvement association tester in Woodford county, has been telling his members not to fill their milk cans so full that cream will collect on the lid. Several members followed his suggestion and found that their butterfat tests at the dairy rose right away.

Dairyman Ivan Steider reported that he earned enough extra income by following the tip to pay for a new milk can in one month.

Urge farmers to complete own conservation

Farmers are urged to prepare now to meet next year's national defense needs for farm products by completing the conservation practices planned for 1951 under the Agricultural Conservation Program. This advice was offered by Mr. Carl M. Bormet of the Cook county PMA committee.

In many instances, the committeeman pointed out, the completion of these practices will result in increased yields next year. Also they will help to prevent losses of soil needed to produce next year's crops.

With the call for ever-increasing yields to meet growing military requirements and mounting civilian demands these conservation measures are needed as a means of stepping up yields as well as to protect the land against erosion and depletion.

Establishing or improving pastures is one of the finest practices that can be carried out, and will add materially to increased production on the farm.

SOD WATERWAYS, dams and other structures will heal gullies and slow up erosion. Terraces will hold moisture, and check run-off and erosion. Limestone and rock phosphate applied this fall and winter will also contribute greatly to next year's crops.

Too many of us, said Mr. Bormet have a tendency to put off our conservation work. In my opinion, now is the time to act—and certainly those farmers who do complete their conservation projects will be far out in front. Not only will they have improved their own farms in their own interests, but they will have made a worthwhile contribution to the defense effort.

Try Buffalo or Ranger alfalfa

If you're seeding some alfalfa in early fall, you want to plant either Buffalo or Ranger variety because these two new alfalfas are both highly resistant to bacterial wilt disease.

Dave Heusinkveld. in the Illinois college of agriculture, says on farms where wilt kills out alfalfa, Buffalo and Ranger can be depended on to maintain their stands at least 2 or 3 years longer.

Seed of both varieties is still high priced. But on rolling land or for alfalfa-grass mixtures, it may be worth while to use Buffalo or Ranger even at that. Ranger is more winter-hardy than Buffalo, so it is recommended for the northern half of Illinois, and Buffalo for the southern half. Buffalo is being grown farther north in the state than had at first been expected.

Aim for 200-240 pound hogs for this fall

Both overfinished and underfinished hogs are likely to sell at alrger-than-usual discounts this fall, with 200 to 240 pounders bringing the best prices. That's the hog outlook this season forecast by W. J. Wills, livestock marketing specialist in the University of Illinois.

The 1951 pig crop of about 105 million head is the second largest on record, and there no longer is the strong world demand for fats and oils of a year ago. So there will be more fats available and possibly a weaker lard market.

This probably will mean more price differential for type in live hogs. Hogs that are too heavy or too fat will probably have to take a larger discount than last year.

ON HOGS now under 180 pounds, Wills thinks farmers should feed them out. Discounts on lightweights are such that you can hardly afford not to feed them out.

With so many hogs now starting to market, packers can be rather choosey about the type of hog for which they pay top prices. Both underfinished and overfinished hogs will sell at a disadvantage. Try to sell as many as possible between 200 and 240 pounds.

Costs more feed, 5 weeks extra time for worms

Five dollars more feed and five more weeks' time is the price you pay to grow a moderately wormy hog to market weight.

That's the estimate today from Dr. N. D. Levine, parasitologist in the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

A moderately wormy pig eats 8/10ths of a pound more grain per pound of gain than a worm-free pig. With corn at $1.75 a bushel, and figuring 200 pounds of gain from weaning to market, it costs $4.99 more to raise a wormy hog.

THIS FIGURE would be even higher for hogs badly infested by worms. And it does not include the cost of your labor during the extra five weeks it takes to fatten the hogs.

Dr. Levine says you can save $5 and five weeks by following the McLean county system of swine sanitation. You can raise more pigs per litter, cut your feed costs, and get the hogs to market when prices are higher. Here are the four simple steps:

Clean the farrowing quarters thoroughly.

Wash the sows before putting them in the farrowing pen.

Haul the pigs and sows to clean ground.

Keep the pigs on clean pasture.

The McLean system has been proven on Illinois farms. It relies on good management instead of drugs. Your farm adviser can give you more details about it. Or write to the College of Veterinary Medicine, Urbana.

Automobile leading killer in accidents

The automobile, one of the greatest conveniences of modern life, has become through misuse the No. 1 accident killer for all age groups except infants and the aged.

"Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, shows that autos are the leading cause of accidental death from infancy until the age of 65.

Under 1 year of age, suffocation is the most important accident cause, but deaths from suffocation drop to insignificance after the first birthday. The four leading causes of accidental death for other age groups are as follows:

1-4—Autos, burns, drowning, poisons.
5-14—Autos, drowning, burns, firearms.
15-24—Autos, drowning, firearms, airplane.
25-34—Autos, drowning, airplane, burns.
35-44—Autos, falls, burns, drowning.
45-54—Autos, falls, burns, drowning.
45-54—Autos, falls, burns, drowning.
55-64—Autos falls, burns, railroad.
65-74—Falls, autos, burns, railroad.
75 and over—Falls, autos, burns, poison gas.

Wagon unloaders, conveyors put to use on farm to lighten work

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrifcction Bureau

Farmers aren't getting soft—just more sensible. That's why an increasing number of chores are being handled these days by power machinery; much of it electrified. Not only does such equipment make farm work easier, it also shortens choring time and helps to increase production.

IT TOOK SOME DOING—but here's a wagon unloader rigged up to remove onions from wagon to elevator for transportation to storage building.

In becoming "production line" conscious, farmers are following the lead set years ago by city industrial plants. Prime examples of this trend can be seen in the way many farmers now handle the lifting and moving of heavy loads. Much of this work is being turned over to electrically operated unloaders and elevator-conveyors.

One of the newest industrial applications being put to use on the farm is the wagon unloader. Such wagons, generally, are equipped with either a drag conveyor or a wide canvas belt —the latter covering the entire wagon bed. When used for hay, such wagons may have a false sliding front-end gate which is pulled back to push the load off the rear of the wagon. Grain and corn "unloading wagons" have a tight bed, with sides sloping toward the center. The unloading mechanism, operated by motors of from ¼ to ½ horsepower, uses from 1 to 2 kilowatt hours of power (kwhr) per each 100 tons moved. When wagon unloaders are used in connection with elev tors or conveyors, harvested crops can be moved from the wagon directly into storage bins, feed grinders or elsewhere.

Portable inclined plane elevator-conveyors have many uses on the farm. They are capable of moving most types of field produce, including grain, ear corn and baled hay. It has been estimated that one of these devices, operated by a ½ horsepower motor, can elevate ear corn faster than two men can shovel it into the receiving hopper. They require motors of from ¼ to ½ horsepower. On the average, they use about ½ kwhr per 100 bushels of grain elevated.

A number of farmers also have auger elevators. These time and labor saving devices are used to move small grain into or out of trucks from side bins of granaries or other ground storage places. Operated by motors of from 1 to 2 horsepower, they use from 5 to 7 kwhrs for each 1000 bushels of grain handled.

All of which would seem to indicate that the days of the familiar scoop shovel are nearing an end on the farm.

Proper cooking best method of fighting trichinosis in pork

With beef in short supply, at a price many people cannot afford to pay, the consumption of pork and pork products is undoubtedly on the increase throughout the country.

Pork is a delicious, nourishing food and one of the best sources of protein. Consumers should remember, however, that all of it is potentially infected with trichinae, tiny parasites which are responsible for a serious disease, trichinosis.

When trichina infested meat is eaten by man these little parasites invade the muscles of the body causing severe pain. In addition to the muscles, the "worms" may penetrate the lungs, heart, brain and other body organs. When they are passing through the heart they may produce symptoms of heart disease, and when they penetrate the brain or spinal cord they may cause delirium, high fever and other serious conditions. Trichinosis is sometimes fatal, death occurring in about five or six out of every 100 cases.

TRICHINOSIS is much more prevalent in this country than is generally believed. In a study carried on at the University of Michigan of persons dying of other diseases in county hospitals in the Detroit area, 93 positive cases of trichinosis were found in 500 consecutive autopsy examinations. In New York City, studies showed an incidence of 16 per cent, while an incidence as high as 36 per cent was found in a study reported in Cleveland, O.

Almost all cases of trichinosis in man come from infected hogs. It has been estimated that each American who eats pork consumes about three servings of trichinous meat every year. Some of this may be in hamburgers, frankfurters, meat loaf or sausage. If these products have not been sufficiently cooked or adequately processed there is danger of trichinosis.

ALTHOUGH about 70 per cent of American pork is processed in government-inspected plants, it is not necessarily free from living trichinae. Statistics show that about 14,000 hogs out of every million slaughtered in this country are found to have trichinosis.

Hogs acquire trichinosis by eating offal or garbage containing scraps of raw infested pork, or by eating the flesh of infected rats, mice or other animals. In Illinois, where hogs are fed largely on grain, it is likely that they get much of their infection with trichinae from eating rats.

IT WOULD appear that the simplest way to control trichinosis in man would be to eliminate the disease from the meat he eats. Many control measures have been advocated. Among these are the cooking of all garbage fed to hogs, destruction of rats, microscopic inspection of meat, and adequate processing of all pork products.

New equipment eases soybean spraying here

Spraying soybeans should be an easier job this year because of new equipment designed by the University of Illinois agricultural engineers. You can make it at home at low cost.

G. E. Pickard, Illinois farm machinery specialist, says that sheet metal snouts or fenders have been made to fit in front of tractor wheels so an ordinary tractor-mounted spray rig can go through fields without damaging the beans.

SKETCHES ARE available free from the College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

Formerly, airplanes applied the chemicals which made the leaves drop off of both beans and weeds. This makes for easier and possibly earlier harvesting.

During tests of the tractor shields, soybeans were sprayed at speeds up to five miles an hour without damage of any kind. At this speed and taking eight rows at a time, a ground rig can cover an acre in about four minutes, or about four to six hours to cover a 40-acre field.

Pickard says the equipment was tried on one field where the weeds were taller than the tractor, and the spray rig performed very well. The shields are hydraulically lifted so they won't interfere with turning the tractor.

IT'S ESPECIALLY important to spray at just the right time. The best period seems to be one to two weeks before normal harvest date. University men say spraying should be done when leaves have turned yellow and pods are brown or turning brown. The beans in the pods should be their normal color. If they're still imbedded in the white matter inside the pod, it's too early for spraying.

Egyptian feeder auction October 4

Almost twice as many head have been consigned to the second annual feeder calf sale sponsored by the Egyptian Livestock association, according to sales officials.

Indications are that more than 1,000 feeders will be offered at auction this year, compared with nearly 600 head in 1950. Several thousand bidders attended last year.

Des Plaines wonders about city manager type of government

At the public meeting instigated by Ald. Howard Clement, held in the council chambers of the Des Plaines city hall to determine the feeling of local citizens in regard to the future handling of city government in this rapidly expanding, progressive area, C. Harold Eash, city manager of Brookfield and the Brookfield city attorney, Leonard Bosgraf, gave substantial reports of the success which followed the change from the part-time mayoral organization, in a middle-class town, to a full time business since 1947 under a city manager.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George S. Mahin, Executive Secretary, Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

A meeting for county, city, school and other local government officials throughout the State has been arranged by the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois for Thursday afternoon, November 1, in the Centennial Building auditorium, Springfield. Legislative, legal and tax experts will analyze the new tax limit and other major enactments of the last Illinois General Assembly, and answer any questions the public officials may have. The meeting will begin at 1:30.

The board of experts for the meeting will include Robert S. Cushman of the Chicago law firm of MacLeish, Spray, Price & Underwood and chairman of the policy committee of the Taxpayers' Federation; Frank Pfeifer, attorney, for the Illinois Municipal League; Robert M. Cole, executive director of the Illinois Association of School Boards; and Maurice Scott, director of legal research for the Federation. Attorney General Ivan Elliott, Senate President Pro Tem Wallace Thompson, House Speaker Warren Wood, and Revenue Director C. C. Halpin have been invited to participate, together with legislative sponsors of the new laws that are to be analyzed. George Mahin, Federation executive secretary, will preside as moderator at the meeting.

AMONG the new laws to be analyzed and discussed at the meeting will be the Hodge-Downing tax limitation laws (H. B. 650 and 1109); the Arrington-Little tax sale law (H. B. 814); the Trager and Stransky public aid secrecy repeal laws (S. B. 485 and H. B. 869); and the new law (S. B. 340) sponsored by Senator Carpentier to make it possible for a county to find out what its multiplier from the State Department of Revenue under the 100% assessment laws is going to be before it's too late to do anything about ti.

The principal purpose of the meeting is to provide officials of local governments with the best possible information and answers to questions in order to prevent mistakes from being made which would result in payment of taxes under protest. This is particularly important in connection with the new tax limitation laws, under which the failure of a local government to act as provided, at the time provided, may have disastrous results.

Following the November 1 meeting, the Taxpayers' Federation will send to each of the local governments an analysis of how the new tax limitation laws affect it, what it must do to comply with the law, and time deadlines when necessary actions must be taken. Copies will also be sent to county clerks and state's attorneys. These analyses have already been prepared, but will not be distributed until after the meeting in order to be sure that all possible questions have been covered.

Halpin have been invited to participate, together with legislative sponsors of the new laws that are to be analyzed. George Mahin, Federation executive secretary, will preside as moderator at the meeting.

AMONG the new laws to be analyzed and discussed at the meeting will be the Hodge-Downing tax limitation laws (H. B. 650 and 1109); the Arrington-Little tax sale law (H. B. 814); the Trager and Stransky public aid secrecy repeal laws (S. B. 485 and H. B. 869); and the new law (S. B. 340) sponsored by Senator Carpentier to make it possible for a county to find out what its multiplier from the State Department of Revenue under the 100% assessment laws is going to be before it's too late to do anything about ti.

The principal purpose of the meeting is to provide officials of local governments with the best possible information and answers to questions in order to prevent mistakes from being made which would result in payment of taxes under protest. This is particularly important in connection with the new tax limitation laws, under which the failure of a local government to act as provided, at the time provided, may have disastrous results.

Following the November 1 meeting, the Taxpayers' Federation will send to each of the local governments an analysis of how the new tax limitation laws affect it, what it must do to comply with the law, and time deadlines when necessary actions must be taken. Copies will also be sent to county clerks and state's attorneys. These analyses have already been prepared, but will not be distributed until after the meeting in order to be sure that all possible questions have been covered.

"The telephone company's a pretty big outfit, with thousands of people in many places working to give you good service. But, really, there's just one person whose job is to be your personal representative at Illinois Bell. That's me — your 'Service Representative.'

"Any time you have a question about your bill, rates, moving your telephone, ordering an extension, getting an extra listing in the directory, or practically anything else about your service, please drop in or call me at your telephone business office.

"Maybe I won't be able to answer every question you ask. But if I can't, I'll get the answer for you. That's my job—to help you in every way I can."

"Right here in my desk is a card with your name, address and a lot of information about your telephone service. It helps me answer your questions quickly. Yours is one of a number of accounts that I serve exclusively and I'm pretty familiar with it now."

The Number One American Habit

The thud of the paper on the front porch, tossed there by the bright eyed lad on the bike, starts people reaching for the facts of life — all over town. Ever think of it that way? It's the great American Habit, this eager reaching for the truth, this wanting to know what's going on — everywhere and without the slightest delay at all.

It's a good habit, too, for here is the foundation of the freedoms we cherish so deeply. In knowing what's going on lies our capacity for the making of choices, which is the very essence of our individual liberty.

It is at this point that our favorite newspaper becomes so important to our way of life. For in its pages are presented the kaleidoscopic changes occurring constantly — the truth of what's going on in the world — the facts from which we, as individuals, determine for ourselves how we will vote, whom we will patronize, what we will think, and what we will do.

$3.00 A YEAR 'TIL OCT. 1 $4.00 Thereafter

Now is the time for subscribers to pay their subscriptions, either renewals or extensions, at the old $3.00 per year figure, before the $4.00 rate goes into effect October 1. One hundred subscribers took advantage of this offer Friday and Saturday. We've told the boss 1,000 of you readers would jump at the chance to save a dollar in the next ten days. How about it?

The Number One American Habit

The thud of the paper on the front porch, tossed there by the bright eyed lad on the bike, starts people reaching for the facts of life — all over town. Ever think of it that way? It's the great American Habit, this eager reaching for the truth, this wanting to know what's going on — everywhere and without the slightest delay at all.

It's a good habit, too, for here is the foundation of the freedoms we cherish so deeply. In knowing what's going on lies our capacity for the making of choices, which is the very essence of our individual liberty.

It is at this point that our favorite newspaper becomes so important to our way of life. For in its pages are presented the kaleidoscopic changes occurring constantly — the truth of what's going on in the world — the facts from which we, as individuals, determine for ourselves how we will vote, whom we will patronize, what we will think, and what we will do.

Young musicians may join civic orchestra

Auditions for young musicians who wish to join the ranks of the civic orchestra of Chicago, celebrated training school for symphony players maintained by the Chicago symphony orchestra, will be held in Orchestra Hall October 1 and 2.

The civic orchestra is a school devoted to the development of symphony players, and as such is unique in America. It was founded by Dr. Frederick Stock in 1919 and from its ranks have gone several hundred musicians to the major symphony orchestras of the United States.

To join the civic orchestra, application blanks must be obtained from George Kuyper, manager of the Chicago symphony orchestra, at Orchestra Hall.

Applicants are required to be over 16 years old. At the auditions, an applicant will be asked to play scales, a prepared solo, and to demonstrate "a fair degree of sight-reading ability."

Tuition is $25 for the season.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Rutledge studio

Which is which?

This is no doubt a common question in the Dwight D. Guilfoil household, at 633 S. Burton pl., Arlington Heights. These identical twin girls, Sue Ellen and Joyce Marie, are the youngest members of this family and are almost exact images of one another.

Sue Ellen, pictured first, has learned to walk. Sister Joyce, in the process of learning, drags along behind her. The twins are 13 months old and have blonde hair and blue eyes. "They are together all the time and enjoy one another so much," said Mrs. Guilfoil.

There are three other children in this active family. Judy, 11, is in the sixth grade; Mary Lou, 9, in the fourth grade, and Billy, 6, is a first grader. All attend the St. James school.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Guilfoil Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Cullerton, all of Chicago, are the grandparents.

Seaman Lee

Dressed in his sailor suit and wearing his usual big smile, Lee James Howard posed for this picture. This little fellow is the 13 month old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Howard of 403 S. Highland, Arlington Heights. He has blond hair, hazel eyes and "eats like a horse," laughed Mrs. Howard.

"He's a happy child and laughs all the time," continued his mother. Trucks and trains are his favorites.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee J. Howard of Chicago and Mrs. A. J. Bermingham of Wilmette are his grandparents.

A bit of sweetness

This dainty little lady is Susan Elizabeh Torhan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Torhan of 31 W. Park pl., Arlington Hts. She is all of 5 months, has blonde hair, hazel eyes and a sweet disposition.

Bouncing in her teeter-babe is one of Susan's favorite activities and now she finds standing in it great fun. She may be a wee one, but she has strong little legs and arms. Perhaps Daddy George, wrestling coach at Arlington high school, has her in training!

Regular boy

"He's just a regular boy," said Mrs. E. W. Lindemann when describing her bright-eyed smiling young son. He is Robert Alan Lindemann, is 2½ years old, has brown hair and brown eyes and lives with his parents at 1010 W. Elm st., Arlington Heights.

A bicycle and little tractor are favorite playthings and Sunday school is a favorite topic of conversation. Recently Robert entered the Sunday school at the Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lind of 1117 Watling rd., Arlington Hts., and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lindemann of Chicago are the grandparents.

Blonde Bonnie

Last in our sextette of the younger set is Bonnie Lee Clausing. She is the tow-headed, blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Clausing of 444 S. Vail ave., Arlington Heights.

Bonnie Lee is 11 months old and quite a walker at this early age. "She loves to push the kitchen chairs around and delights in mixing up the pots and pans," said Mrs. Clausing.

Deferred student must prove his schooling

Proof that a student who has been deferred from military service has actually entered college and is attending classes must be promptly supplied to his Selective Service local board in the form of an official statement from the school, it was ordered by Colonel Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois Selective Service Director.

The student himself is responsible for making sure his board receives the necessary evidence of his attendance, Colonel Armstrong warned. In the absence of verification by the college, the board will assume that he is not in school and hence is not entitled to the deferment.

What the college registrar must specifically certify to the local board is that the student is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of study leading to a degree. This certificate must be sent to the board on the college letterhead as soon as possible after the fall term opens and classes actually begin. Copies of Colonel Armstrong's order and a sample of the suggested certificate form have been distributed to colleges and universities as well as local boards throughout the state. Boards were asked to check the files of all deferred students for verification of attendance.

If a student leaves school or fails to pursue his course satisfactorily, the college will report the fact to his local board and the board will terminate his deferment, Colonel Armstrong said.

'Free' books not so free when the name is signed

Have you been selected to receive a set of books free because you are an outstanding citizen in your community? If so, you should phone the Chicago Better Business Bureau for full information, according to release from that office.

High pressure salesmen use such flattering reasons to gain entrance into your home, and of course, get your signature on a contract to buy a set of encyclopedias or other books. Do not be fooled, says the Bureau, you are getting nothing free. If you accept the books you will pay the full price—sometimes more.

ACCORDING to the Bureau, you may receive a phone call that you have been selected to receive a set of encyclopedias free. Then a salesman will call at your home and ask you to promise to read the books carefully so as to give a favorable and intelligent report to other prospects in your neighborhood regarding the value and utility of the books.

Even when the salesman rings the door bell and enters your home, he will still talk about the "free" books, but during the ensuing conversation and about the time you are asked to sign a "paper" promising to read the books and allowing your name to be used, the fast talking salesman eases the word into the conversation. If signed, this contract is binding and commits you to pay a definite sum of money.

ACTUALLY the remarks about you being an "outstanding citizen," "free encyclopedia" and your promise to "read and report favorably" are what is known as "door openers" and used solely to make contact with you. The facts are that every prospect is given the same approach and that nothing in this deal is free.

Legitimate encyclopedia and other book selling organizations do not countenance this method of selling and such experiences should be reported to the Better Business Bureau.
